AIRLINE HEAD SAYS PAULEY TOLD HIM, 'THINK TWICE' ON REFUSAL TO DONATE $35,000

26 Members Agree Project Is of 'Immediate Necessity'—19 for Separate Rodent Control Division.

Approval by the Board of Aldermen of measures to provide for municipal collection of ashes and rubbish, to set up a separate agency for rat control work and to strengthen existing ordinances on sanitation will be almost unanimous, a survey by the Post-Dispatch showed today.

Twenty-six of the 28 Aldermen said that the collection of rubbish and ashes by the city "is of immediate necessity" if a program to eliminate rats from the city is to be successful. All said they would vote for measures to raise and appropriate funds for the purpose. Two of the 28 Aldermen could not be reached for comment.

Nineteen of the 26 Aldermen reached by the Post-Dispatch were of the opinion that a separate division should be formed by the city government for rodent control and that the division should be headed by a commissioner devoting full time to the problem. Four said they had no definite opinion as to whether a separate agency was needed. Three did not think the work should be separated from the Health Division.

For Stronger Enforcement.

All the aldermen interviewed said they would vote for ordinances which would bring about stronger enforcement of present ordinances and which would strengthen the rat control program.

Alderman Charles E. Albanese said he would introduce an amendment to the building code to require the extermination of rats in old buildings before wrecking permits are issued. The measure would require a certificate from a licensed exterminator that such work had been done before the building commissioner could issue a wrecking permit.

Several bills providing for a stronger rat control program have been pending in the Board of Aldermen since last June. Introduced by Alderman Vernon Riehl, chairman of a special aldermanic committee on rodent control, the bills have been inactive as a result of the refusal of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, the city's fiscal body, to approve them because of lack of funds.

One bill provides for the establishment of a division of rodent control in the Department of Public Welfare. Another bill appropriates $50,000 for the work of the division, and a third bill sets forth regulations for rat-proofing buildings.

Suggestion for New Division.

Some of the aldermen who thought a new division should be created expressed the belief that the proposed new division should also have general supervision of

700,000 MEN'S SUITS SAID TO BE HELD BY FACTORIES

Retailers Assert Manufacturers Refuse to Release Garments Till OPA Sets Up New Price Schedule.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—A spokesman for retail clothing merchants contended today that manufacturers were holding at least 700,000 men's suits from the market pending OPA price adjustments.

Louis Rothschild, executive director of the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers, told a reporter "this is a conservative estimate."

"Unquestionably there is withholding in considerable volume—enough to relieve the present acute shortage of suits," Rothschild said.

He asserted that manufacturers would continue to hold suits from the market until OPA announces a scheduled revision of price regulations covering men's and boys' tailored clothing.

OPA officials, however, pointed out that a recent announcement had said the regulation would be changed to "correct inequities," but that there would be no general price increase.

The new price order, expected in about two weeks, will increase manufacturers' markup over cost in some cases and reduce them in others. The purpose is to provide more uniform pricing.

Rothschild said "many manufacturers but not all" are withholding suits.

"We know this is true," Rothschild said, "because manufacturers have continued to produce suits, but retailers just are not getting deliveries."

Asked about Civilian Production Administration regulations prohibiting excessive inventories, Rothschild said:

"Well, CPA has been waving the big stick but it doesn't seem to be doing much good."

CPA officials on the other hand said that a series fo investigations by the agency had disclosed very little hoarding of clothing.

Rothschild said an OPA order yesterday relaxing maximum average price restrictions on worsted fabrics for suits will ease the shortage of materials, but that the supply of suits will not increase until the agency also acts on garment prices.

53 MOTORISTS CAUGHT WITHOUT STATE AUTO TAGS

Arrested Drivers Are Permitted to Give Common Law Bonds.

Fifty-three motorists were arrested between midnight and early afternoon today for failure to display 1946 state automobile license plates, police reported.

Most arrests were made by motorcycle patrolmen with the remainder picked up by details stationed at two intersections, Grand boulevard and Magnolia avenue, and Page and Union boulevards.

Those arrested were being permitted to give common law bonds returnable in the court of criminal correction of Judge Louis J. Comerford.

The rush to buy state licenses continued unabated today at the State Auto License Bureau, 420 North Fourth street, where about 6500 licenses were issued yesterday. The Clayton branch office, 20 North Central avenue, reported sales of 2600 yesterday. Arrests for failure to have city license stickers will begin tomorrow at 7 a.m

YAMASHITA MADE FINAL BOW, BUT DIDN'T KNOW DIRECTIONS

Asked G.I. to Point Toward Tokyo; Yank Pointed, but He Was Confused, Too.

MANILA, Feb. 26 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita's final act before he was hanged Saturday was a bow to the imperial palace—but whether he bowed in the right direction is a question.

The Manila Chronicle, reporting the dramatic last gesture of the convicted war criminal when he was on the scaffold, said:

"Yamashita did not know where he was, and asked the guard in what direction Tokyo lay. A G.I. pointed in one direction and Yamashita bowed toward it. Later it was learned that the soldier told friends that he did not know whether he had pointed north or south or toward China."

OPPORTUNITY FOR ST. LOUIS; NAVY WANTS 3700 RATS

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26 (AP)—About 4000 animals—including 3700 rats—will be aboard atom bomb target vessels in "Operations Crossroads," the Navy said today.

The rats will have as company some 300 goats and pigs.

Their purpose in the test is to determine effects of the explosion and radioactivity on flesh and blood and bones. They will be sent here by the Navy's bureau of medicine and surgery about April 5.

SUSPECT SEIZED IN MURDER OF COLUMBIA GIRL

COLUMBIA, Mo., Feb. 26—Floyd Cochran, 34-year-old Negro trash hauler, made statements early today implicating himself in the murder of Marylou Jenkins, Stephens College graduate who was strangled in her home here Feb. 6, it was announced by Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, state highway patrol superintendent, and three local officials.

The Negro was arrested Saturday after an apparent suicide attempt and later was pronounced insane by Dr. A. W. Kampschmidt, Boone county physician. When relatives went to Cochran's home to get his wife's signature on papers to commit him to an asylum, they found her dead, with shotgun wounds in the shoulder and neck.

Cochran, held both for his wife's murder and for investigation in the Jenkins murder, was removed from Columbia to a jail in another county "for safekeeping" this morning, about the time the police statement was released. Waggoner declined to amplify the statement, asserting that to do so "would hamper further investigation of the case."

Prosecutor's View.

Prosecuting Attorney George R. Spencer of Boone county, one of the officials signing the statement, also declined to comment further, except to say that the Jenkins murder "is still not solved, and neither is the Cochran murder, for that matter." He said Cochran's statements were of doubtful value, in view of his mental condition.

Cochran previously had been questioned and released in the Jenkins murder. He formerly lived in a Negro settlement half a mile from the Jenkins home, which is on the outskirts of town. Mrs. J. D. Jenkins, mother of the murdered girl, told police Cochran frequently had been at the house to pick up ashes and garbage and to use the telephone.

The Negro was arrested Saturday afternoon at the city dump after other persons there saw him

Retail Changes Still to Be Worked Out—Bowles Predicts 1½ Per Cent Rise in Prices to Consumer.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—The Government today authorized increases in the ceiling prices in the meat packing industry and forecast that retail prices would rise about 1½ per cent.

Stabilization Director Chester Bowles took the action after the Wage Stabilization Board ordered Secretary of Agriculture Anderson to put in effect immediately a general pay boost of 16 cents an hour for packing house workers.

The wage hike previously had been recommended bf a Government fact-finding panel, and figured in the settlement of the recent packing house strike.

Industry Group to Meet.

Bowles announced specific price increases for the packing industry, but said the OPA industry advisory committee would meet with Government representatives in a few days "to advise with regard to changes required in wholesale and retail ceilings . . ."

"The increase in meat prices for the average family should not amount to more than 1½ per cent," Bowles said.

The ceiling price increases will be adequate, Bowles said, to permit the packing industry to realize 45 cents more per 100 pounds on beef, veal and lamb, and 55 cents more per 100 pounds on pork on an over-all, dressed carcass weight basis on sales for domestic, civilian use.

In addition, ceiling prices of meat and meat products for purchase by the Federal Government will be further increased "by amounts equivalent to an average of 25 cents per 100 pounds."

The increase in prices on sales to the Government, the announcement said, is expected to "add to the revenue of slaughterers selling to the Government an amount equivalent to 5 cents per 100 pounds on their sales."

The great hike in Government prices was described as "necessary to equalize the returns to packers on Government and civilian business."

The new wholesale ceilings still to be determined will be effective on or about March 11. Retail ceilings will be worked out and be made effective "as soon thereafter as possible," the announcement said.

131,000 Workers Get Rise.

The Wage Stabilization Board order on the wage boost applied to 131,000 employes in plants operated by the Big Five of the meat industry — Swift, Wilson,

SOME STOCKS SHOW MODEST GAINS IN CLOSING HOUR

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP)—In a nervous stock market today, prices rallied and retreated at intervals, losses running to around 6 points at the worst were reduced or canceled with some modest gains in the final hour of trade. Declines, near the close, however, were in the majority.

Transfers were 2,650,000 shares, largest since Jan. 29.

The calling off of the threatened New York transit strike aided sentiment to some extent. Skeptics regarding labor situations, and generally cloudy earnpicture still were plentiful, it was said. The Associated Press stock average of 60 stocks was down .3 of a point at 72.2.

STASSEN WEIGHING DECISION ON RUNNING FOR SENATE

Says He Will Make Up Mind Before March 13, Opening Day for Minnesota Filings.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 26 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen said at a press conference yesterday that he would decide between now and March 13 whether he would run for Senator on the Republican ticket. March 13 is the opening date for filing senatorial nominations in Minnesota.

Stassen, frequently mentioned as a possible presidential candidate, said last November that he did not contemplate running for the Senate this year, although he would be active in politics. He said then, when he returned after 30 months in the Navy, that he did not have any plans extending to 1948.

SIXTIETH LEAP FROM BRIDGE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26 (AP)—A man about 55 years old leaped from the Golden Gate bridge yesterday. When police saw that he was conscious after the 260-foot fall, they shouted, asking his name.

"That's for you to find out," he answered. He died before coast guardsmen could reach him. He was the sixtieth person to leap from the bridge. Only one of the 60 survived.

Nylon-Starved Women Threaten Congressmen With Loss of Jobs

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—The bare facts are that a lot of American women have no hosiery and they are raising one of the greatest hullabaloos some Congressmen ever have heard from their constitutents.

Congressmen harassed by women threatening to fight them in the next election if they do not help get nylons could, however, draw some comfort from a statement today by Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small that 1946 production of women's hosiery, other than anklets, is expected to be sufficient to provide a maximum of 10 pairs of some kind of stockings for each woman in the United States and that "six or seven of those 10 will probably be nylons."

Yesterday Representative Clare Booth Luce (Rep.), Connecticut, turned over "5000 or more letters and postal cards" from New England women.

Representative Bennett (Rep.), Missouri, said he received "500 letters and cards already, and that is just the first day. I've been in Congress six years and this is the biggest single day's mail I've ever received."

His stocking mail started pouring in after a Springfield (Mo.) merchant said in a newspaper advertisement that the War Production Board rescinded an order last October setting aside rayon for women's hosiery.

Bennett said the CPA told him most rayon now is used in manufacturing undergarments.

He also said he learned that 569,951 dozens of pairs of women's hose were exported in 1945. He said he has demanded that CPA permit manufacturers to make rayon hose. He also wants exports halted.

Senator Josiah Bailey (Dem.), North Carolina, said he also has received more than 500 letters asking for help in finding hose.

FRANCE TO CLOSE BORDER, DECLARES SITUATION IN SPAIN DANGER TO PEACE

By LOUIS NEVIN

PARIS, Feb. 26 (AP) — The French government today ordered the frontier with Franco Spain closed, effective at midnight, March 1, declaring the present situation in Spain constitutes a "danger for international security."

The Cabinet's action was taken after a lengthy explanation of the situation by Foreign Minister Georges Bidault. The tension between the two countries has been growing for a week.

Last Friday the Consultative Assembly overwhelmingly voted a protest against the execution of 10 Spanish republicans by the Spanish government. Madrid dispatches last night said 37 persons were convicted by a court martial at Alcala de Henares on charges of attempting to reorganize the Socialist party in Spain and three of them were given 12-year prison terms.

France has had no normal diplomatic relations with Madrid since the collapse of the Vichy Government with the defeat of the Germans. Since then France has been represented in Spain by a diplomatic agent, while Spain has had a similar agent, Miguel Mateu, with the personal rank of ambassador in Paris. Mateu has been in Spain since several weeks before Christmas, however.

U.S.-British Action Sought.

The communique issued after today's Cabinet meeting said the ministers had "decided to again inform the governments of the United States and Great Britain that the present situation in Spain constitutes a danger for international security."

(In Washington, Secretary of State Byrnes declined comment on the French order to close the border. He told reporters the United States had sent no new note to France on the Franco question. In London, a British Foreign Office spokesman said there was "no reason to suppose" Britain would break relations with Spain.)

Early in December France asked the United States and Britain to confer with it on the possibility of breaking off relations with Generalissimo Francisco Franco's Spain.

Bidault conferred on the matter with both British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes while heading the French delegation to the first United Nations General Assembly in London. Results of these conversations have not yet been announced.

French Discontent Growing.

Meanwhile, French discontent over the continuance in power of the Franco government has been increasing. Protest meetings and demonstrations have taken place throughout France and its North African colonies since the announcement of the execution of the Spanish republicans. One of the executed was Cristino Garcia, who fought in the French resistance forces against the Germans.

The French General Confederation of Labor yesterday directed its adherents to refuse to handle the shipment of any freight to Spain. The World Federation of

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—The Government is trying to find homes for 17,000 homing pigeons to go home to. The Army is tired of feeding them.

The War Assets Corporation said today that last April the Army decided to sell 20,000 homing pigeons. In the nine months since then it has sold 1561 pair of pigeons for $6055. This may seem like a neat profit, but a hungry pigeon can eat $4.92 worth of rations a year. For 17,000 pigeons, the feed bill alone runs $6970 a month. The Government will no longer try to sell the pigeons, but will give them away, if it can.

First, the pigeons will be offered to state, federal or nonprofit organizations. If that fails, the birds will be given to pigeon lovers.

Pigeon lovers will have to supply the containers and pay the shipping costs from Fort Benning, Ga., Fort Sam Houston, Tex., or Camp Crowder, Mo. There is one other restriction: No less than 20 pigeons to a customer.

TRUMAN PICKS J. A. KRUG FOR INTERIOR SECRETARY

JULIUS A. KRUG —Associated Press Wirephoto.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—President Truman announced today the appointment of Julius A. Krug, former War Production Board chairman, as Secretary of Interior.

He told his press conference the appointment was a personal one, which he did not disclose to members of the White House inner circle until this morning.

Truman announced also he is appointing Charles R. Denny Jr. as acting chairman of the Federal Communications Commission. Denny succeeds Paul A. Porter, recently nominated to be Administrator of the Office of Price Administration.

Still Backing Pauley.

Truman said he was still backing Edwin C. Pauley for Under Secretary of the Navy. He told reporters, in reply to a question, that his position is unchanged.

Krug, 38 years old, former power manager for the Tennessee Valley Authority, succeeds Harold L. Ickes. Krug is now in New York as a business consultant.

Truman said he had considered a large number of names, including that of Senator O'Mahoney (Dem.), Wyoming, before making his selection.

Truman Praises Krug.

In the O'Mahoney's case, he said, he decided his usefulness in the Senate should not be disturbed. He added that Senate Majority Leader Barkley was happy that Truman was leaving O'Mahoney in the Senate.

Krug, the President said, is a very able administrator with a great deal of experience in administrative jobs. Krug last served in the government as chairman of the War Production Board, having returned from service as a naval officer to take the post.

He will take over his job as cabinet member on March 15.

Ickes quit after Truman said the secretary could have been mistaken in testimony concerning Edwin W. Pauley, the President's nominee for Under Secretary of Navy. Ickes told the Senate Naval Committee that Pauley had suggested $300,000 in Democratic campaign funds could be obtained from oil men if the Government did not press a suit to establish ownership to tideland oil reserves. The President had no right, Ickes said in a letter of resignation, to challenge his veracity.

In another statement at the press conference Truman said the Army and Navy had discharged a total of 7,600,000 men and women since the close of the war. He

(Picture in Everyday Magazine)

COLUMBIA, Tenn., Feb. 26 (AP)—One hundred state highway patrolmen backed by 400 State Guardsmen, moved swiftly into the Negro district of Columbia at dawn today after a night of disorders. By this afternoon 68 Negroes and two white men had been arrested. Order apparently had been restored.

At least 10 persons were wounded in the disturbances which developed from the shooting of four Columbia policemen, who were fired on early last night in the section known as Mink Slide, where the disorders centered.

Business in this city of 12,000 remained virtually at a standstill this morning and guardsmen dispersed any gathering of the citizenry.

A house-to-house search for firearms in some Negro and white residential sections was ordered this afternoon.

Warrants ranging from assault to commit murder to disorderly conduct were issued against the 70 arrested men and the district attorney said the cases would be presented to the county grand jury immediately.

Lynn Bomar, state safety commissioner, said that among the persons under arrest were a number who were believed to have been the ringleaders. Twelve of the suspects were seized in a raid by highway patrolmen on the home of a Negro undertaker. These 12, Bomar said, are charged with attempted murder. He added that in their possession were found four shotguns, two .22 caliber rifles and a revolver.

Constable Homer Copeland who went with the first wave of highway patrolmen to enter the Mink Slide area said he saw three Negroes fall under their gunfire.

After the section had been searched by the patrolmen, Bomar mounted a truck equipped with a loudspeaker and rode through the section.

"I want you people to know," he broadcast, "that we are here to

Russia Cuts Prices 10 to 63 Pct. On Ration-Free, Luxury Foods

MOSCOW, Feb. 26 (AP) — The Soviet Union's commercial food stores, where food may be purchased in unrationed quantities but at high prices, announced today a deep slash in prices, ranging from 63 per cent for the best white flour to 10 to 15 per cent for meats.

Generalissimo Stalin announced Feb. 9 that food rationing would be abandoned in the near future. The people hailed today's reductions as a preliminary move to taking off all restrictions.

The reductions bring prices down to within reach of virtually every class of citizen, although certain cuts of meat may be too high for some.

FRANCHISE MIGHT BE EASIER TO GET WAS INTIMATION, COMMITTEE HEARS

Nominee for Navy Under Secretary Asserts He Will 'Take Under Advisement' Proposal to Withdraw.

By EDWARD A. HARRIS
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26—After a four-day recess, the Senate Naval Affairs Committee today resumed its open hearings on the fitness of Edwin W. Pauley for Under Secretary of the Navy. William A. Patterson, president of the United Airlines, was ready to testify about a solicitation of Democratic campaign funds.

Senator Charles W. Tobey (Rep.), New Hampshire, crusading minority leader of the committee, has received a telegram from Patterson alleging that in the 1944 presidential campaign George Killion, National Committee officer, and Pauley, then committee treasurer, telephoned him and suggested a $35,000 contribution.

The $35,000, Patterson said in his telegram, was to be collected from various officers of the airline at $5000 each, in order to comply with the law. When he refused, Patterson said, Pauley took the phone from Killion and said: "You'd better think twice before turning us down."

At that time Patterson's airline company was seeking a Government franchise to operate across the continent, and Killion, according to Patterson, indicated that if he made the contribution he might get speedy action on his application. Killion, a witness last Thursday, denied all these allegations.

Proposal to Pauley.

Pauley said at today's hearing that he would "take under advisement" a suggestion that he request the President to withdraw his nomination.

The proposal was made, in the form of a question, by Senator Saltonstall (Rep.), Massachusetts, after Pauley had taken the stand and acknowledged that from 1931 to 1938 his Petrol Oil Corp. had sold oil valued at $860,000 to brokers, knowing it would be resold to Japan.

Saltonstall, one of the committee members friendly to Pauley, asked if he would withdraw provided the committee gave him a clean bill of health with respect to charges that his firm sold oil to Japan.

Pauley appeared nonplussed, then amused, by the unexpected question.

"Let me take that under advisement," he finally said. "I just want to say that the suggestion of withdrawing is not unique. A lot of people have made it." He laughed and shook his head.

This exchange came after Pauley had read a statement, copies of which were handed to everyone at the press tables, protesting against what he termed a "smear" of his record on oil sales to Japan.

He produced a telegram from Claude Cameron, treasurer of Petrol, citing the oil sale figures. Previously he had told the committee his concern had sold oil which ultimately went to the Japanese but had no figures to show the value of the transactions. He produced them at the request of Tobey.

He asserted Tobey had charged him with selling oil to the Japanese, which he declared was "malicious unfounded and untrue."

Going further, he said in hard tones: "I now publicly ask Senator Tobey, as a matter of plain decency and fair dealing, to make me a public apology for the unjustifiable smear."

"I have repeatedly stated that Petrol sold no oil to Japan directly," Pauley continued, reading from the typewritten memorandum, "I want to repeat that statement again."

Quotes Telegram.

He added, quoting the telegram from Cameron:

"Last sale of oil by the Petrol Corp. which was ultimately shipped to Japan was on June 25, 1938. No such sales thereafter due to your policy, including instructions to organizations to discontinue offerings to brokers or others for Japanese export."

Glancing up from his papers, Pauley looked across the table at Tobey and said that "Senator Tobey by his own words in the rec-

SOVIET GENERAL ADMITS RUSSIANS TOOK MACHINERY FROM MANCHURIA

Mukden Commander Asserts Stripping of Factories Was Agreed On at a Big Three Conference.

By WILLIAM McGAFFIN

The Chicago Daily News-Post-Dispatch Special Radio. Copyright, 1946.

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Feb. 23 (Delayed) — Maj. Gen. Andrei Kovtounstankevitch, commandant of the Russian garrison in Mukden, has officially confirmed reports that Russia has been taking machinery from Japanese military factories in Manchuria. He declared in an interview that this was done under an agreement reached at one of the Big Three conferences.

The powerfully-built, Ukrainian-born general made his statement in answer to questions by the nine American and British correspondents, who finally penetrated the six-month Manchurian news blackout last Saturday.

In a tour of deserted and stripped factories we obtained eye-witness evidence pointing to confirmation, now made official, of rumors current ever since the Japanese surrendered to the Russians here on Aug. 19.

Amazing Admission.

The general's statement was a double-barreled surprise. It was amazing first that he should have made it at all, especially considering the evident pains that his forces had taken to prevent our party from discovering the machinery missing. That he should state that the removal had been sanctioned at a Big Three conference was equally surprising.

The general made his statement when one correspondent interrupted some delicate verbal fencing with:

"We might as well be frank, general. We have been told that the Russians are taking the machinery they want and sending it back to Russia."

The general coughed, and his face turned red. Then, explaining through the interpreter that he was not feeling very well, he said:

"So far as concerns Jap military factories, according to the Big Three conference they (the Japs) could not leave it (machinery) here, so it happens that some has been taken away."

"As you know, in Europe where American soldiers are stationed, some machines have been taken and shipped to Russia." This also, he said, "was according to the decision of the Big Three."

Someone asked if the Big Three decision concerning Manchurian machinery was taken at Potsdam or at Yalta. The general said he did not know. "It may have been either," he added.

"Has any machinery been taken out of Mukden and shipped to Russia?"

The general replied, "perhaps." Only "10 per cent" of Mukden's factories are guarded by the Red Army. "Ninety per cent are private and are not guarded by the Red Army," he stated.

This does not tally with Chinese figures. The general referred us to "private owners" for permission to visit private factories. He said that military rules forbade us visiting the "10 per cent" guarded by the Russians, but that, "there is nothing there to interest you, anyway."

Byrnes Knows of No Such Big 3 Agreement, He Says.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes said at a press conference today that so far as he knew there never was a Big Three agreement for Russia to withdraw Japanese industrial equipment from Manchuria.

He also said China had not informed the United States officially of such equipment withdrawals by the Red Army, and that the United States had no knowledge of Russian economic demands on Manchuria beyond the provisions on ports and railroads contained in the Russian-Chinese treaty of last August.

Asked about reports from Moscow that southern Sakhalin and the Kurile islands have been incorporated into the Soviet Union, Byrnes repeated a previous opinion that transfers of territory under international law would have to be made by treaty.

Japanese Civilians Tell of Seeing Crippled Yank Flyer Beheaded

Hunt On for Sergeant Who Swung Sword—Captain Accused of Giving Order Already in Prison.

TOKYO, Feb. 26 (AP)—Japanese civilians' accounts of the beheading of a B-29 bombardier as he lay helpless on the ground, with one leg broken, today sent American military police in search of a Japanese sergeant accused of the atrocity.

Two other Japanese, one a captain reported to have given the beheading order, are in Sugamo prison awaiting war crimes trials on the basis of the civilians' stories that:

Second Lt. Darwin T. Emry, Denver, Colo., bombardier, and five others survived the crash last May 25 of a B-29 near Mobara after a raid on Tokyo. The other five crewmen were killed in the crash.

Kempei Tai (thought police) marched off all survivors except Emry. The five others eventually were liberated.

The now imprisoned captain looked at Emry and asked:

"What shall we do with him?"

"Well, I could cut off his head," the sergeant suggested.

"Go ahead. I give you the order," said the captain.

After the Samurai sword flashed, some soldiers asked and received permission to use the body for bayonet drill.

Col. Alva C. Carpenter, nead of Allied headquarters legal section, said the bodies of Emry and the five flyers killed in the crash were discovered in a mass grave and identified.

He said the Mobara civilians would testify at the trial—the first at which live witnesses will be used exclusively. In all trials in Japan to date, much testimony has been by affidavits.

The missing Japanese sergeant once was traced to Hokkaido. He disappeared after telegraphing Jan. 5 that he was returning to Tokyo by small boat to surrender. It is conceivable that he died in stormy waters between Hokkaido and Honshu, said prosecutors Lt. Nelson Buhler, New York, and Lt. Philip J. Faherty Jr., Lambertville, N.J.

UMW SAYS STRIKE CONTROL BILL IS UNION SLAVERY

Imperils Rights, Violates 'Spirit' of Constitution, Counsel Tells Senate Group.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—The AFL United Mine Workers assailed the Case strike control bill today as violating "in spirit" the constitutional amendment forbidding slavery.

"If the right to strike can be denied for one day or 30 days," UMW Counsel Wally Hopkins told the Senate Labor Committee, "it can be denied 90 days or six months."

On the other hand, the United States Chamber of Commerce, while advising against hasty labor legislation, said the Case bill "should serve as a suitable vehicle" for strike control. Its views were presented by Otto Seyferth, chairman of the chamber's committee on labor relations.

Hopkins, lieutenant of UMW President John L. Lewis, asserted "There will be chaos in the house of government if the House-approved bill joins the Smith-Connally War Labor Disputes Act on federal statute books."

Prior to today's session, Senator Ellender (Dem.), Louisiana, predicted that the committee would not accept the bill's provisions for federal court injunctions against labor violence and for damage suits in breaches of labor-management contracts.

Imperils Right to Strike.

Hopkins said the provisions for pre-strike "cooling off periods" and "maintaining the status quo" imperil labor's right to strike. If the amendment against slavery "is not violated in letter, it is in spirit," he told the Senators.

Hopkins cited a number of instances in which he said labor unions had been sued under present laws for alleged breach of contract, and added: "Of course, it is a little difficult at times to sue a labor union, just as it is difficult to sue United States Steel."

He said that Lewis a few years ago stepped off a train in West Virginia "and was served with 137 injunctions."

EGYPTIAN PREMIER CHARGES BRITISH ACTS CAUSED RIOTS

CAIRO, Feb. 26 (AP)—Premier Ismail Sidky Pasha in a speech last night said the violent Cairo riots of last Thursday were the result of British action in driving four army trucks through a crowd of demonstrators, killing one and injuring eight.

Addressing the Egyptian Senate, he expressed "astonishment" that the British had made representations before any investigation could be made determining responsibility. He said he had made a reply which included "certain demands resulting from recent events."

He did not disclose the "demands," but demonstrators during the anti-British outbursts called for withdrawal of British troops from Egypt and incorporation by Egypt of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

POWER STRIKE IN PITTSBURGH POSTPONED FOR ONE WEEK

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 26 (AP)—A power strike that threatened a blackout in an 817 square mile area of Pittsburgh and its environs was averted last night less than a half hour before it was to have gone into effect.

A one-week postponement—until 12:01 a.m. Tuesday, March 5—was announced by President George L. Mueller of the Independent Union of Duquesne Light Co. employes.

The union, with a membership of 3400, will decide at a meeting March 1 whether its wage dispute with the company is to be settled by arbitration or a strike.

The strike—second one to be called in two weeks—was to have started at 12:01 a.m. today. The first one, called Feb. 12, lasted 19 hours before it was suspended by the union "in the interest of the public."

75-YEAR SENTENCE BY COURT-MARTIAL REDUCED TO FIVE

War Department Announces Clemency for Man Who Disobeyed Patrol Order.

UASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—The War Department disclosed today that the wartime court-martial sentence of 75 years' imprisonment against Pfc. Alex Ondi, 29 years old, of Cleveland, had been ordered reduced to a five-year term.

Under Secretary of War Kenneth C. Royall announced the action was taken Feb. 11 by the War Department on recommendation of an army clemency board.

The department said Ondi was tried and convicted of twice refusing in January, 1945, a direct order to go on patrol with other members of his unit. The outfit at the time was under enemy shell and sniper fire in a front-line position in Luxembourg.

Royall said the reduction of sentence was normal procedure and "not due to pressure from any source."

Ondi's wife, Mrs. Eleanor Ondi, said yesterday at Cleveland he had retained an attorney who was reported as saying he would prepare a brief for a review board. Mrs. Ondi had finally told their two young children that their father's homecoming was off. The story from Cleveland said Ondi had been sentenced to 50 years.

DONNELLY GETS KEY BILL FOR MAGISTRATE COURT PLAN

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 26 — The House this afternoon finally passed and sent to the Governor the key bill establishing magistrate courts in each county of Missouri. They would replace the present justice of the peace courts in compliance with requirements of the new constitution.

When signed, the act will become fully operative Jan. 1, 1947, at which time the new magistrates, to be elected in the November general election, will take office.

Under the bill St. Louis could have a maximum of 11 magistrates and St. Louis county a maximum of six. Salaries range from $2400 a year in smaller counties up to $5000 a year in St. Louis county and $6000 a year in St. Louis.

UNITY NECESSARY, BYRNES TELLS NEW FAR EAST BOARD

Only Way to End Wars, He Says to Policy-Making Group Meeting to Organize.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes said today the Allies must maintain "the same unity of action and of purpose that won the war" if they are to "root out the seeds of possible future wars."

He spoke to representatives of 11 nations gathered at the old Japanese embassy to organize the new Far Eastern Commission.

Byrnes called the agreement establishing the policy-making group as "one of the major accomplishments" of the December conference of Big Three foreign ministers in Moscow. The organization replaces the Far Eastern Advisory Commission.

The convening of the commission, Byrnes said, was "a source of genuine gratification" to him.

"Even though the task of crushing the Japanese end of the Axis fell largely on the United States, this government always desired that the control of Japan should become an Allied responsibility," he said in a prepared address.

"Peace in the Pacific is an essential cornerstone to a stable world structure. The guidance of Japan to a position of peaceful association with other nations is therefore a task of major responsibility. That responsibility now belongs to you of the Far Eastern Commission."

Byrnes said he wanted to commend to the commission "the progress thus far made" in Japan. He said the directives issued and the administration established by Gen. Douglas MacArthur represented "sound and significant contributions to the transformation."

He added, however, that the Allies "should not for a moment lose sight of the important job that lies ahead.

"The old structure of power and rule in Japan cannot be eliminated in a matter of weeks or even of months."

Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy and Nelson T. Johnson, chairman and secretary-general, respectively, of the old advisory commission, were elected unanimously to similar posts in the new group. A steering committee was formed to expedite action on questions involving Japan.

Russia never joined the Far Eastern Advisory Commission. Nikolai V. Novikov, charge d'affaires of the Soviet embassy, is Moscow's representative on the new body.

When the advisory body was set up last October the Russians held out for a four-power control council in Tokyo similar to that in Berlin. They got a four-power advisory council instead as a result of the Moscow conference.

The new commission was granted considerably more authority than its predecessor, but it cannot, as its name might imply, consider matters in the Far East outside Japan.

Airline Head Tells of Pauley Remark

ord has come as close as he dares in charging me with treason."

"Now," he went on, "I have produced the facts. In June of 1938, 42 months before Pearl Harbor, two years before our own State Department imposed any export controls over the shipment of oil to Japan, I ordered my company to stop any sales, even to brokers."

He then said that in September, 1940, he offered to help the United States Government mobilize oil resources, and in June, 1941, warned President Roosevelt and others of Japanese designs on The Netherlands East Indies and advocated armed force to stop Japan.

Pauley concluded: "I ask, Mr. Chairman, that you and this committee, in view of the facts and in the absence of a retraction by Senator Tobey of his unwarranted an unfounded charges against me, completely exonerate me from this foul, irrational and malicious charge and stigma."

In 1931, $38,000; in 1935, $264,000; in 1936, $272,000; in 1937, $115,000, and in 1938, $170,000.

Reads Previous Testimony.

When Pauley had finished, Senator Owen Brewster (Rep.), Maine, read Pauley's own testimony from the record. In it he himself had acknowledged that he had made oil sales, consigned for Japan, to brokers and "in the meantime,"—Pauley's own phrase—"was protesting to the Government that Japan might get oil from the East Indies."

Asked by Senator Wayne Morse (Rep.), Oregon, to specify the brokers to whom he sold oil prior to 1941, Pauley said he did not have that information on hand but would get it.

Brewster asked how he reconciled his earlier testimony that he had no way of knowing his oil was going to Japan, with his testimony today giving details of the transactions.

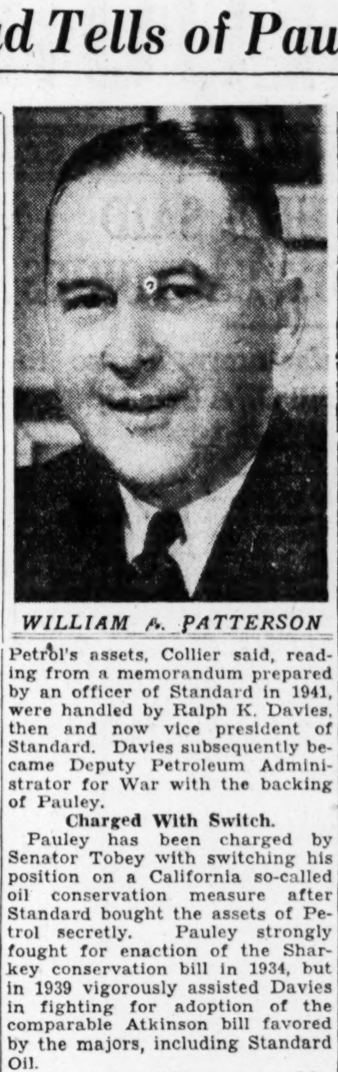
"Well, I'm correcting the record," said Pauley. "I found that my company did have the facts."

After Pauley's appearance, Henry D. Collier, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Co. of California, testified that in 1938 his company secretly acquired the assets of Pauley's Petrol Oil Corp.

Collier declared the deal was consummated for Standard through the Signal Oil & Gas Co. of Los Angeles, with which Standard has close producing and marketing arrangements.

Standard and Signal, he said, jointly obtained control of Petrol's assets and common stock, with the assets going to Standard and the common stock, at the time of the transaction, turned over to Signal, although the Petrol corporation has continued to operate nominally as an "independent" company.

Pauley tesitfied two weeks ago that although Standard bought some of his firm's properties, there had never been any financial interdependency between Petrol and Standard or Petrol and Signal. He did say that a company called "Midwest Associates" bought control of his company, but at the time of the sale he did not know, and still does not know, that Midwest was formed by Standard and Signal specifically for the deal.



WILLIAM A. PATTERSON

The negotiations for purchase of Petrol's assets, Collier said, reading from a memorandum prepared by an officer of Standard in 1941, were handled by Ralph K. Davies, then and now vice president of Standard. Davies subsequently became Deputy Petroleum Administrator for War with the backing of Pauley.

Charged With Switch.

Pauley has been charged by Senator Tobey with switching his position on a California so-called oil conservation measure after Standard bought the assets of Petrol secretly. Pauley strongly fought for enaction of the Sharkey conservation bill in 1934, but in 1939 vigorously assisted Davies in fighting for adoption of the comparable Atkinson bill favored by the majors, including Standard Oil.

The Atkinson bill was passed by the California Legislature but repealed in state-wide referendum. Pauley, along with Davies and others, unsuccessfully sought to beat the referendum. In his testimony before the committee Pauley declared the people of California, in repudiating the bill, "didn't know what was good for them."

Pauley has testified that after 1941 the name of his company was changed to Petrol Oil Corp. of Nevada, instead of California, but he has not yet explained why the name is listed in the current Washington (D. C.) directory as Petrol of California.

Tobey has charged that the old name was retained so that other independent oil firms of California would not know that Pauley had "sold out" to Standard interests—or had become a "dependable independent," as called in the trade.

The hearing is expected to wind up this week, after Pauley presents a lengthy rebuttal to all the testimony and charges against him. The nomination may go to the Senate floor next week for the showdown vote. Latest tallies still indicate that he lacks the necessary support for confirmation, but he has made it clear he will not ask for withdrawal of his name.

SENATORS SOUGHT TO VISIT TRUMAN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—Senator Pepper (Dem.), Florida, sought volunteers among his colleagues today for a White House visit to ask President Truman to withdraw Edwin W. Pauley's nomination for Under Secretary of the Navy.

Pepper told a reporter he had found several Senators privately sympathetic with his public proposal that Pauley quit the contest before it comes to a final vote.

He reported progress in his efforts, but few on Capitol Hill thought Truman would initiate a withdrawal move.

Pauley, declining direct comment on Pepper's proposal, remarked that he couldn't see much connection between his nomination and the line of evidence that Senator Tobey(Rep.), New Hampshire, has been developing about Pauley's interest in an unsuccessful campaign in California in 1939 to prevent repeal of an oil conservation law by referendum.

Tobey has contended, however, that Pauley's action in that campaign are "part of a pattern" by which he is attempting to prove the nominee's unfitness for an appointment that is expected eventually to lead to the secretaryship of the Navy if Pauley is confirmed.

At Tobey's request, the committee today subpenaed E. G. Starr of the Universal Consolidated Oil Co. of Los Angeles, who opposed Pauley in the referendum fight.

JAP ACQUITTED OF BEATING AMERICANS AT PRISON CAMP

YOKOHAMA, Feb. 26 (AP)—An Eighth Army war trials commission today acquitted Sunsuke Kato on charges that he assisted in beating an American prisoner at the Fukuoka camp. It was the first such verdict since the trials started in Japan.

The courtroom was crowded with fellow students of the defendant who attended Meiji University prior to his induction into the Japanese army in 1944. Kato, 23 years old, was a mess orderly at the camp.

Cpl. Naraichi Chihara, former mess sergeant at the camp, who admitted beating prisoners, was sentenced to six years' imprisonment at hard labor and Pvt. Truo Ono to two years.

DETROIT BAKERY DRIVERS' STRIKE ENDS IN PAY RISE

DETROIT, Feb. 26 (AP)—A two-day strike that closed 13 large Detroit bakeries ended this afternoon as members of the Bakery Drivers' Local 51 AFL Teamsters' Union, accepted a compromise wage offer of the bakeries.

Under the new scale the basic wage is set at $12.50 weekly, with a $50 minimum weekly guarantee, against the previous $10 and $45. The settlement was made in behalf of drivers of 66 baking plants represented by the union.

Meanwhile, the city's milk supply was meeting only 40 per cent of the demand, with 750,000 Detroiters receiving no deliveries, according to the health department.

UNION RESCINDS NEW YORK TRANSIT STRIKE THREAT

Drops Demand to Act as Sole Bargaining Agent After Meeting of O'Dwyer, Murray.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP)—Mayor William O'Dwyer said today the threat of a city-wide transit strike had been removed.

The mayor made the announcement after a conference at city hall with Philip Murray, CIO president.

He said the CIO Transport Workers' Union, headed by City Councilman Michael J. Quill, had withdrawn its demand for designation as sole collective bargaining agent for transit workers. The mayor has contended that civil service regulations prevented the city from signing a contract designating any one group as sole bargaining agency.

O'Dwyer said also that he would name a special transit committee to study working conditions, wages and labor relations between the workers and the Board of Transportation. The union seeks a $2-a-day wage increase, which O'Dwyer has said is justified.

Yesterday Edward McGrady, former assistant Secretary of Labor, and David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corp. of America, conferred with Murray in Washington in an effort to prevent the strike.

Members of the Board of Transportation, Arthur S. Meyer, chairman of the State Mediation Board, and other city and union officials joined the meeting at the City Hall.

The CIO Transport Workers' Union, which claims to represent 20,000 of the transit workers, had threatened to call the strike any time after midnight tonight unless its demands are met.

The Board of Estimate said the TWU represented only 5000 of the city's transit workers.

Bernard Brophy, president of the AFL American Federation of Municipal Transit Workers, claiming 6000 members among the city's transit employes, announced last night his union would not support the threatened strike.

Earlier, Brophy declared, "there will still be enough men around to run the transit system" even if the TWU struck.

Delegates of the Civil Service Forum claiming to represent 8000 transit workers, also voted last night to remain on the jobs.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT
Contact Lenses

IN 1827 Sir John Frederick William Herschel, English physicist, advocated the use of a thin glass to protect a diseased cornea while under treatment.

Sixty years later, 1887, a glass for the purpose was successfully fitted to promote the healing of ulcerated corneas.

Experiments in adaptations to visual corrections had been going on and in 1920 the famous Zeiss Laboratories produced accurately ground lenses that fitted under the eyelids. The term Contact Lenses was given them.

Made of special optical glass Contact Lenses were invisible and doing a satisfactory job for thousands of individuals, not alone for the protection of diseased conditions, and from injuries in dangerous occupations, but also as invaluable in sports and office work. The perfect invisibility found a function in social activities, as the women could exercise a come hither look impossible with ordinary glasses.

But through carelessness or by accident glass Contact Lenses were only too easily broken. Plastics came, resulting in clear, non-irritating lenses, correct in visual acuity, and solving the vexatious problems arising from glass.

Great improvements have been made in the technique of measurement and application. No discomforts are to be endured here. In consequence the demand for Contact Lenses has greatly increased.

Otto Bachman, Pioneer in Contact Lenses

Ten years ago Otto Bachman visited the famous Zeiss Laboratories and learned the details of making Contact Lenses at first hand. He also took part in the various procedures employed in actual practice.

Every step in the development and progress of Contact Lenses has been carefully watched by Dr. Bachman and adopted if fully warranted—For example, Tangent Cone Contact Lenses as fitted by Dr. Bachman.

As Contact Lenses have both advantages and disadvantages those who contemplate wearing them are urged to consult Dr. Bachman before commitment. The necessity for Contact Lenses should be determined, the nature of the sport or occupation should be considered, the adoption for social enjoyment — all have a bearing one way or the other. Again, Dr. Bachman's position is that this great optical benefit should not be improperly or unsuitably used.

FOR nearly fifty years Dr. Bachman has practiced Optometry in St. Louis. His establishment is distinguished by individual examination rooms, each completely equipped with the latest approved appliances for determining and correcting aberations from normal vision.

Dr. Bachman enjoys a national reputation for strictly ethical practice. The files of patrons embrace every walk in life, while the number of persons benefitted is practically legion.

Dr. Bachman's optometric assistants are properly qualified graduates, selected for competence and ethical outlook to serve in the responsible relation this organization bears to bettering and conserving sight.

VETERAN CENTER REORGANIZATION AND EXPANSION PROGRAM BEGINS

Committee to Co-ordinate Job and Education Counseling — Tentative 6-Month Budget of $59,696.

Reorganization and expansion of the Veterans' Service Center in the Civil Courts Building, following the resignation of Arthur A. Poss as executive director, was begun yesterday by the executive committee of the center board, headed by John J. Griffin.

It is planned to co-ordinate existing job-counseling and education-counseling services and to add more counselors as suggested by W. I. Burnham, representative of the Retraining and Re-employment Administration, in a recent report on the center. A tentative budget for the next six months of $59,696 was approved by the executive committee, subject to revision when the reorganization plan is complete.

Funds are to be asked of the city, the St. Louis County Court, and the War Chest. Last Dec. 1, when Griffin asked for $100,000 in city funds for support of the center, Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann declared that "in my judgment the amount requested is reasonable."

The tentative budget approved yesterday is $33,308 less, on an annual basis, than the budget necessary for an adequate center, as outlined in the Burnham report. Burnham estimated an adequate veterans' center for St. Louis would cost $152,700 a year. The budget approved yesterday would total $119,392 on an annual basis.

Financial Outlook.

If the War Chest contributed the same amount as in the past and if the County Court also contributed to the support of the center, the city's contribution would be considerably short of the $100,000 figure considered "reasonable" by Mayor Kaufmann. The War Chest contributed $25,000 for support of the center last year, and since then has made some additional contributions while the center obtained figures on the basis of its operations in the Civil Courts Building for preparation of a new budget.

Last Dec. 27 the City Board of Estimate and Apportionment went on record as being willing to recommend to the Board of Aldermen the enactment of an ordinance "appropriating such funds as may reasonably be necessary, together with other available funds, to insure the adequate functioning" of the one-stop center. Such action, however, was deferred until March 1, so that the center staff could prepare a budget on the basis of operating experience at the new location.

Griffin said yesterday that he hopes to arrange a meeting with the Board of Estimate, representatives of the War Chest and of the County Court next week, if possible, to settle the division of the center's support. Meanwhile, the center's executive committee yesterday also approved a second tentative budget of $39,856 for the next six months. This would allow operations only on the present scale.

Expansion of Activities.

Action to expand the center's activities beyond this was begun following the receipt of the Burnham report and the resignation last week of Poss. The job of co-ordinating and expanding job-counseling and education-counseling services was to have been done by Poss, the Post-Dispatch learned, but was not done.

Now this job is to be done by Rudolph T. Danstedt, executive director of the Social Planning Council. Danstedt is a member of a co-ordinating committee headed by Henry F. Chadeayne, but neither Chadeayne nor other members of the committee except Danstedt were present yesterday.

The co-ordinating committee, together with the finance committee, headed by Avery Carp, and Griffin, are to decide on the plan of organization and the budget figure which finally will be presented to the city-county-War Chest group. These men indicated yesterday that there is little doubt that the expanded operations plan, rather than the second and reduced budget plan will be favored by them.

One change which is expected to result from the reorganization of the center is in its name. Griffin said yesterday that when the expansion program is finally approved the name will be changed to conform with the sign in front of the building, which says "Veterans' Service Center." Although this name generally has been used in reference to the center, under Poss it officially was the "Information and Referral Center," the name used when it was housed in the Old Courthouse.

Poss' organization functioned as only one of several agencies in the center, not as an over-all co-ordinating agency. At the insistence of Carp, treasurer of the center board, the executive committee yesterday went on record that the primary function of that agency is as an over-all co-ordinator.

Meeting Next Thursday.

Danstedt said the co-ordinating committee will meet Thursday to work out preliminary plans for the reorganization. Later, the committee will meet with representatives of the Red Cross, which conducts a vocational guidance service at its headquarters, 3414 Lindell boulevard; of the United States Employment Service; Chamber of Commerce; Board of Education, and other agencies. Meanwhile, the executive committee ordered Miss Betty Inman, acting director of the center, to hold daily meetings with representatives at the center of the various agencies operating there, to coordinate their efforts.

Danstedt said he would prefer to work with the new center director in framing a scheme for expanded and co-ordinated services at the center. The board, however, directed him to prepare general policies and a program which later could be turned over to a new director to administer.

Griffin announced at the meeting that St. Louis banks were working out a plan to have two full-time men at the center to advise veterans on G.I. loans. These men would be experienced bank employes. They would not complete the loans, but would advise veterans whether their requests were reasonable and refer them to their own banks or give them a list of banks in the city.

Griffin declared the Citizens' Emergency Housing Committee should maintain a staff at the center. At present, he said, the center staff is operating a veterans' housing bureau in the center for the Citizens' Committee. Continued operation of the bureau by the center will make necessary a request for an additional $3058 in the budget for the next six months, he said.

PVT. FRANCIS O. TILLEY of Burlington, Vt., arriving with his 17-month-old daughter KATHRINE in London yesterday, after the Army ordered their return from Paris. Tilley, who at first said he was trying to get passage to America for the baby, explained that he and his Scottish wife Helen had spent a 90-day furlough hunting for a home in London and when they could not find one he took the child to Paris and kept her in his billet. His wife met them at Victoria station and arrangements were made for mother and daughter to stay at a friend's home in Surrey.

COUNTY COURT FIXES SENATORIAL DISTRICTS

Boundaries Under the New State Constitution Are Worked Out.

Boundaries of the two districts in which candidates will be elected for the State Senate under the new State Constitution were drawn up today by the St. Louis County Court.

The Twelfth District, in which a Senator will be elected this year, comprises St. Ferdinand, Normandy and Clayton townships. The Thirteenth District, now represented by Senator Hartwell Crain, who took office after the resignation last year of Senator Joseph Falzone, includes Jefferson, Gravois, Lemay, Bonhomme and Meramec townships. Before the new Constitution was adopted one Senator represented St. Louis, Gasconade and Franklin counties.

Boundaries of the new districts will be certified to the County Board of Election Commissioners next week. At the same time the court will define the boundaries of seven districts in the county from which members of the State House of Representatives will be elected.

VETERANS' CHAIRMAN URGES $5,000,000 FOR HOUSING

The Citizens' Emergency Housing Committee has been given insufficient backing by the city administration, it was charged today by George Londa, chairman of the St. Louis chapter of the American Veterans' Committee, in a letter to Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann.

The Citizens' Committee, Londa declared, "has been hampered by lack of funds and lack of sufficient authority. For the most part it has been financed privately, and it is to the credit of its chairman, J. Wesley McAfee, that this committee has attempted to do what it has with so little help from the city."

Londa called for vigorous action by a City Housing Authority to get temporary homes for veterans. Meanwhile, he said, "a minimum of $5,000,000 should be made available" for permanent homes for veterans, and construction begun immediately "not for housing 60 veterans, but for housing thousands."

35 SLAUGHTER FIRMS TO CLOSE AS PROTEST

Suppliers of 75 Pct. of City's Beef to Demonstrate Against OPA Rules.

Thirty-five small St. Louis area meat slaughtering firms, which supply an estimated 75 per cent of the city's beef, will shut down at the close of business Thursday in protest against Office of Price Administration regulations, Max W. Kramer, attorney for the Missouri-Illinois Small Slaughterers' Association, said today.

The association, of which the 35 are members, has invited about 100 other small packers in a 15-state midwestern area to a conference here Friday to draw up a "combined protest against restrictive OPA regulations under which a packer cannot operate profitably without chiseling," Kramer said.

Plans also will be made at the conference to send a delegation to Washington to present the small packers' viewpoint to government officials in an effort to gain relief for the industry, Kramer added.

He said the local packers plan to remain closed until the OPA revises or suspends its regulations which govern the industry from the purchase of livestock to obtaining of federal subsidies.

"This is not an industry strike," Kramer asserted. "It is an effort by legitimate packers to comply with OPA regulations, but as those regulations now exist, a packer cannot comply with them and still operate legitimately. The only way we can obey them is to close."

Seventeen small meat slaughterers in Cincinnati voted last night to close their plants in a similar protest against OPA regulations.

SECOND EMBEZZLEMENT TRIAL OF THOMAS FLORIAN BEGINS

The trial of Thomas Florian, real estate dealer, on an indictment charging him with embezzlement by agent and obtaining $3000 under false pretenses from John Sheehy, 85-year-old resident of Father Dempsey's Home, 1411 Hogan street, began today in Circuit Judge Robert L. Aronson's court.

Florian was found guilty by a jury last Jan. 9 of embezzling $5000 from Sheehy in a real estate deal involving the sale of a rooming house at 3655 Washington boulevard. Sheehy testified Florian did not turn over the deed or return his money after the alleged sale. Sheehy said he gave Florian $5000 in March, 1944, and $3000 in April of the same year to buy the property.

The real estate dealer was sentenced to three years imprisonment on the embezzlement last January, but has been at liberty under bond pending an appeal.

HOME BUILDING PLAN DENOUNCED IN HOUSE DEBATE

Housing Administrator Wilson Wyatt contended on the other hand that a "pretty integrated" lobby was opposing vital parts of the legislation.

Smith told the House, as debate opened on legislation that sponsors said they would try to enlarge to give full support to President Truman's plan for 2,700,000 houses in two years, that the proposal would allow "bureaucrats to seize the home building industry."

Representative Patman (Dem.), Texas, author of the bill fired back that the bill is intended to build homes for veterans instead of letting scarce building materials go into the construction of "amusement places and honkytonks."

Wyatt, at a press conference, said that each day's delay of congressional action costs 3000 new dwellings.

He said "two or three" organized groups were starting a telegram shower on members of Congress. They opposed the provisions, he said, because "they want to see price ceilings raised all over the lot."

The pending legislation would put a ceiling on new houses. Amendments are planned to place old construction under price control also.

Wyatt took an oblique swipe at the National Association of Home Builders, which is meeting in Chicago and which he said had called the program "a conspiracy for socialized housing."

"I suppose that makes me a Socialist by Bob Taft," he observed, referring to the conservative Ohio Republican Senator and co-author of a long-range housing measure now before the Senate.

Wyatt said he had been invited to address the banquet of the home builders' group tomorrow night and planned to keep the date.

"This is a case of getting invited to dinner and being bawled out before you get there," he remarked, "but I don't believe they really feel that way. I want to talk to them."

The employes of all housing agencies, Wyatt announced, are going back on a semi-wartime basis of five and one half work days a week.

A fight is expected on amendments to put two administration requests in the bill. They call for a system to clamp price ceilings on all of the nation's 40,000,000 existing dwellings, and for the Government to provide $1,600,000,000, including 600,000,000 in subsidies, in an effort to get 2,700,000 new homes in the next two years.

Legislation designed to provide 200,000 temporary homes this year for families of service men and veterans received Senate approval today. The measure goes to the House. It calls for doubling a previous 100,000-home program and adds $250,000,000 to an earlier $160,000,000 appropriation.

'PERFECT RECORD' IN FLYING 64,318 INVALID YANKS TO U.S.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—The War Department reports that the Army Air Forces Air Transport Command set up a "perfect record" in 1945 in flying 64,318 patients home from war areas.

Only two deaths were listed for flying patients from the European theater of operations and the China-Burma-India theater, and the Department says that in neither instance could the trip be considered either the cause or a contributory factor in the death.

VENEREAL DISEASE MEETING

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 26 (AP)—Gov. Phil M. Donnelly has invited 26 representatives of health, religious and government agencies to confer April 10 in Jefferson City on the problem of venereal disease in Missouri.

He said in a letter made public yesterday that attempts would be made to develop a "broad educational program" throughout Missouri to disseminate specific information regarding veneral disease which has increased as a result of the end of the war and the relaxation of military controls.

NLRB SETS ASIDE SCULLIN STEEL UNION CONTRACT

A labor contract between the Scullin Steel Co., 6701 Manchester avenue, and an independent union was held invalid today by the National Labor Relations Board because the company unlawfully assisted the union and "interfered with, restrained and coerced its employes" in their right to self-organization.

The board ordered the company to withhold recognition from the independent union, known as the Independent Steelworkers' Organization, until it is certified by the board as the collective bargaining agent for employes.

In its decision, the board further ordered the company to reinstate five employes whom it found had been discriminated against in being discharged for union activities and that they receive back pay.

The board failed to sustain a finding by an NLRB trial examiner that the independent union was company dominated, and rejected a recommendation that 55 other employes whom the company refused to reinstate following a strike in June 1943 be restored to their jobs.

The board decision was on an appeal from Trial Examiner Charles W. Whittemore's report filed a year ago, which followed hearings on charges by the CIO United Steel Workers' Union and various AFL unions that the company had violated the National Labor Relations Act.

Filing of the charges by the CIO and AFL unions culminated attempts to organize the Scullin plant, which employs about 1000 workers, and followed an earlier NLRB ruling that two predecessor organizations to the Independent Steelworkers' Organization—the Scullin Employes' Association and Scullin Steel Co. Mutual Aid Association, Inc.—were company dominated.

BEER CUT MAY REDUCE CITY'S WATER REVENUE BY $46,200

A reduction in the revenue of the city water department amounting to $46,200 as a result of reduced production of beer here under the Government's grain conservation program was predicted today by Water Commissioner Thomas J. Skinker. The annual city water revenue from all sources totals about $4,000,000. Beer production is to be cut one third.

Pointing out that the breweries use large quantities of water in beer manufacture and the cleansing of bottles and equipment, Skinker said he anticipates a loss of $30,000 in revenue from Anheuser-Busch, Inc. alone, and the balance of the estimated figure from five other breweries using city water. The production cut will go into effect after March 1.

3 MEN SAID TO HAVE ADMITTED $1100 HOLDUP ON EAST SIDE

Three Negroes arrested yesterday have admitted to East St. Louis police that they were members of a band of five men who robbed Joseph Andruska, operator of a tavern at 2 St. Clair avenue, East St. Louis, of $1100 cash and payroll checks totaling $10,000, when they waylaid him as he was on his way home Feb. 18, police said today.

Signed confessions were obtained from Robert Lee Johnson, 40A St. Clair avenue; Jimmy Lee Elsaw, 224A St. Clair avenue, and Willie Dewalt, 215 Baugh avenue, police said. A fourth man, implicated by the three, was arrested in Cairo, Ill. Police have recovered $310 of the money. The checks were burned, the men told police.

CITY OFFERED BARRACKS TO HOUSE 700 FAMILIES

Surplus buildings from the war prisoner barracks at Weingarten, Ste. Genevieve county, which would furnish dwellings for 700 families, are available for housing in St. Louis whenever the city is ready to furnish a site for them, it was learned today.

The housing units are frame buildings, which can be converted into three- and four-room apartments, with one or two bedrooms, according to the size of the family.

J. Wesley McAfee, chairman of the Citizens' Emergency Housing Committee, said to a Post-Dispatch reporter that the committee had applied for 2400 of the Weingarten housing units, "but we'll take the 700 gladly, and we have sites available for them." He did not indicate the location that he had in mind. He said an emissary of the committee was in Chicago to learn construction details of the Weingarten buildings, and requirements for transporting and remodeling them.

Sale of the units will be limited to veterans who lived in St. Louis at the time of their induction into service. Priority for purchasing the units will be established by the Veterans' Service Center, in the Civil Courts building, on the basis of need.

The committee's representative in Chicago sought also information as to the requirements for conversion of the 23 Jefferson Barracks buildings which have been allotted to the city for veterans' occupancy. These buildings, which will remain at their present location, are expected to hold eight families each, 184 families in all.

Eleven bids received today for construction of three of the proposed 60 four-room houses for veterans which the city will build to ease the housing shortage, were considerably higher than originally estimated, Milton M. Kinsey, president of the Board of Public Service, announced.

Lowest bidder was the Smith-Cooke Construction Co., 4829 Easton avenue, which submitted bids of $5154 for type A units; $5222 for type B, and $5142 for type C. It was originally estimated, Kinsey said, that the units could be constructed for $4500 and sold at cost to veterans for about $5000, which would include installation of sewerage facilities.

The difference in the types of houses, Kinsey said, was minor. In one case the front doorway was in the center of the house; in another, it was on the side, and in another a different type of trimming was used above the door.

Second lowest bidder was the G. L. Tarlton Co. of St. Louis, which submitted bids of $5216, $5365 and $5229 for types A, B and C, respectively, Kinsey said. The other bids ranged as high as $7000 a unit.

Although stating he was disappointed at the high amounts of the bids, Kinsey said he still believes it will be possible to sell the units complete with sewer connections and lots to veterans for $6000, which would be cost price to the city.

Kinsey said no bids will be accepted by the city until he has had further time to study them.

Three units of the housing project, which will be constructed on city-owned property on Connecticut avenue, are to be erected to determine the cost of such construction. Authority for the work came from the Board of Aldermen, which set up a $300,000 revolving fund to defray construction costs. As veterans buy the houses, the purchase price will be returned to the fund for further construction, if necessary.

RADIO PHONES TO BE TESTED ON BELL CO. TRUCKS

Purpose Is Quick Communication With Repair Men 50 Miles Away.

An employe is not going to be able to get away from his boss even when he is driving home from the office in his automobile, if an experiment which the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. expects to try out next month proves successful.

The company is going to install radio telephone equipment in 12 repair trucks so the drivers can be reached within a matter of minutes at any point within 50 miles of the office. A transmitter and a receiver for the two-way communication are now being constructed on the top floor of the company building at Eleventh and Pine streets, and additional receiving sets will be built at Chain of Rocks, near the intersection of Lindbergh and Olive Street roads, in Affton, and in East St. Louis. It is hoped to start the experiment by March 15.

Here is the way the mobile telephone service is expected to work:

Calls to and from the trucks will be handled by special operators. The conversation will travel part of the way by telephone and part of the way by radio. When the operator receives a call for the truck driver she sends out a signal on a radio wave length by dialing the call number assigned to that particular truck. Warned by an audible or visual signal that he is wanted, the driver picks up his dashboard receiver and the conversation starts.

When the driver wants to reply, he presses a "push to talk" button on his telephone. He can also use this button to originate calls of his own.

BENNY M'GOVERN, EX-BOXER, NAMED IN OPA BEER CASE

Indicted With 7 Others, 3 Firms on Charges of Selling Beverage Above Ceiling.

Farrell B. McGovern, prize fighter and former bootlegger, and seven other persons and three firms have been named in two United States District Court indictments charging conspiracy to buy and sell beer at more than Office of Price Administration ceilings, it was revealed today by District Attorney Harry C. Blanton. Total overcharges were estimated by OPA agents at $170,000.

Named with McGovern—known to associates as Benny—were two other St. Louisans associated with him in the McGovern Beer Co., 3615 Laclede avenue. They are Luke Franklan and Richard U. Grant. Also named were the Appleton Brewery Co., at Old Appleton, Mo., and E. H. Rowden, president of the brewery, and G. A. Schaefer, secretary.

Others named in the indictments were charged with having purchased the beer obtained by McGovern at the Appleton Brewery. They are Frank Alessio of San Diego, Cal., and the two firms he heads there, the Cazosa Beverage Co., and the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co.; Charles Rezzonico of Santa Barbara, Cal., wholesale and retail beer distributor, and Ralph E. Nelson, beer distributor at Velasco, Tex.

McGovern is alleged to have made out invoices for the beer at OPA ceiling prices, then to have charged commissions, fees, bonuses and trucking charges in addition, bringing the total price above the ceiling. A total of 45 overt acts are charged in the second indictment.

16-Ct. Packing Pay Rise Ordered

Cudahy, Armour and John Morrell companies.

These included some 95,000 production and related workers and about 36,000 white collar employes whose salary do not exceed $120 a week.

At the same time the Wage Stabilization Board announced preapproval of 16-cent hourly wage increases in any meat packing plants where wages "normally have been adjusted in relation to" wages paid in the Big Five companies.

The effect of the "pattern approval" is to permit employers granting the 16-cents hourly increase to apply directly to OPA for price relief—provided they normally, in the past, have followed Big Five wage schedules.

The pattern announced today was expected to cover numerous plants of 13 independent meat packing companies whose facilities were seized Jan. 26 along with those of the Big Five. Specific applications covering wage increases for most of these independents have not yet been filed, the board said.

The wage increase for the production and related workers is retroactive to Jan. 26, under the board's order; for white collar employes, it is retroactive to Jan. 28.

Bowles, former price administrator, said he had agreed to the price change "only with extreme reluctance."

If it had not been for "various commitments made before issuance of the new wage price policy," he said, he would have "appealed vigorously to Congress for additional subsidy money to eliminate any need for a retail price increase, no matter how small it might be."

"Under the circumstances, however, I have no alternative but to accept this situation as I find it," Bowles stated.

He added that he had instructed OPA "to leave no stone unturned in their efforts to minimize effect of this increase on the American family budget."

CIO President Phillip Murray, declaring that any return to wartime wage restraints would be "catastrophic," added his protest to that of AFL President William Green, who earlier had termed the program "unacceptable and unworkable."

The next move in labor's fight against the reinstituted controls is expected to take place within the Wage Stabilization Board itself, the agency assigned by Truman to act on pay rises granted under the new formula.

The two AFL and CIO members of the board joined yesterday in opposing a policy declaration favored by the two industry and two public members. They gave no hint as to their future course, but CIO officers did not rule out the possibility they might eventually withdraw from the board.

A possible showdown on the Administration's entire wage-price policy was indicated by the Senate Appropriation Committee's action late yesterday in voting, 11 to 9, to reduce by 50 per cent the proposed emergency deficiency appropriations for the Office of Price Administration and the Civilian Production Administration — key enforcement agencies in the program. The committee cut the House-approved OPA sum to $927,000 and the CPA fund to $750,000.

Government pricing controls continued under attack today at the national marketing conference sponsored by the United States Chamber of Commerce at New York.

J. J. Myler, secretary and treasurer of Neisner Bros., Inc., Rochester, N. Y., said "the restrictive measures of the OPA were causing more confusion now than did during the war. . . ."

"With all these pent-up demands for goods," he said, "OPA continues its stubborn policy of attempting to control profits—not prices only—and in doing so denies customers merchandise and delays a return to normal business under the American system."

La Follette Says Truman Tries to Mollify Both Sides.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP) — Senator Robert M. La Follette (Prog.), Wisconsin, said last night there would have been fewer strikes since V-J day if President Truman had laid down " a definite blueprint with respect to wages and prices instead of trying to mollify both sides with an indefinite and vacillating policy."

He made the remark at a rally of the United Labor Committee called to aid members of the CIO United Auto Workers, on strike against the General Motors Corporation.

Checks totaling about $200,000 were presented to UAW Vice President Walter P. Reuther on behalf of 88 CIO, AFL and independent unions. The largest check, for $88,500, was from the AFL International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

La Follette said: "The conciliation and mediation services of the Government must be strengthened" and "the use of voluntary mediation and arbitration must be encouraged—such provisions written into a voluntary collective agreement will afford protection against work stoppages."

N.A.M. Head Says "People Burn While Administration Fiddles."

ASHTABULA, O., Feb. 26 (AP) —Charges that "the people burn while the Administration fiddles," and that the new wage-price control established by President Truman "would be a dangerous weapon even in skillful hands," were made last night by Robert R. Wason, president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

In an address before the Chamber of Commerce, Wason asserted that "unfortunately, the Administration has not yet learned what to do about inflation."

"They include a plan for expansion of wages and purchasing power. They include no adequate plan for the absorption of the wages into the costs of goods. Therefore, in thousands of instances, the goods cannot be produced. . . . To end this economic paralysis . . . requires individual effort from every responsible citizen in this nation to get OPA ceilings taken off."

COMMISSIONS OF TWO COUNTY DEPUTY SHERIFFS REVOKED

The commissions of Deputy Sheriffs August H. Piotraschke and William P. Colbert were revoked by Circuit Judge Raymond E. LaDriere at Clayton yesterday at the request of Sheriff Arthur C. Mosley. Mosley said both men had been "grousing" about their low wages and were creating dissension among the other deputies. He requested the revocations, he said, after the deputies had refused to resign.

Both Piotraschke and Colbert receive $210 a month. Piotraschke has been a special deputy in St. Louis County for four years and a regular deputy for nine. Colbert has been a regular deputy for a year.

Piotraschke, who lives in Crystal Lake Park and has one child, told reporters he found it impossible to keep from going into debt on his salary, and said he had not been given any reason for his dismissal by the sheriff. Colbert has three children and lives at 6216 Stilwell avenue, Pine Lawn. Both men were required to pay the expenses of using their cars as deputies.

CELEBRATED HORSE CASE ENDS

VALPARAISO, Ind., Feb. 26 (AP)—Special Judge Ira C. Tilton yesterday dismissed Porter county's celebrated horse case, which has been in local courts off and on for 13 years, piling up costs of more than $1000. The Judge characterized the case, which was coming up for the eighth time, as "a disgrace to the legal profession."

The case got its start when Ben Anderson sold a mare to Ben and Vernon Kuehl and took a $100 note. The Kuehls declared the horse was unsound and refused to pay. Anderson repossessed the horse and began suit to collect the note.

TRUMAN HAS CHILI WITH SEVERAL OLD FRIENDS IN SENATE

Invited When He Expresses Liking for Dish—Snyder Also There.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—President Truman ate some chili today with old friends in the Senate.

When Charles G. Ross, White House press secretary, was asked if the President might be interested in pressing for confirmation of Edwin W. Pauley for Under Secretary of the Navy, Ross said that had nothing to do with the luncheon.

Leslie L. Biffle, Senate secretary, mentioned in conversation with Truman that he was having some Senators in to eat chili that a friend had brought from Arkansas. The President said he liked chili, too, so Biffle invited him along. Other guests included Attorney General Tom Clark and Reconversion Director Snyder.

The chili had been prepared by Ernie Ahlfeldt, business man of Fort Smith, Ark., who has a reputation as a chili maker.

Listen for the dial tone!

Equipment is working at capacity to serve more waiting customers

THE dial switches that handle telephone calls are mighty busy these days. We're making them work harder because there are fewer left in reserve to handle surges of calls which occur during bad weather or in advance of holidays. With hundreds of families without telephone service, it has seemed best to use up such reserve equipment to bring service to some of the people waiting.

To telephone users generally, during most hours of the day, there will be little difference in the speed of service. During busy hours, when the heaviest volume of calls is made, some people may find that the dial tone is slightly delayed. Thus, it is important to listen for the dial tone before dialing.

As fast as possible, we are pushing the installation of new equipment here, so that we can bring service to all those who are waiting.

In the meantime, please remember:

You'll avoid trouble and wrong numbers. Thank you.

5 MORE INCOME TAX DEFICIENCY CASES SETTLED

Paramount Concrete Vault Co. Pays $4404 and George W. Milius Estate $5658.

Five more settlements of tax deficiency claims were entered today as hearings were continued by the United States Tax Court, which convened yesterday. Twenty-one of 88 cases on the docket were settled yesterday.

In a stipulation filed today, the Paramount Concrete Vault Co., with offices in the Syndicate Trust Building, agreed to pay a $2936 income and excess profits tax deficiency for the years 1936 to 1940 inclusive and a 50 per cent penalty of $1468.

The Internal Revenue Bureau charged the company with making arbitrary write-ups of corporate expenses to meet predetermined net income figures.

In other stipulations today the estate of George W. Milius settled a claim deficiency in estate taxes of $24,650 with a payment of $5658. William Milius agreed to pay $1866 on a 1941 gift tax deficiency claim of $4506. The $3299 estate tax claim against the estate of Edith B. Collins was settled for $2989, while Samuel M. Koplar compromised a deficiency of $2997 on 1941 income taxes by payment of $353.

Largest of the tax settlements made by stipulation was the estate tax of John Fabick Sr., a tractor dealer, which was settled for $24,290. The Internal Revenue Department had claimed a deficiency of $47,397, based upon a difference in evaluation of common and preferred stocks of the John Fabick Tractor Co., St. Louis, and the Fabick Tractor Co. of Salem, Ill.

Provision to pay $13,000 in estate taxes on the estate of Philander L. Cable, a member of the diplomatic service, was made in another stipulation. A deficiency of $22,628 had been claimed by the Internal Revenue Department.

Payment of $12,677 for gift taxes from 1940 to 1943, inclusive, from the estate of Pericles D. George, paint manufacturer, was agreed on as settlement of a gift tax liability claim of $17,360 in the transfer of stock to his children.

Mrs. Emily Riddle Fowler of LaJolla, Calif., formerly of 63 Kingsbury place, was declared to have made income tax overpayments of $5333 in 1940 and $10,741 in 1941, in another settlement. She had petitioned for a redetermination of an Internal Revenue Department notice that she owed an additional $6423 in taxes for the two years.

LONDON FUR SALES RESUMED

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP)—European and American buyers bought £200,000 ($800,000) worth of furs—at three times prewar prices—in the first big London auction since 1940. Some 700,000 skins are to be sold before the sale ends at Hudson's Bay Co.

Resumption of the fur auctions, which date back to 1672, is London's bid to re-establish itself as a world fur trade center.

Such an agency was suggested by Director of Public Welfare Henry S Caulfield as a means of co-ordinating the rat-control program with the general public health program. Caulfield has opposed setting up a separate division for rat control only because he believes such a division would duplicate work now being done in the health division. The new agency should operate in harmony with the health division, Caulfield said.

Most of the aldermen said a service charge or a special tax should be levied against householders for the ash and rubbish collection service. They said the cost to property owners would be less than it is now for collection by private haulers.

The $5 annual charge, suggested as one method for financing rubbish and ash collection, would be fair and adequate, most of the aldermen believed.

Estimates of the annual cost of providing the municipal service range around $1,200,000. The $5 charge against each householder would yield an estimated $1,250,000 annually.

Estimates of the initial cost of purchasing and installing trucks and equipment vary from $1,750,000 to $2,600,000.

Mayor Aloys P. Kaufmann said yesterday that he had under consideration several methods of financing the service, including the annual service charge. Others included an increase in the cigarette tax; a new tobacco tax; a city income tax; a city sales tax; an attempt to get a portion of the state sales tax collected here, and increased real and personal taxes.

The Mayor said it was his firm purpose to establish municipal collection of rubbish and ashes and to get a strong rat control program in effect this year. Members of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, which consists of the Mayor, Comptroller Louis Nolte and President Albert Schweitzer of the Board of Aldermen, agree that funds should be raised for the purpose. The financial aspects of the program will be referred by the Mayor to the Board of Estimate this week.

Believes Bond Issue Unnecessary.

The Mayor said he felt it would not be necessary to advocate a bond issue to bear the initial cost of equipment. The money can be obtained otherwise, he stated. Thirteen of the aldermen said they would support such a proposal if funds for the purchase of equipment could not be obtained immediately otherwise.

All of the aldermen said they felt the public would generally approve either a service charge or a special tax for the collection purposes.

Alderman Louis A. Lange, who introduced a bill to appropriate $750,000 for the collection service, said he thought the amount would be sufficient if the city would use abandoned quarries as dumping places for the rubbish and ashes. He expressed the opinion there were enough such quarries to provide dumping places for the next 10 years.

To Study Other Cities.

Methods of rubbish, garbage and ash disposal used in other large cities will be studied by a committee appointed yesterday by Mayor Kaufmann. The committee also will study financial aspects of the disposal problems.

Some interest has been shown by the Mayor in disposal systems used in Philadelphia and Baltimore, where rubbish, ashes and garbage are all placed in one container by the householder, collected all together and disposed of together in a dump where the refuse is covered with dirt. This system has the advantage of not requiring a separate fleet of trucks for garbage collection and another for rubbish and ash collection. It also does away with the necessity for two sets of disposal facilities.

Members of the committee will be President Milton M. Kinsey of the Board of Public Service; Deputy Comptroller Ray C. Schroeder; Chairman Orville A. Armstrong of the aldermanic Streets and Sewers Committee; Chairman Charles C. Kratovil of the aldermanic Ways and Means Committee; Sewer Commissioner Ernest H. Paffrath; Street Commissioner Henry W. Dawson; Assistant City Counselor Charles F. Hamilton and Director Arthur C. Meyers of the Department of Streets and Sewers.

The committee will leave in about two weeks. Cities in which the studies will be made will include Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and Milwaukee.

G.M.C. AND UNION AGAIN FAIL TO REACH AGREEMENT

'We Just Talked,' Company Spokesman Says —'Everything on Table,' Mediator Adds.

DETROIT, Feb. 26 (AP) — A two-hour session of negotiations in the General Motors strike apparently brought the prolonged work stoppage no closer to a settlement today.

Harry W. Anderson, General Motors vice president in charge of industiral relations, said: "We just talked."

James F. Dewey, special Labor Department mediator, who has sought for nearly a month to bring the company and the CIO United Automobile Workers' Union into agreement on a large number of issues, said:

"We're laying everything on the table."

Union officers, who called the UAW's 200-man council to Detroit for a Friday and Saturday meeting, confirmed Dewey's report on the lack of progress at the federally sponsored negotiations.

"Thus far no agreement has been reached and none is in sight," UAW Vice President Walter P. Reuther told locals in a telegram that announced the weekend meeting, at which top union officers will give a detailed report on progress of the strike.

Last week Dewey announced "tentative" agreement on the maintenance of membership issue, but said the knotty problems of wages and promotions were still under consideration.

The conferees held two sessions yesterday. C. E. Wilson, G.M.C. president, returned to the parleys in the afternoon for the first time since last Wednesday, when he absented himself because of illness.

Condemnation of President Truman's policy in relation to the strike came from UAW President R. J. Thomas, who declared the President "let us down by not seeing that the report of his fact-finding committee was carried out."

Thomas referred to a recommendation that General Motors pay a 19½ cent (17.5 per cent) hourly wage increase, which the UAW agreed to accept after first demanding a 30 per cent boost. General Motors turned down the board's report, and later offered an increase of 18½ cents hourly (16.5 per cent.)

Thomas's assertion was in answer to a suggestion from Senator Claude D. Pepper (Dem.), Florida, who spoke here Sunday, that the President call both sides to a Washington conference.

The walkout now lacks one day of tying in length the longest strike in the history of the auto industry—a 99-day tieup last fall of the Ford Motor Co. of Canada.

FRANCE TO CLOSE FRONTIER WITH SPAIN MARCH 1

These developments followed a 24-hour stoppage of postal relations with Spain by the Postal Workers' Union and protest demonstrations in Paris, Bordeaux and Casablanca.

The Hilversum radio said dock workers at Rotterdam voted at a mass meeting not to load any more ships bound for Spain.

BRITISH INQUIRY INTO EXECUTIONS

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP)—The British Foreign Office today instructed Sir Victor Mallet, British ambassador to Madrid, to "make a full report" on the execution of a Spanish anti-Fascist leader, Cristino Garcia. The message preceded by a few hours Franco's decision to close the French-Spanish frontier.

The message asked for investigation of the execution of Garcia and nine other Spanish republicans and the trial of 37 persons charged with the reorganization of the Socialist party in Spain.

A Foreign Office spokesman said Mallet probably would "informally notify" Franco's government that courts-martial of Spanish republicans when they were not in the armed forces were having a "deplorable effect on public opinion" in Britain.

A dispatch by William Stoneman, Chicago Daily News-Post-Dispatch correspondent in London, said Britain apparently was unwilling to join in any open move against Franco until an adequate substitute had been found for him. He wrote that London felt that a premature move might be abortive and result in cementing Franco's position.

A General's Horses.

SAN FRANCISCO—Two Army cavalrymen cornered Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell at the U.S.O. here and got to talking about horses. "Say, general," one asked, "did you have any horses over in the China-Burma-India theater?" "Yes," replied the general with a sly smile, "and mighty tasty they were."

He has been ordered to pay $60 a month for support of his divorced second wife and two children—for a total of $148 a month. The judge, continuing the case, suggested that Panure consult both an attorney and a mathematician.

3 HELD IN CANADA SPY CASE CANNOT EVEN SEE LAWYERS

OTTAWA, Feb. 26 (AP)—H. P. Hill of Ottawa, attorney retained by the families of two persons detained in Canada's espionage case, has protested against the government's refusal to permit anyone on the "outside" to confer with the 13 persons under detention.

Hill, in a statement, said the two-man royal investigating commission had issued a "unique ruling" which barred outside contact with those held until questioning was completed.

F. P. Varcoe, deputy minister of justice, told reporters no lawyers had attempted to invoke habeas corpus proceedings. Hill's statement said "no counsel would be willing to take such a serious step" as opening habeas corpus proceedings without first consulting with his client.

TWO SHORT STOPOVERS HERE FOR CHURCHILL

(Picture in Everyday Magazine.)

President Truman and Winston Churchill will spend two 15-minute periods in St. Louis next Tuesday on their way to and from Fulton, Mo., where the former British prime minister will speak at Westminster College.

The party will arrive by special train over the Baltimore & Ohio at 8:45 a.m. and depart at 9 over the Missouri Pacific for Jefferson City, arriving at 10:30.

The group will leave the train here and participate in a short parade before proceeding by automobile to Fulton, where the college ceremonies are scheduled to start at 3 o'clock. Churchill will be introduced by Truman. Churchill's subject will be "World Affairs."

After the address, the party will drive back to Jefferson City, where it will re-board the train at 5:30 and return to St. Louis. The train will arrive here at 8 p.m. and depart 15 minutes later for Columbus, O.

On the following day the President will address a special meeting of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America at Columbus on "The Place of Religion in an American Democracy." Churchill will not leave the train at Columbus but will continue on to Washington. President Truman plans to fly to Washington after his Columbus speech.

At Jefferson City today the Senate adopted a resolution, which also will be passed by the House, directing appointment of a committee of four members from each chamber to welcome the Truman-Churchill party in Jefferson City.

Churchill Anxious to Return to Britain, He Says.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—Winston Churchill, making his first public speech since he arrived in the United States last January, told a crowd of 18,000 persons in the Orange Bowl today that he was anxious to return to England because of "the accounts I read of the severity of life" there.

Garbed in the scarlet robe and cap of Oxford University, Churchill received an honorary doctor of laws degree from Dr. Bowman F. Ashe, president of the University of Miami.

FUNERAL FOR SISTER EUGENIA

Funeral services for Sister Eugenia of the Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at the chapel of Marillac Seminary, 7800 Natural Bridge road, Normandy. Formerly Catherine Kehoe of Chicago, she entered the order in 1882 in Paris, France. She joined the faculty of the old St. Vincent's Seminary here in 1883 as an instructor in art, and after holding similar positions in Maryland and Virginia, returned to the school in 1897, remaining until its closing in 1909. She was sacristan of the Marillac chapel from 1909 until her death.

LACK OF STEEL STILL HALTS WORK ON RAILWAY CARS

Production operations at the St. Louis plant of the American Car & Foundry Co., 2800 DeKalb street, continued at a standstill today, because of depletion of the company's supply of steel for railroad car construction. At District Manager T. A. Dooley's office it was stated that not all the 1500 employes are idle, but that the greater part of them are off duty until a new supply of steel is received from eastern mills.

The management expects to resume work as soon as arrival of material will permit. The steel mills resumed operations at the beginning of last week, following a four weeks' strike.

PROGRESSIVE MINE UNION PREPARED TO CUT AFL TIES

PMW President Accuses Federation of Breaking Faith by Admitting John L. Lewis.

By SPENCER R. McCULLOCH
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 26.—John Marchiando, president of the Progressive Mine Workers of America, accused the American Federation of Labor today of bad faith and of violating its constitution in readmitting John L. Lewis and his 500,000 United Mine Workers.

Speaking at a special rank and file convention, called because the future of the Progressive union is at stake, Marchiando said the AFL action was in disregard of the AFL charter issued the Progressives in 1938, which gave that union exclusive jurisdiction over all AFL miners in the country. Issuance of the charter to the Progressives came after Lewis had withdrawn and formed the CIO.

In the AFL setup, Lewis and his UMW members will cast 5000 votes at the convention this fall, based one one vote for each 100 members whose dues are shared by the federation. The Progressives, who have paid dues on an inflated membership of 35,000 in order to maintain substantial voting representation, have never cast more than 350 votes. Actual working membership of the Progressives is about 10,000.

It was apparent, even as committees were formed yesterday, that the 125 delegates, representing locals in Illinois and Kentucky, were prepared to withdraw from the AFL rather than remain in an organization in which they would be hopelessly outvoted by Lewis, the man against whom they rebelled in 1932 to form the Progressive union.

"We are called upon at this convention," Marchiando said, "to face the fact that the executive council of the American Federation of Labor does not follow the democratic principles as set forth in its constitution. If this policy can be followed by AFL against the Progressive Mine Workers, then no small union in the Federation can be safe from another and larger union by decree of the executive council."

Marchiando recalled congratulatory messages from William Green, president of the AFL, when the Progressives were admitted into the Federation. In one of them Green, after commenting on the democratic nature of the AFL, emphasized that it recognized the right of the Progressives to exercise sole jurisdiction over those employed in the nation's coal mines.

Green took occasion at that time indirectly to assail Lewis by stating that "your program will provide for the substitution of democracy and democratic rule for autocracy and autocratic control."

Marchiando contrasted those sentiments with the situation last month at Miami when the AFL executive council readmitted Lewis, over the protests of the Progressives. When asked where that left the Progressives, Green replied in "status quo," Marchiando said. When he sought written confirmation of Green's decision, which would, in effect, "freeze" the Progressives, he received a telegram suggesting that the Progressive officers meet with representatives of the UMW to "arrive at an understanding" affecting jurisdiction with the status quo prevailing "in the meantime."

The executive board of the Progressives decided not to meet with the officers of the United Mine Workers, Marchiando said, "because the board felt that we had absolutely nothing to discuss with the United Mine Workers."

Action of the convention is subject to a referendum of the membership but a decision of a rank-and-file convention never has been overruled. Three large locals, at Gillespie, Harrisburg and Collinsville, passed pre-convention resolutions to withdraw from the AFL.

Discussion from the floor may include consideration of what to do after leaving the AFL, whether to attempt to function as an independent union or to seek admission to the CIO. The United Mine Workers recently renewed what Hugh White, president of the Illinois District, described to the writer as "a standing invitation" for the Progressives to come back into the fold.

Thirteen resolutions advocating withdrawal from the AFL, including one urging affiliation with the CIO, were submitted today for consideration of the convention.

Congressman Roy Clippinger of Carmi, Ill., announced today that Earl Evans, secretary and treasurer of the Progressives, had been granted a presidential pardon and restoration of his civil rights. Evans was one of 36 Progressives convicted in the 1937 coal train bombing trial. He is a candidate for the Republican nomination for sheriff of Saline county.

protect you as well as the people on the other side of town.

"We have had trouble in the Mink Slide district, but it is all over now and we want everything to be peaceful."

As he passed a small barber shop a pistol shot was fired from inside. Patrolmen quickly surrounded the place and searched it.

Starts Over Radio Repair Job.

The trouble started last night when a Negro woman and her son pushed a white radio repairman through the plate glass window of his shop on the public square in a dispute over a repair job, Sheriff J. J. Underwood said.

The woman and her son, arrested on an assault charge, subsequently were released under bail. As word of the incident spread crowds began to assemble in the square.

A call for assistance was sent to the State Highway Patrol by Columbia's eight-man police department. Later Gov. Jim McCord dispatched 400 State Guardsmen under Brig. Gen. J. N. Dickinson.

While the patrolmen and guardsmen were on their way, Sheriff Underwood said Negroes among the public square crowd withdrew to their section of town. When four Columbia policemen went into the area, they were fired on, he related.

"The four of us made two trips into Mink Slid to assure the people we would keep the peace," said Patrolman Vernon Stofel, who was wounded slightly.

John Fleming, brother of William Fleming, the radio repairman, appealed to the crowd in the public square before midnight to "let well enough alone and don't stir up more trouble."

MAN SAID TO ADMIT FIRING HOME OF ESTRANGED WIFE

Robert J. Moyer, an X-ray technician has admitted he set fire to the home of his estranged wife at 4811 Terrace avenue Feb 11, after he had failed to effect a reconciliation, police reported yesterday.

Police said Moyer told them he broke into the house and saturated her clothing and bedroom furniture with gasoline obtained from a nearby filling station. He placed a pet canary on the back porch of a neighbor and removed a dog from the house before igniting the gasoline. The fire, which was discovered within a few minutes caused $100 damage.

Moyer, a discharged veteran, left for Washington where he tried to get a Civil Service job. He was returned to St. Louis Sunday by a member of the police arson squad. His wife obtained a divorce and restoration of her maiden name, Miss Ruth O'Toole, Feb. 12.

Life Insurance in Force in this Company totalled $7,979,193,102 under 3,401,178 policies at the end of 1945, the largest amount in the history of the Company. The gain in insurance in force during the year, $334,489,672, was the greatest since 1930.

* * *

The assets exceeded the Company's reserves and other liabilities by $231,013,622, which amount constitutes the Company's Surplus Funds held for general contingencies.

* * *

Holdings of United States Government Obligations amounted to $2,319,748,756 as of December 31, 1945. This is more than 60 per cent of the assets. The policy of investing in United States Government bonds aided the Government in World War II, helped to hold in check the forces of inflation, and provided the safest of investments for the Company's funds. The increase during 1945 was $380,643,935.

* * * *

Holdings of All Other Bonds and of Stocks, preferred and guaranteed, aggregated $857,100,505 at the end of 1945. During the year the Company purchased $157,653,493 of such securities, but, largely because of a substantial volume of redemptions and maturities, the holdings decreased by a net amount of $62,484,613, as compared with the end of the previous year.

Holdings of First Mortgages on Real Estate amounted to $354,128,970 at the end of 1945. There were 34,211 of such mortgage loans. During the year the Company made 1,150 new loans of $7,500 or less.

* * *

Reserves Against the Company's Contractual Obligations were further strengthened at the end of 1945. Almost three-fourths of these reserves were computed at 2⅝ per cent or lower interest. The interest rate assumptions reflect the Company's program of taking positive steps to meet the realities of the low yields currently available from the highest quality of investments.

* * *

Dividends payable in 1946 amount to $38,895,341. The New York Life is a mutual company, and dividends are paid to policyholders only.

DEAD on your FEET from FATIGUE?
Then read about this sensible, drugless way to guard against that tired feeling
It is surprising, and shocking too, how many people go along day after day so tired, so tuckered out most of the time, that they find it difficult to do their work and impossible to enjoy life. It isn't that they are sick. There's nothing organically wrong—just that awful fatigue!
Now, while fatigue may be due to a number of causes, it has been proved that in a surprising number of cases, fatigue is due to a lack of three factors in your daily diet—thiamine, essential for the normal functioning of the nervous system; riboflavin and niacin.
All three are factors in B Complex vitamins. All three are equally important.
The sensible, honest and inexpensive way to guard against B deficiency . . . the way to help avoid that constant nagging fatigue . . . is to supplement your diet with BEXEL. BEXEL is a remarkable product—an easy-to-take capsule which contains concentrated amounts of thiamine, riboflavin and niacin. If you will take BEXEL over a reasonable period and if, at the same time, you will follow the common sense rules of getting a reasonable amount of sleep, and eating a good diet, then . . . well, you'd be amazed how many thousands of people have been helped to joyous vitality and radiant energy by BEXEL.
BEXEL contains no artificial stimulants that let you down. It is the new, modern way to insure against loss of energy and fatigue due to dietary deficiency of B Complex.
Get BEXEL today in your drug store. Or ask your doctor what he thinks of this wonderful preparation. Made by one of America's outstanding laboratories—McKesson & Robbins, Inc., Bridgeport, Conn.

U. S. SAID TO BE 15 YEARS AHEAD OF RUSSIA ON ATOM

Dr. Arthur Compton Thinks Britain Might Catch Up in 5 or 10.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 26 (AP)—The United States is 15 to 20 years ahead of Russia in development of atomic energy, in the opinion of Dr. Arthur H. Compton, chancellor of Washington University, St. Louis, and a leader in development of the atomic bomb.

Here to address the Kansas City branch of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, Dr. Compton was asked in an interview how long the United States advance might last.

"If our advance should be limited to mere technical improvements," he replied, "I'd say Britain could catch and possibly pass us in 10 years and possibly in five years. It would take twice as long for Russia. Russia has adequate scientific backing . . . But their industrial task is difficult. They need highly developed industries to turn ou the things needed."

drinking a lye solution. When arrested he had burns around the mouth but apparently had spit out the solution. After he was pronounced insane his brother, Turner Cochran, was notified and on Sunday was told to make arrangements to have him placed in an institution.

It was then that Turner Cochran called at Floyd's home and found the wife's body. Neighbors said they had heard shots about 7 a.m., but thought Cochran was shooting rabbits.

Until about a year ago Cochran was employed as an odd jobs man at the Ellis Fischel State Cancer Hospital here, but was discharged because of "instability," hospital officials said. His home is in the northwest part of town, near the hospital and about two miles from the Jenkins home.

The Jenkins case has had state and local police mystified since her half-clad body was found with a lamp cord wrapped tightly around her neck. She had been assaulted. Miss Jenkins, 20 years old, had been graduated from the college last June and was to have started a kindergarten teaching job here this month.

Negotiated Power Purchase.

Krug was graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1929. After leaving college, he worked for the Wisconsin Telephone Co., and then was employed by the Wisconsin Public Service Commission at the request of David Lilienthal, a commissioner who is now chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Later he was employed by the Federal Communications Commission. After more than a year at the FCC, Krug joined TVA in 1937 to take charge of power operations.

He directed the purchase of the private power firms in the area, the largest deal being the $80,000,000 transaction with the Tennessee Electric Co., controlled by Commonwealth and Southern of which the late Wendell Willkie was president. Krug and Willkie negotiated the transaction.

Krug was appointed head of the power branch of the Office of Production Management in June, 1941, and held the same position with WPB until he became deputy director general in August, 1942. He later succeeded Donald M. Nelson as chairman.

BOARD REFUSES TO REVOKE TWO CAB FIRMS' PERMITS

A petition by Local No. 22 of the CIO United Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Employes, claiming to represent a majority of the drivers of the Careful and Calumet Negro taxicab companies, for revocation of the companies' permits on the ground they had ceased business, was denied today by the Board of Public Service.

George L. Vaughan, lawyer representing the firms, told the board the companies had been unable to operate because of picketing by members of Local No. 22 who are involved in a dispute with Local No. 1325 of the CIO Taxicab Drivers' Union, which also claims to represent the employes. He said the companies have contracts with Local No. 1325.

Local No. 22 contended the companies have not operated since Jan. 28 and therefore their franchises should be revoked in compliance with a city ordinance, but the board ruled the companies had not ceased operations voluntarily.

SENATE COMMITTEE AGAINST RELEASING DRAFTED FATHERS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—The Senate military committee today rejected by an 8-to-5 vote a measure designed to effect the immediate release from the armed forces of all drafted fathers.

Senator Revercomb (Rep.), West Virginia, who has been pressing a campaign for release of non-volunteer fathers for several months, again brought the matter before the committee, which several months ago rejected a similar bill.

PERMIT FOR SEAPLANE BASE AT MARKET STREET APPROVED

Issuance of a permit for operation of a seaplane base in the Mississippi River at the foot of Market street was approved today by the Board of Public Service on recommendation of Director of Streets and Sewers Arthur C. Meyers and Director of Public Utilities Harry C. Brockhoff. Two other applications to operate seaplane bases in the river were denied.

The board approved the application of two brothers, Macon and Lt. Col. Cecil Petty, operators of the Petty Marine Flying Service, Hartford, Ill., for permission to anchor a barge, 160 feet long and 40 feet wide, off the levee immediately south of the foot of Market street. The barge will be used as hangar, shop, office and restaurant in operation of a passenger charter service. Issuance of the permit is contingent on posting of a $5000 bond with the city, payment of $300 annual rent, installation of proper fire protection equipment under supervision of the Fire Department, and approval of the design and construction of the barge.

One of the two applications which the board turned down on recommendation of Meyers and Brockhoff was filed by James B. Irwin, 7901 Teasdale court, University City. Two partners, Capt. A. W. Courtial Jr., 8746 Granada place, Jennings, and W. J. Westerfield, 3401 Dunnica street, filed the second.

FOUR SCHWELLENBACH AIDS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—Four $10,000-a-year assistants for the Secretary of Labor were recommended yesterday by the Senate Labor Committee after a brief appeal by Secretary Schwellenbach. He asked for an under secretary and three assistant secretaries, all to be appointed by the President, subject to Senate confirmation.

At present the Labor Department has two assistant secretaries at $9000 a year, not subject to Senate confirmation. These places would be abolished by the measure, introduced last July by Chairman Murray (Dem.), Montana.

RED ARMY, NAVY, AIRFORCE MERGED, STALIN AT HEAD

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Feb. 26 (AP) — The Red Army, Navy and Air Force were unified today in a single department, the Peoples' Commissariat of the Armed Forces of the U.S.S.R., under the command of Generalissimo Stalin.

The three fighting forces were consolidated by decree of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet, which designated Stalin "peoples' commissar of the armed forces and supreme commander in chief of the armed forces."

The navy commissariat was abolished in the new organization and the defense commissariat was transformed into the new unified commissariat. Other than centralization, the merger means that the Red Navy no longer will operate under a separate commissariat. Admiral of the Fleet Nikolai G. Kuznetzov has been Navy Commissar since 1939.

The unification was declared to be of "enormous significance" by the government newspaper Izvestia in a three-column front-page editorial. It said:

"Under the leadership of Generalissimo Stalin, the Armed Forces of the U.S.S.R. will henceforth . . . improve and develop to the dread of the enemies of Soviet power for the welfare of our people and the cause of peace in the entire world.

"The Soviet people were doing and will be doing everything in order that the Red Army does not stay behind any army of any country whatever with regard to different kinds of armament, and from all members of our armed forces we require that they ceaselessly perfect their military and political plans."

KEITEL APPROVED KILLING CAPTIVES, REPORT ASSERTS

Goering and Kaltenbrunner Also Said to Have Sanctioned Shooting of 50 Recaptured Britons.

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

NUERNBERG, Feb. 26 (AP)—Charges that Hermann Goering, Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel and Ernst Kaltenbrunner, chief of the Nazi Security Police sanctioned the execution by the Nazis of 50 recaptured Royal Air Force prisoners of war were made in a British report introduced before the international military tribunal today.

The report quoted German Maj. Gen. Westhoff as saying that Keitel, in a stormy interview with him in Berlin, complained that he (Keitel) "had been blamed by Goering in the presence of (Heinrich) Himmler for having let prisoners of war escape."

Seventy-six R.A.F. officers broke out of Stalag Luft 3 camp at Sagan, in Silesia, March 24, 1944. Fifteen were seized immediately and returned to the camp. Three escaped altogether, eight were detained by the Gestapo and the ashes of 50 others were returned under mysterious circumstances.

Keitel Quoted.

The report, introduced by Soviet prosecutors over bitter defense objections, stated that Keitel told Westhoff and Gen. von Graevenitz, inspector of the German prisoner of war organization:

"Gentlemen, these escapes must stop. We must set an example. We shall take very severe measures. I can only tell you that the men who have escaped will be shot; probably a majority of them are dead already."

When Von Graevenitz objected, the report said, Keitel shouted: "I don't care a damn. We discussed it in the Fuehrer's presence and it cannot be altered."

In fighting against introduction of the report, Keitel's attorney said that the Soviet prosecution was maneuvering to get Westhoff's allegations into the record after the charges previously had been excluded by the tribunal when presented in the form of an affidavit by the French prosecution.

Defense Wins Point.

The defense attorney insisted that Westhoff should be produced by the Allies from Nuernberg prison and made available for cross-examination if the British report was accepted. The tribunal, in accepting the report, stipulated that Westhoff and a Col. von Lindeiner should be permitted to testify for the defense.

2 HELD AFTER BRAWL IN HOTEL TAP ROOM

Hotel Man Slugged, Policeman Kicked, Furniture Broken.

Nick Blassie, president of the AFL Meatcutters' Union, and John Christ Milanovits, a member of the union, were held under $500 bond each today following a free-for-all in the taproom of Hotel Jefferson late yesterday in which a hotel official was slugged, a policeman was kicked and some furniture was broken.

The affray started, witnesses said, with Blassie hitting an unidentified man, who was standing beside him and Milanovits at the bar. But before police arrived, they reported, "everybody was swinging haymakers at everyone else and at one point Blassie hit Milanovits."

During this stage of the brawl, participants ignored tables and chairs, striding through them as though they weren't there. Tables fell and the ashtrays that were on them slithered across the floor in splinters.

When police arrived, they said, Blassie and Milanovits were standing in the center of the floor offering to take on all comers. When Patrolman Richard O'Connell placed Blassie under arrest, he said, Blassie struck Frank Teich, assistant to Max L. Teich, president of the hotel, in the face.

In the courtyard of Police Headquarters, O'Connell said, Blassie kicked him and inside Blassie ripped the telephone receiver from a pay telephone, slammed it to the floor and smashed it.

Teich estimated that 20 ashtrays, valued at $7; 30 glasses valued at $7.50, and two chairs, valued at $12, were broken in the fight. Blassie and Milanovits were booked suspected of peace disturbance and destruction of property. An additional chtrge of resisting arrest was placed against Blassie.

HEARING MARCH 7 FOR MAN SUSPECTED OF BURGLARY

A preliminary hearing for Roy E. Nation, 3710 Grandel square, on charges of burglary and larceny, will be held March 7 before Justice of the Peace Taylor W. Strubinger at Clayton. Nation is held in jail at Clayton under $5000 bond, on a warrant issued yesterday by Strubinger.

Al Drier, operator of a filling station at 1353 Pennsylvania avenue, identified a box containing 14 cartons of cigarettes and a coffee maker as having been stolen from his station in a burglary Sunday night, police said. The cigarettes and coffee maker, together with a loaded pistol and a suitcase containing burglar tools, were found in an automobile in which Nation was seated early yesterday on Lucas-Hunt road and Lillian avenue, the sheriff's office said.

Nation told Deputy Sheriff August Piotraschke, who arrested him after making a routine check of the automobile, that he had bought the cigarettes. He denied breaking into the station. Entrance to the building was gained by breaking a hole through a concrete block wall.

MAN ROBBED OF $180 IN TRUCK

John Williams, 4738 Delmar boulevard, a bakery truck driver, reported today that he was assaulted and robbed of $180 last night by a soldier and sailor with whom he had had some drinks in a tavern at Broadway and Market streets.

The robbery occurred, he said, when he drove them in his truck to inspect the Old Cathedral at Third and Walnut streets. The money was his own, the robbers overlooking $28 belonging to his employer.

YOU WOULD NEVER DREAM SHE HAD GRAY HAIR

So skillfully and daintily has she darkened her graying hair that she has kept it her own secret. The recipe below has solved the gray hair problem for thousands, as it should for you. Right in your own home, too.

Get from your druggist one ounce bay rum, one-fourth ounce glycerine, one box Barbo Compound. Mix in half-pint of water or have druggist prepare for you at small cost. Simply comb into the hair as directed. Gray, faded, streaked hair gradually darkens, and takes on new color and beauty. This color is easily maintained, does not wash out or affect permanents. So gradual is the change that it is hardly noticed by anyone. That your hair was ever gray is soon forgotten.

If you want a professional looking job of hair tinting at home cut out and take this Barbo recipe to your druggist today. It's easy to use and money-saving. No skin test necessary. You can't go wrong if you follow the simple directions. In use over 30 years.

What's doin' in the Panhandle and West Texas?

Someone once figured out that Texas, north to south, looked like a pan, the narrower section providing the handle. Therefore the name started and stuck: Texas Panhandle.

Plenty, mister!

Cities, farms and industrial plants dot the landscapes in the Panhandle and West Texas where once only cattle trails held sway.

Oil wells are pouring out 150,000 barrels of oil per day.

Helium and natural gas are coming out of the earth by thousands of cubic feet.

Eighty per-cent of the world's supply of carbon black used in making printer's ink, automobile tires and other commodities is being produced.

Today—look at a Santa Fe freight rolling out of the Panhandle or West Texas. You'll find cattle cars, wheat cars, tank cars, coal cars, helium cars and cars filled with synthetic rubber, cotton, wool, turkeys, pecans and other important products.

World Council of Churches Says Atom Bomb Threatens to Destroy Man Unless His Outlook Changes

'We Pray God That United Nations Will Save Future Generations From Scourge of War, But Time Is Short'—Victors Have 'Responsibility to God.'

GENEVA, Feb. 26 (AP)

CHURCHMEN from 32 nations warned yesterday that atomic energy might destroy civilization and said they were praying "that the United Nations will. . . save future generations from the scourge of war."

A statement issued by the provisional committee of the World Council of Churches, at the conclusion of a week's conference, said "the time is short," and "unless man's whole outlook is changed, our civilization will perish."

The statement urged the Allies not to seek vengeance against their former enemies "by depriving them of the necessities of life or by mass expulsion of their populations." It appealed "especially to the governments of the five great powers to rise to their responsibilities to the world."

The committee represents 87 Protestant church bodies and three Russian Orthodox groups.

The message was drafted by a subcommittee headed by Dr. Hendrick Kraemer, professor of religious history at the University of Leyden and a member of the Netherlands Reformed Church.

Text of Statement.

Following is the text of the message:

"The world today stands between life and death. Men's hopes of a better world have not been fulfilled. Millions are enduring intolerable suffering. The nations seem impotent to deal with the crucial problems of international order. A heavy burden weighs upon all mankind.

"We face this crisis as Christians, whose own consciences are gravely disturbed. Yet God in His mercy has committed to us the ministry of His word, and that word we are bound to declare. Men are going the way of death because they disobey God's will. All renewal depends upon repentance, upon turning from our own way to God's way. He is calling men to a supreme decision.

"'I have set before you life and death: Therefore choose life.'

"War is the result of human self-will and men's tragic inability to find the true solution of their conflicts. We pray God that the United Nations will choose the way of life and save future generations from the scourge of war. But the time is short. Man's triumph in the release of atomic energy threatens his destruction. Unless men's whole outlook is changed, our civilization will perish.

"Illusory Peace."

"An illusory peace is little better than war. No peace can be lasting unless it is built on true spiritual foundations. We appeal to all men of good will and all who believe in spiritual values and forces to work together for an order of justice and humanity.

"All nations are under the judgment of God. Those that have been defeated are suffering a fearful retribution. But the springs of their recovery are within, and if they turn to God and heed the voices of those among them who, even in the darkest days, withstood the forces of evil, they can yet take their proper place in a world community. The victorious nations have also suffered greatly, but their victory brings with it a new responsibility to God. They should combine justice with mercy. To seek vengeance against their former enemies by depriving them of the necessities of life, or by mass expulsion of their populations, or in any other manner, can only bring fresh disaster.

"National Egotism a Sin."

"There must be a new beginning in the relationships of all nations. The nation has its own place in God's purpose for mankind, but national egotism is a sin against the Creator of all peoples, great and small alike. No nation can fulfill God's purpose for itself which fails to answer His call for full co-operation and fellowship with other nations as members of one family. There is a mutual interdependence between social order and international order.

"We therefore appeal especially to the governments of the five great powers to rise to their responsibilities to the world. It was by the union of their forces that they won victory in the war. We ask them to unite their whole strength in a common purpose now for the establishment of a world community of free peoples. Unless they turn from their old ways of reliance upon mere might and own their subjection to God's law of righteousness and love, they pursue the way of disaster and death. 'I have set before you life and death: Therefore choose life.'

Duty of Christians.

"A special duty is laid upon the churches to help the nations to choose the way of life. Christians are called to be the salt of the earth and the light of the world. To them is given the ministry of reconciliation. It is their responsibility to bear witness by word and deed that the law of God finds its fulfillment in the love of Christ. We call upon all followers of Christ to do whatever they can to help those who are enduring the terrible need and suffering of the present day, and to strive after a better order in which the rights of man will be fully recognized and protected. We trust that those churches which are stronger will continue to aid the churches in the liberated and suffering countries, and that all will increasingly support the world mission of the church. We earnestly urge that all pray without ceasing for forgiveness, for unity, and for real human brotherhood.

"We ourselves give thanks to God for our ecumenical fellowship in Christ. Through the years of war that fellowship has been broadened and deepened, and by God's grace we have discovered anew that He strengthens us in the universal fellowship of His holy church. We rejoice that we have been able to come together again after the trials of these years, and have found our hearts knit together in Christian love.

"We testify that in this first meeting after the war we have met and worked together as one brotherhood in a spiritual unity in Christ which has transcended our differences. For this experience our hearts are glad and thankful, and in it we see a sign of hope for all mankind. In this God hath made known to us the mystery of His will, that in the dispensation of the fullness of times He might gather together in one all things in Christ. He is our peace. In Him is the life of mankind.

"'I have set before you the life and death: Therefore choose life.'"

Pope Explains Silence in War Against Russia

Resisted Pressure to Approve or Encourage Nazi Attack, He Says.

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 26 (AP)

POPE PIUS XII asserted last night that when the Nazis attacked the Soviet Union in 1941 he had resisted pressure to approve or to encourage that war.

"We had a constant preoccupation with the spreading conflict which was so deathly to poor humanity," he said. "That is why, especially, we refrained, despite certain tendentious pressure, from letting escape from our lips or from our pen one word alone, one indication of approval or of encouragement in favor of the war engaged against Russia.

"Surely no one could count on our silence when the faith or the foundations of Christian civilization are at stake. But on the other hand, there is no people who we do not wish with all sincerity of our soul to live in dignity, in peace, in prosperity within their frontiers."

Further clarifying the Vatican's position during the war, the Pope said:

"On no occasion have we ever wanted to say one word which was unjust, nor fail in our duty of reproving all evil, all acts worthy of being reproved, at the same time, however, avoiding, when the facts justified it, some expressions which were of a nature to do more bad than good, above all to innocent populations under the lash of the oppressor."

The Pope's remarks were made in an address at a reception to diplomats and members of the College of Cardinals.

"That which we have in sight in all the manifestations of our thought and our will," the Pope said, "is of leading all people from the cult of force to respect for law and of promoting among all men a just and solid peace—a peace able to guarantee to all at least a tolerable life.

"Such a peace will not be a day's work. It will take much time, much trouble."

Plea to Diplomats for Aid.

The Pope said he found the gathering of diplomats significant, not so much as homage to himself, as a "common demarche . . . the manifestation of a spontaneous adherence to the great principles of peace and union that, since our coming, we have without cease recalled to the world."

"We have above all," he said, "the most convincing testimony of a unanimous will to collaborate in this spirit in a great restoration of human society, in the establishment of a new order founded on truth, justice and love."

He called on the diplomats to assist in the task by trying "to facilitate as much as possible communications and relations between countries." He also besought their aid for those exiled from their homelands by war and political upheavals.

The Pope, who mingled freely with the cardinals and diplomats during the brief reception, sent a special message to President Truman through Franklin C. Gowen, aide to Myron C. Taylor, special presidential representative to the Vatican.

The Pope chatted at some length with John Cardinal Glennon of St. Louis and Clemens Cardinal (Count) von Galen of Muenster, who were seated together.

INVITATION TO FURTWAENGLER FROM VIENNA IS WITHDRAWN

VIENNA, Feb. 26 (AP) — The Austrian Investigating Committee, which invited Dr. Wilhelm Furtwaengler, former director of the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra, to conduct the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra after he had been barred from appearing in the American zone in Germany, said yesterday it had withdrawn this invitation.

The Austrian committee was said to have been advised by American authorities of the continuing restriction against the director in the American zone.

Summary of Pearl Harbor Inquiry

Adm. Kimmel and Gen. Short Contend They Were Not Adequately Informed, Adm. Stark and Gen. Marshall Say They Were—Conflicting Testimony on Details.

This is the first of a series of four articles coherently summarizing the confusing strands of testimony before the Congressional Pearl Harbor investigating committee.

By CLARKE BEACH

WASHINGTON.

BOTH the Army and Navy commanders at the scene of the Pearl Harbor disaster contended before the congressional investigating committee that they had not been adequately informed of the danger of attack.

Against this contention, Adm. Harold R. Stark, then chief of naval operations, told the committee that eleven times between Oct. 16 and Dec. 7, 1941, Adm. Husband E. Kimmel at Pearl Harbor received specific warnings from the Navy Department of possible hostile action and Gen. George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff at the time, testified that Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short had been clearly told that war was possible. An alert defense would have prevented all but limited damage, Gen. Marshall added.

Both Adm. Kimmel and Gen. Short contended that the Navy and War Departments had withheld from them the most significant information available—a long series of intercepted Japanese code messages, in which Tokyo repeatedly disclosed its warlike intentions. If they had had these, said the commanders, they would have been thoroughly alerted and prepared for attack.

Army intelligence officers testified that as early as June 1941, Gen. Short was sent a report that the Japanese were building small submarines to attack the fleet at Pearl Harbor. Gen. Short showed this report to Adm. C. C. Bloch, commandant of the Hawaiian naval district, those officers said, and on Nov. 5 was sent an intelligence summary revealing that Japan's powerful Black Dragon Society expected war with the United States in December or February.

Testimony showed that Adm. Kimmel and other Pacific naval commanders on Oct. 16 had been informed by Adm. Stark of the fall of the supposedly moderate Konoye Cabinet in Japan with the warning that sudden action against the United States and Britain should be considered a possibility. Adm. Kimmel did not dispute this.

Niemoeller Says Germans Must Share War Guilt

FRANKFURT, Germany, Feb. 26 (AP).

IN a secret speech to diehard Nazis confined in the American Seventh Army internment camp, Pastor Martin Niemoeller said the German people must share the "mountain of guilt" for the war and not try to lay all the blame on the Nazis or war criminals.

Niemoeller's speech, made several days ago, was not released until last night. He declared the church had failed in Germany because it failed to rouse people against Nazi concentration camps and other horrors when they first began. He said the church did not speak out until it was attacked.

"My conscience first realized later that I did not protest back in 1933, when my Communist brothers were sent to concentration camps and kept there without trial . . . where they were tortured and killed," Niemoeller said. "My conscience is troubled that it was only in 1935 when the church was attacked did I begin to speak.

"Germany's guilt cannot be disputed and no historical investigations will be able to deny it," asserted Niemoeller, who served in World War I as a submarine commander.

"If one asks who bears the blame for all these murders, no one admits that he is guilty, not even the Gestapo and the S.S. (elite guard). The blame is then put on Himmler and Hitler. In spite of all these, there remains a mountain of guilt, and we Christians must say. 'I am guilty. I am responsible for the mountain of guilt that has grown here.'"

ALDERSHOT RIOTERS MOVED, DAMAGE CELLS AT NEW CAMP

HEADLEY, England, Feb. 26 (AP)—More than 100 soldiers, removed from a British army detention barracks at Aldershot after a 24-hour riot at the weekend, smashed furniture and cell fittings at a Canadian army prison camp here last night.

Canadian and British guards had difficulty ending the demonstration, which followed complaints about food.

MATTER OF FACT

Vandenberg Has the Floor

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

Copyright. 1946

WASHINGTON.

THERE are rare moments when the opinion of a single member is enough to crystallize the majority opinion of the Senate of the United States. Such a moment occurred in the spring of 1939 when the Senate accepted Senator Borah's contention that the British would undergo another Munich rather than fight for Poland. The result was the Senate's refusal to consider revision of the Neutrality Act prior to the outbreak of war.

Such a moment has now occurred again. An astonishing number of Senators have been anxiously awaiting Senator Vandenberg's return from London. His report will largely form their views of the American relationships to the U.N.O., to Britain and to Russia.

Fortunately, the circumstances of the two moments of history are as different as possible. In 1939 Borah was old and tired. He rejected the most solemn warnings from the President and Secretary Hull. Instead, as he told one of your correspondents, he gave great weight to the predictions of the British newsletter, "The Week"—which was and is written by Claud Cockburn, a member of the executive committee of the British Communist party. He was grossly uninformed, and he was tragically wrong.

Vandenberg Vigorous, Active.

In 1946, on the other hand, Vandenberg is vigorous and active. He brings back from London invaluable, direct experience of the realities of the situation. He may judge wrongly, as any man can, but at least he has adequate information on which to base a judgment, and a sense of the seriousness of his act.

What will his report be?

He plans shortly to make a speech, which will constitute the report in full, and may perhaps prove as significant a turning point as the famous speech in which he announced his conviction that the isolationist was no longer possible.

Meanwhile, the general tenor of his views, as they have been further developed at London, can be broadly indicated.

He starts with the proposition, with which few men clinging to sanity can quarrel, that the United Nations Organization represents the last, best hope of world stability and peace. If the U.N.O. cannot, somehow, be made to work, he believes that the old pattern of rivalry and war must repeat itself until the final catastrophe.

At the same time, he does not consider that the U.N.O. is working now in a satisfactory way. He fears that it cannot work, so long as it is merely the public forum for debates so bitter as those between Bevin and Vishinsky, and the stage for maneuvers of real politik so open as those of the Soviet Union.

Finally, and most important of all, he recognizes that the reason why U.N.O. is in danger, is the disturbance in world power relationships arising from the Soviet Union's power drives in the Eastern Mediterranean, the Middle East and the Far East.

The Firm Line.

Such is the best summary that can be offered of his conclusions, which may or may not be fully disclosed on the Senate floor, but will certainly be strongly expressed in the more important talks in the lobby.

What is his remedy? It is risky to report another man's views on so crucial a point, but it seems safe to say that his remedy will be a much firmer American policy toward Russia. He knows the implications of firmness. At the same time, he believes that this country cannot long afford to permit the Soviet Union to continue unchallenged on its present course.

In London, Vandenberg would have preferred much stronger and more open expression of American opposition to the Soviet claims, not in the sense of supporting British interests, but rather in support of what he regards as long-range American interests. He did in fact precipitate one rather mild piece of American outspokenness after Bevin had informed the House of Commons that "political murder in

Better Island Found for Natives Being Displaced for Atom Test

By DON WHITEHEAD

RONGERIK ISLAND, Feb. 26 (AP)

ISLANDERS displaced in preparation for atomic bomb tests will arrive here in a few days from Bikini atoll to build new homes on this lovely, hninhabited island.

There will be no housing problem for the 167 men, women and children when they reach here March 2. Tents will shelter them while they are building thatch-roofed homes of palm trees.

Rongerik is much more beautiful and richer than Bikini and about three times as large. It has a jungle of undergrowth, in contrast to the sparse growth on Bikini. Coconuts here are three or four times as large as those on Bikini.

A Navy seaplane brought Lt. Cmdr. Harold Grieve of Los Angeles and his party here to plan the new village.

While Grieve and Seaman Charles Bogardus of St. Louis selected the site, other members of the party swam in the clear water or climbed coconut trees and tossed down nuts.

Rongerik is 135 miles east of Bikini. Its new inhabitants will be brought here in an LST (landing ship-tank), which they will board with all their chattels March 1.

Concrete will be shipped to Rongerik to build cisterns for rainwater. There are no wells in these low atolls.

Tribal chiefs selected their new home themselves, choosing Rongerik by a vote of nine to three. The 12 chiefs or aleps agreed without protest to leave Bikini and Enyu islands so that the atom bomb tests could be made this spring as planned.

Navigators "by feel" of hundreds of miles of open sea, the islanders knew Rongerik and other islands of the area. As they explain it, they navigate neither by sun nor stars, but by "the feel" of the waves against their tiny outrigger canoes. Trade winds may vary slightly, they say, but sub-surface waves "bounce back" from distant atolls so that their pulsation may be felt as much as 200 miles away.

Seaman 1-C Bogardus, who is 18 years old, enlisted as a Seabee construction worker last April, and has been overseas five months. In a letter received last week by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bogardus Sr., 3938 Garfield avenue, he wrote he was building barracks for the use of scientists engaged in the atomic bomb tests.

BIKINI, Marshall Islands, Feb. 26 (AP)

THERE are two ways to pronounce Bikini, the name of the atoll in which America will test its atomic bombs against a "guinea pig" naval fleet this spring.

Most Americans call it Buhkee-nee, accenting the second syllable and slighting the last. Natives, however, say Bick-in-ih, accenting the first syllable.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Mr. Priest on the Bulwinkle Bill

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

While I know, of course, that the error was not yours, but was in the Congressional Record's report of the debate on the Bulwinkle bill, the remarks ascribed to me in your editorial of Dec. 24 were not made by me and do not represent my opinions. Through error, my name and that of Mr. Russell were transposed in the Record's account of a running colloquy between us, making it appear that remarks actually made by him were made by me. By unanimous consent, the Record has been corrected.

(The extract mis-attributed to Mr. Priest warned the House that passing the bill would deprive the courts of their rights to render decision in pending anti-trust suits by the Justice Department and the State of Georgia. Mr. Priest's account of the bill's purpose appears further down in the letter.—Editor's note.)

As a member of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, it was my privilege to hear much of the testimony at the hearings on this bill and to join in signing the report recommending its passage.

The bill does not exempt railroads or other carriers subject to regulation from the provisions of the anti-trust laws. It does authorize them to enter into such arrangements as are approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission as being in furtherance of the national transportation policy declared by Congress in 1940, but expressly provides that such agreements shall be made only within the several classes of carriers, and not between carriers of different classes. Thus, the bill would not empower the commission to approve any agreement between railroads and motor trucks, for example, or any agreement for a rate bureau representing railroads and motor carriers.

I have been identified with the element in Congress active in seeking to remedy what we conceive to be discrimination in freight rates against the South and the West. Certainly, I would not have supported and voted for the Bulwinkle bill, as I did, had I not been convinced that its passage would in no way impair or impede securing equitable treatment for those sections in matters of rates. This is not my feeling only, but is the overwhelmingly general sentiment of those who have been most active in this movement.

I was interested in your suggestion that there is need for legislation to reconcile the practical conflicts between the Interstate Commerce Act and the Sherman Anti-trust Act. Congress is the only body which can affectively solve the difficulties arising in the area of conflict between the two laws. No court decree could set up the sort of regulatory machinery contemplated in the Bulwinkle bill, nor could any conceivable court action under existing laws provide for a satisfactory and workable solution of these problems.

Glass Houses

If the business endeavors of every man in the Administration were as scrupulously examined as those of Ed Pauley, I dare say there would be many vacant apartments in Washington. People who live in glass houses shouldn't throw stones (with the possible exception of Honest Harold)!

Man of the Year

Paraphrasing Job 1:8, the American people might say, "Hast thou considered my servant Harold, that there is none like him in all the earth, a perfect and an upright man?"

Nominations for Satan are now in order.

A. W. JAMISON.

P. S.: As another example of Mr. Ickes's far-sightedness and consequent invaluable service, we should remember that he alone of all the Cabinet refused to let the Germans buy helium gas, even with their solemn promise that it would never be used in war. If he had assented, how long after the war hit us would it have been before dirigibles would have been sent against the United States?

Service Cars Needed

I am surprised that none of the St. Louis newspapers has commented editorially on the dog-in-the-manger attitude of the Public Service Co. in frantically opposing permits to service car operators.

As one who uses streetcars or busses every day, I am in a position to know that the rush-hour service is utterly inadequate, and that crowding of passengers who must use such service approaches gross indecency.

The service cars provide fairly rapid transit for thousands of people at a moderate price. The riding public should not be deprived of that benefit.

A Slogan for the Press

American newspapers make a great mistake when they invoke the cherished principle of freedom of the press to exempt themselves from laws and regulations that apply to other industries. By so doing they may seriously weaken their position when a completely valid issue arises involving press freedom.

In a recent Supreme Court case, for example, two Oklahoma newspapers and one published in New Jersey sought exemption from the provisions of the wage-hour law, which applies to all industries. The court properly held that there is no constitutional ground for exempting newspapers from the provisions of the law. The court said that the argument that the first amendment knocks out application of the wage-hour law to the publishing business is "a primary misconception."

The use of Article I as a smoke screen does not apply to the wage-hour law alone, but has frequently been used by newspapers and publisher groups in trying to evade laws and regulations applying to business as a whole. An attempt was made in the old NRA days to invoke press freedom as a curb on NRA code provisions. It brought forth this rebuke from President Roosevelt:

> Nobody waives any constitutional rights by assenting to a code. The recitation of the freedom of the press clause (in the newspaper code) has no more place here than would the recitation of the whole Constitution or of the Ten Commandments.
> The freedom guaranteed by the Constitution is freedom of expression and that will be scrupulously respected—but it is not freedom to work children or do business in a fire trap or violate the laws against obscenity, libel and lewdness.

This point was stated as follows in an article by Michael Bradshaw in the Atlantic Monthly:

> Back in the early days of the New Deal, when the National Recovery Act was the chief bone of public contention, the American Newspaper Publishers' Association sent Elisha Hanson, its chief counsel, before the Supreme Court. He was to try to give the Jeffersonian Bill of Rights a Hamiltonian twist by contending that the first amendment to the Constitution gives newspaper owners the right to work their employes longer than other workers and pay them less. Undeterred by one rebuff, Mr. Hanson has been trotting back there ever since to argue that what may be fair and reasonable and lawful for others should never be applied to men engaged in newspaper work, either as employer or as employe.
> Mr. Hanson, who never manages to get to first base, continues to collect his fees from those publishers who accept his contention that the freedom of the press is supposed to be an extra drawer in their cash registers. Led by him, they have been howling to high heaven that the country is going to the dogs, and the free press is going out the window, simply because they have to comply with the wage-hour law and bargain collectively with their employes, the same as anybody else.

There are other instances in which Article I has been misused. In the case of the Wagner Act, the specious plea was made by the American Newspaper Publishers' Association that it violated the freedom of the press clause of the Constitution. In the Associated Press case, while the newspapers had many good arguments, there was no basis for the line of thought that a decision adverse to them would jeopardize their freedom under the Constitution. Still other instances could be cited in which newspapers and publishers' associations have used press freedom as a means of seeking special privilege.

Article I says: "Congress shall make no law... abridging the freedom of speech or of the press." This does not mean that the press, as a business institution, is entitled to be placed in a special category, or that the Government's right to regulate trade and commerce shall not apply to the newspaper industry.

Ever since the Alien and Sedition Acts early in our history, numerous attempts have been made to gag and throttle the press. It would weaken the force of resistance to such actual attacks if the impression gets abroad that the principle is being used for the selfish interests of publishers.

In a recent decision, the Supreme Court in the case of Esquire magazine denied the Post-office Department the right to penalize the publication through higher postal rates because of objections to the nature of its contents. While the Esquire case, because of the character of the magazine, is not a classic one, it does show that press freedom is in perfectly safe hands when a legitimate issue is raised.

We repeat that a good slogan for American journalism is: "Freedom of the press? Emphatically Yes. Special privileges for the newspapers? Emphatically No."

A Thrice-Bad Bill

Representative Priest of Tennessee—see the letter column—raises three questions about the freight-rate controversy:

1. Like the tidelands quitclaim resolution, the bill to legalize rate-making conferences is intended to prevent Supreme Court decision on important pending litigation. He does not defend that aspect of it. Perhaps he knows no defense.

2. Since there is no crucial connection between the bill and the long pursuit of regional freight-rate justice, we have not argued it before. To the extent that they are related, the Southern Congressmen who voted against the bill have a better case than Mr. Priest's. In the hope of building traffic, Southern and Western railroads have sometimes proposed specific reduced rates to Northern markets, and individual Eastern roads, in the same hope, have been sympathetic. But the regional railroad groups—which Mr. Priest has voted to legalize—rule in such matters, and the Eastern group has often ruled Nay.

3. As we have said, Congress should harmonize regulatory policy with the anti-trust laws. But there is abundant evidence (recited in part in our Dec. 24 editorial and in an article reprinted on this page recently) that the rate conferences have restrained competition among their own members and between railroads and other transport agencies—also that the ICC has consented to this usurpation of its power and, on its own part, supported the railroads in cut-throat tactics against barge carriers.

If the Bulwinkle bill becomes law, it will perpetuate these abuses. It will flout the Supreme Court, which alone can define the issue as it stands under present law. Congress can legislate intelligently and in the public interest only after the court has done its unique task. If Congress does not wait for that, it will become a party to the abuses.

Grave Charges on Reich Control

Among the important decisions of the Big Three conference at Potsdam last July and August were these:

> The elimination or control of all German industry that could be used for military production.
>
> All members of the Nazi party who have been more than nominal participants in its activities shall be removed from public and semi-public office and from positions of responsibility in important private undertakings.
>
> Production of metals, chemicals, machinery and other items that are directly necessary to a war economy shall be rigidly controlled and restricted to Germany's approved postwar peacetime needs.
>
> At the earliest practicable date, the German economy shall be decentralized for the purpose of eliminating the present excessive concentration of economic power as exemplified in particular by cartels, syndicates, trusts and other monopolistic arrangements.

How well are the Allies succeeding in uprooting the German militaristic spirit and the German military potential by carrying out the Potsdam policy?

Official statements are usually encouraging, but ominous reports of failure to carry through the de-industrialization and de-Nazification program have been coming from independent observers. Now a challenging new set of charges has been thrown into the controversy in the testimony of Russell A. Nixon, a former American Military Government officer, before the Kilgore committee of the Senate.

The whole program is being sabotaged by AMG administrators, Nixon charges. Cartels are not being broken up; key industrial plants are not effectively controlled; Nazis remain in influential posts; the search for German assets is not being pressed. Of ominous import for the troubled international scene is Nixon's charge that the three other partners are maneuvering Russia out of the picture of German control, in an effort to conceal Fascist ties of their own officials and nationals.

Here are gravely serious charges, documented point by point, made by an eye-witness of the control program. They cannot be dismissed as alarmist or irresponsible. In fact, the reported anti-Russian freeze-out may have a great deal to do with the aloof and suspicious attitude for which Moscow has recently been criticized.

The Nixon charges ought to bring a showdown on the whole disputed matter of imposing drastic and effective controls on Germany to safeguard the world's future peace. Official answers will not be enough. The committee should press the issue until it learns the whole truth, and correction of any failures in this vital program is assured.

Action on Rat Elimination

There is good reason to hope that St. Louis will get rid of its rat evil, as it got rid of the smoke evil, now that Mayor Kaufmann has declared himself solidly behind the proposal, has named a committee of city officials to study methods used in other cities and Board of Estimate members are tackling the problem of financing a permanent program.

It is obvious that the lack of rubbish collection facilities is an important reason that St. Louis is host to its many and thriving colonies of marauding rats. Of the numerous proposals for meeting the cost of a collection system, the ideas for new or increased taxes have far less appeal than the suggestion for a service charge, to be paid by householders for ash and rubbish collection. The estimated $5 a year, or about 10 cents a week, is less than the majority of citizens now pay to private haulers. The plan would have the great merits of being a direct charge and bringing direct results in cleaning up the city.

Measures to this end have been pending before the Board of Estimate for some time, but without result. Now that the Mayor has indorsed the concerted campaign for eliminating the rat plague, he can be expected to join his colleagues on the board in voting for action.

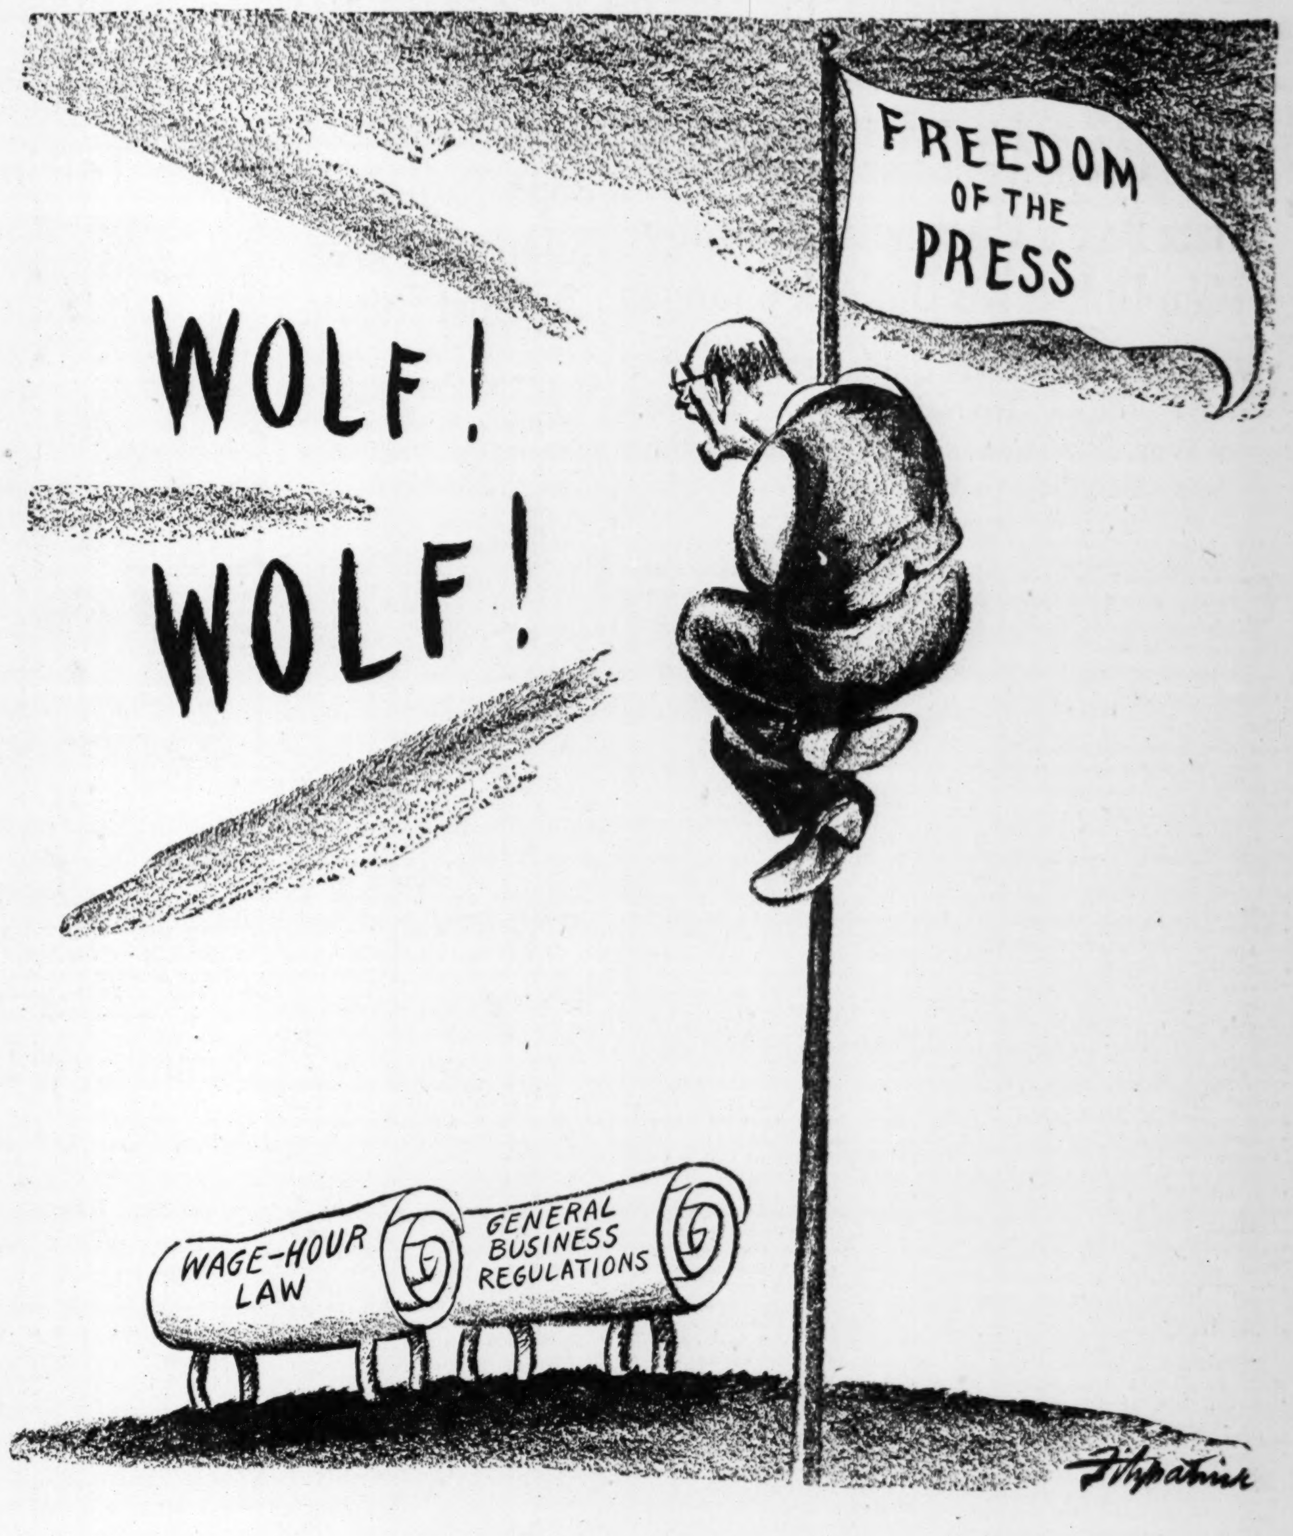
Chinese Pact—Much or Nothing

The first reports of the military understanding between the Chungking Government and the Chinese Communists are hopeful only because they are declared to be so by Gen. Marshall, the special envoy from the United States, who had already done much to narrow the political breach between the two factions. What has been announced of the formal terms is lacking in all the details that might give the agreement meaning.

The Nationalist and Communist armies are merged into a single army—but then the Communist Army has, so far as mere formality is concerned, been a part of the Nationalist Army all along. The Nationalist Army is to be reduced to 50 divisions, the Communist Army to 10—but whether this means a great deal, or something, or nothing at all, depends entirely on how many troops a division is to be allowed to contain. Ordinarily a division is 12 to 15 thousand troops, but the number varies widely in military usage. At one time a Nationalist division was as many as 100,000 troops. On the basis of 100,000-troop divisions, the limitation to 50 Nationalist and 10 Communist divisions need entail no change whatever.

Much depends, too, on whether Nationalist and Communist troops are actually to join ranks, or whether each army is to continue in exclusive possession and administration of one of the two parts of divided China.

The details of the treaty will be eagerly awaited. If it is fact rather than empty formality, the reported guarantee of civil rights against military interference will not be the least of its accomplishments, for the people of China have been grievously abused by Chiang Kai-shek's army. As with everything else connected with the agreement, it depends on the details which the world is yet to learn.



MISUSING A GREAT PRINCIPLE

The Fight Over Atomic Controls

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Question of military vs. civilian authority over atomic energy has created obvious battle in Washington, commentator says; President Truman has sided with McMahon bill, which would end Gen. Groves's grip on situation; battle is not yet won, writer warns.

Tris Coffin, Washington Reporter for the Columbia Broadcasting System, in The Nation

A hard, rough-and-tumble fight over atomic energy is breaking through the surface in Washington. The issue is simple: Who shall control the development and use of atomic energy—civilians or the military?

Secretary of Commerce Henry Wallace regards this as the great moral battle of our age. He told the Senate Atomic Energy Committee, "At no time in the history of the United States has it been more important to follow the constitutional pattern of subordinating the armed services to civilian representatives of the people."

Gen. Groves.
—From The Nation.

So far, the military are way out in front. They control atomic energy, and by shrewd manipulation they have arranged to keep a firm hold even if formal control is shifted to civilians.

The GHQ of the military is the sprawling Pentagon Building across the Potomac River. There Maj. Gen. Leslie Groves, pudgy boss of the Manhattan Project, marshals his forces and lays out strategy. This gentleman has what amounts to the most influential position in the world. By his grip on atomic energy, Gen. Groves can deeply affect our foreign policy and the future of the United Nations Organization. He can also dominate the industrial future of this country.

The General's rise to power was largely accidental. He was selected to procure materials needed for the Manhattan Project and, incidentally, to see that military security was maintained. Groves was never expected to influence policy. That was the prerogative of President Roosevelt, who was very jealous of sharing power in this important field. He certainly never intended that Gen. Groves, who was an Army Lieutenant for more than 10 years, should tell him what to do.

Truman Relies on Groves

With the death of Roosevelt, President Truman, new at the job, and bewildered, asked the advice of the man nominally in charge of the Manhattan Project. Gen. Groves became the White House adviser on atomic energy.

Although Groves is not a popular man, even at the War Department, he has potent allies, men who may not like him but are in the same boat. Among them are the Joint Chiefs of Staff, several of the so-called scientific administrators—such as Dr. Vannevar Bush, lanky head of the Office of Scientific Research and Development, and Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard University—and many big industrialists.

The opposition is less cohesive and less strategically organized. The loosely knit group includes Dr. Harold Urey, eminent atomic scientist and passionate proponent of civilian control; Secretary Wallace and former Secretary Ickes; young Senator Brien McMahon of Connecticut, chairman of the Senate Atomic Energy Committee; the earnest, hard-working young men of the Federation of Atomic Scientists, and certain factions in the State Department.

The tactic of the military has been shrewd and practical. It is to keep a tight hold on the Manhattan Project and, while Congress and the White House stew over the final disposition of atomic control, to lay plans for dominating whatever civilian-control scheme may be developed.

The Case for Civilian Control

The opposition was slow to get started, but it is learning fast under the guidance of Senator McMahon, who has pulled the group together and is directing political strategy. Mr. Wallace brought the issue before the people in his testimony before the committee on Jan. 31. He supported the McMahon bill and said of it:

"The provisions are consistent with our traditions of democracy and would place control of development of this new tremendous force in the hands of agents directly responsible to the people. Such democratic control is essential to prevent undesirable forms of authoritarianism or military dictatorship on the home front."

Mr. Ickes, at an earlier hearing, grumbled loudly against military control. He said, "A democracy cannot afford to keep secrets from itself. I object to making a scientist get permission from an Army officer to analyze an atom. I hope our victory will not lead to the military control of science and industry."

President Takes His Stand

With these two on record, Senator McMahon called an executive meeting of the committee and found that the members, generally, favored civilian control. Then he hustled down to the White House for a conference with President Truman. He laid the facts on the table and tactfully suggested that now was the time for the President to make a clear-cut statement.

It came like a bolt out of the blue to the Army crowd. In a letter to Senator McMahon, Mr. Truman said: (1) The atomic-control commission should be composed "exclusively of civilians." (2) "The Government must be the exclusive owner and producer of fissionable materials."

The Truman letter and the smooth maneuvering of Senator McMahon have put the Groves men on the spot. They cannot lobby openly against the McMahon bill. Their campaign to revive the May-Johnson bill has been nipped in the bud.

What is left for them is undercover sniping. And there is always, as a last resort, the possibility of putting pressure on President Truman to name "right guys" to the atomic commission.

The President left the door wide open in his letter. While he said the commission should be composed of civilians, he inserted one dangerous sentence, "This should not be interpreted to disqualify former military personnel from membership." Leslie Groves, civilian, is not likely to think differently from Maj. Gen. Groves. The battle has not been won.

"Battle With the Brass" In Issuing GI Newspaper

"The Story of the Stars and Stripes," by Bud Hutton and Andy Rooney. (Farrar & Rinehart, New York.)

The principal reading matter of virtually every American soldier overseas during the war was the Stars and Stripes, whose various editions reached a total circulation of almost 2,000,000, and had an estimated five or six readers per copy. Two of the soldier-editors who helped set up the paper early in 1942 on the staid premises of the London Times here tell of their experiences and those of associates.

The job was one of newspapering under tremendous difficulties. More than one combat correspondent lost his life on air missions or in battle, and many spent months in enemy prison camps. Paper shortage was a continual headache, and there was the task of finding equipment as the organization moved along behind the advancing armies.

The most prolonged struggle, however, was the "battle with the brass," which turns up in practically every chapter of the two ex-Sergeants' book. This revolved around the question, Should the Stars and Stripes be a newspaper for the GI or a house organ for the Army?

The staffers wanted S&S to be "a paper for Joe," and Gen. Marshall had promised there would be no official control. But there were always Colonels and Generals with bright ideas for using the paper, and public relations officers craving space for their outfits' doings. Staff members, all enlisted men and non-coms, were at a disadvantage in opposing the inroads of rank, but managed, by and large, to keep their independence. Difficulties with censorship were minor, though the paper was embarrassed by being forced to suppress the Patton soldier-slapping episode when all civilian papers were printing it.

The pressure of the brass became too great at one point, and the paper succumbed to orders to print some official "pep talk" editorials which came near wrecking its prestige. One of these, a piece of scolding headed "So You Want to Go Home," raised a storm of protest from the GIs, and even Gen. Eisenhower disapproved. Printing that propaganda was considered by its staff, the authors say, "the one completely unethical and immoral thing the Stars and Stripes ever did."

Despite the title, Hutton and Rooney limit their book to the British and Western front editions, with little mention of the excellent Mediterranean S&S, and none of the papers in the Pacific. Much more remains to be written before the whole story of the enterprise is told.

The authors' anecdotes are delightful, but they are told with a forced rakishness that often makes them sound like a blend of "What Price Glory," "The Front Page" and the Rover Boys. There must be considerable exaggeration in their picture of the Stars and Stripes staff as a group of eccentrics, drunks and chronic AWOLs, constantly flinging paste pots and igniting papers under one another's chairs. Their product was much too excellent a piece of journalism to make plausible any such portrayal as that.

EDGAR ANSEL MOWRER

PARIS.

"WELCOME back after five years," said the Socialist Cabinet Minister. "Monsieur Mowrer, what strikes you most in Paris?"

Mowrer: The city's beauty and the people's apathy.

Five soupspoons stopped halfway to five pairs of lips, five pairs of eyes turned on the visitor.

"We try not to admit it," said a professor finally. "When I was abroad, I expected a quick French comeback. In vain. Four years' moral humiliation and physical privation have dislocated our spinal column."

I looked around. It was a beautiful apartment, the walls covered with antique and very modern pictures. The meal was good and the wines excellent. Yet somehow, these were not the same vivacious Parisians of pre-war days. The dinner table stood close to a small stove in the only heated room.

Riches to Rags.

"France," the Cabinet Minister said slowly, "was rich and is now ruined. Impoverishment began before the war. The average Frenchman did not notice. War and occupation bled France white. The average Frenchman stubbornly expected deliverance would restore his former opulence. What has deliverance brought? The slow realization that France is weak and Frenchmen poor. The result is apathy. For the first time in centuries, young Frenchmen wish to seek their fortune in new countries."

"How can France recover when you politicians have mummified the country in red tape?" demanded a Senator's wife. "What do you expect from people who spend half their time filling forms and standing in line to get food? Tell Monsieur Mowrer about this."

As to De Gaulle.

Professor: "Liberty. Before the war, we French lived happily in anarchy. We demand at least the impression of liberty. Otherwise, in the long run, we shall never accept the necessary restrictions."

Minister: "Our ultimate aim is liberal Socialism. This year's potato crop will be sold in a free market. We hope to reconcile the peasants with the workers."

Senator's wife, interrupting: "It's you party leaders who prevent reconciliation. The French wanted unity around Gen. De Gaulle. You drove the General out; you are responsible for the division."

Minister, sarcastically: "How long do you think the French would have tolerated the General's policy of favoring the army, civil servants and the peasants at the expense of other citizens?"

Conflicting Views.

Gaullist official, hitherto silent: "That is unjust. Without an empire, France will not be a second-rate, but a fourth-rate country. Without control of the Ruhr and the Rhineland, France will not be secure. These aims require a large, loyal army—not to mention the need of defending our freedoms from representatives of a foreign government in our midst."

Professor: "You can, if you will, consider the individual Communist as a traitor. But, as a regularly elected representative of the people, he represents France."

Minister: "A sovereign people certainly have the right to join the Soviet Union—if they wish."

Senator's wife: "I deny that right. No people has the right, under the influence of a national disaster, to vote itself into slavery. Nature itself has endowed man with the right of personal liberty."

Minister, ironically: "Too bad you didn't convince your friend De Gaulle of this immortal truth. A leader who considers himself above political parties places himself above mankind. De Gaulle rendered France imperishable services. Unhappily, this seems what today's French want."

Professor: "Never forget that 70 per cent of today's French voters never voted before—I refer to women and youngsters. Give them a few years and you'll see that they will show the same political maturity as others."

Gaullist official: "The need of substituting for degenerate French parliamentarianism a new system combining a strong executive with civil liberties."

Professor: "Exactly, only we French can combine Socialism and strong leadership and freedom. If we succeed, France will again be great."

MARQUIS CHILDS

What Are John L. Lewis's Plans?

AT the final White House session on the new wage-price formula, Chester Bowles brought up a subject that had been, as though by common consent, taboo through the long, troubled search for an acceptable formula. That was the ponderous, little-known subject of John L. Lewis.

Bowles suggested that there was more than a possibility that Lewis would try to hammer another bulge in the wage-price line when it came time for him to bargain with the coal mine owners. A new strike, a new crisis, a new price boost—such a sequence could undo the work of weeks.

The President's reply was sharply phrased. Lewis, he said, would have to learn that he was not bigger than the United States Government. The issue, the President indicated, would be met head-on if and when it arises.

Low Muttering Sounds.

That may be sooner than Bowles had anticipated. It may come even before Congress has renewed the price control law. Lewis has called a meeting of his union's policy committee for March 11.

In Florida to be received back into the AFL fold, Lewis stayed on for a vacation. Now the brooding Lewis presence is back in Washington and low muttering sounds can be heard coming from the handsome building which is headquarters for the United Mine Workers.

It happens that Lewis's views on price control are almost identical with those of the National Association of Manufacturers. He believes organized labor can take care of its own interests in a free-for-all fight, with no holds barred by Government restrictions.

A Grim Joke.

This stand has political overtones which may well be related to Lewis's plans for 1948. His views on the wickedness of Government intervention in the price and wage field have made him a prime favorite with business men.

What will happen when he tangles with the coal owners over a new wage schedule, no one can predict. The UMW contract, signed April 11, 1945, provides the following:

"At any time prior to April 1, 1946, in the event a significant change occurs in the Government wage policy, either party shall have the right to request negotiations on general wage rates.

"At any time after March 1, 1946, either party may give 10 days' notice in writing of a desire for a negotiating conference upon the matters outlined in said notice. The other party agrees to attend said conference. At the end of 15 days after the beginning of such a negotiating conference, either party may give to the other a notice in writing of the termination of this agreement, to be effective five days after the receipt of such notice."

That means that a strike or a lockout could begin on April 1. That is April Fool's day and John L. may have a sense of humor. It would be a very grim joke on the Administration to upset the wage-price applecart.

Back in the conservative AFL, ready once again to embrace Republicanism, Lewis has had one of the strangest careers in labor history. During the '20s he was embroiled in the bloody battle for supremacy in the UMW that raged through the Illinois mine fields. Dynamite and machine guns were the weapons of that warfare.

One Certain Thing.

In 1933, his union was at a low ebb. Inner strife and the depression, on top of technological changes curbing the use of coal, had reduced it to a pathetic state.

The NRA of the original New Deal gave Lewis his opportunity. With this legal support, he was able to move into new fields and sign closed-shop contracts. The treasury of the union, and with it Lewis's personal power, increased many times over.

Then, with all the drama of which he is capable, he founded the CIO as a new movement to enroll the great mass of workers who had been excluded from the craft hierarchy of the AFL. In the early days of the CIO, Lewis worked closely with some extreme left-wing leaders who were attracted to the CIO.

Now Lewis is a bitter foe of these same men. There have been broad hints that, in his new alignment on the right, he may tell what he knew of the activities and connections of his former associates. One thing is certain. Lewis has his carefully laid plans and sooner or later the nation will hear about them.

MSGR. CODY AND AID TO GLENNON ELEVATED

By FRANK ESCHEN
Of Radio Station KSD News Staff.

ROME, Feb. 26—Msgr. John P. Cody, Chancellor of the St. Louis Archdiocese, and the Rev. John W. Marren, secretary to John Cardinal Glennon, have been advanced in eccleastical rank, under an edict issued yesterday by Pope Pius XII.

Msgr. Cody, whose title was the Very Reverend Monsignor, papal chamberlain, was advanced to the Right Reverend Monsignor, domestic prelate. Father Marren was made the Very Reverend Monsignor, papal chamberlain. In his new rank, Msgr. Cody will wear the same attire as a Bishop, except for the Bishop's ring and pectoral cross. Msgr. Marren will be entitled to wear a purple cassock instead of the priestly black.

Msgr. Cody is pastor of the new Church of Immacolata, on Clayton road west of North and South road. Msgr. Marren is pastor of Blessed Sacrament Church, Kingshighway and Northland avenue.

Reception in Rome.

At the Pope's reception to the College of Cardinals and the Rome diplomatic corps, held at the Vatican yesterday, Cardinal Glennon came second in the line of new members of the Sacred College. The Armenian Patriarch Gregory Cardinal Agagianian was first. All the new cardinals received large bronze medals, designed to commemorate the 1946 consistory, and of the same pattern as the small medals which have been given to many of those here for the consistory.

Presentation of the medals to new cardinals is traditionally made on the Feast of Sts. Peter and Paul, June 29, but Pope Pius thought it better to make the presentation in person while the cardinals were here.

Plans for Return to U.S.

Plans for the homeward journeys of the four new United States cardinals indicate that Cardinal Glennon will be the last to return to his country. Francis Cardinal Spellman plans to leave Rome Saturday morning, and to fly to New York, with stops at Madrid, Lisbon, the Azores and Newfoundland. According to the present schedule, Cardinal Spellman's party will attend a state dinner given by Generalissimo Francisco Franco's government for them and for the new Spanish cardinals. In Lisbon, Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar will give a dinner for the Spellman party. Goncalves Cardinal Cerejeira will accompany the party as far as Lisbon. Cardinal Spellman's arrival in New York is set for 1:30 p.m. next Tuesday.

Cardinal Glennon will accompany Samuel Cardinal Stritch of Chicago and Edward Cardinal Mooney of Detroit, leaving Rome Monday. He will fly with them via Paris to Shannon Airport, Eire, and will leave them there, remaining in Eire to attend a state dinner in Dublin given by Prime Minister Eamon De Valera. WARTIME JOB SERVICE NOW AIDS VETERANS

Machinery designed by the United States Employment Service to supply workers for jobs during the war has been reversed to supply jobs for veterans, Miss Madge Walker, USES official, said yesterday. She spoke at a meeting called to instruct volunteer workers in their campaign to find 5000 job opportunities for veterans in the St. Louis area.

The drive, carried on in conjunction with the national job development announced in Washington earlier last week, will begin Thursday, when about 400 workers will canvass business houses in the areas to which they have been assigned.

Supplied with "order forms" so that qualified veterans can be referred to the employers for the specific kind of jobs they are qualified to perform, the workers will direct most of their efforts toward small merchants and business men who frequently simply hang out a "man wanted" sign to supply their personnel needs, Miss Walker said.

The decision to concentrate on the smaller merchants came after USES workers made a test canvass of offices in the Ambassador building. This canvass resulted in the addition of 40 job openings to USES listings. "Employers for large concerns frequently have been urged to list their openings with USES," Paul P. Connole, local manager, said. "The smaller businesses, however, are more difficult to reach."

FIRST FUND REPORT IN RED CROSS DRIVE

Commerce and Industry Division Announces 8 Pct. of Quota Is Pledged.

Opening day solicitations in the commerce and industry division of the 1946 Red Cross fund campaign resulted in pledges of 8 per cent of the division's quota, Jack J. Mayer, division chairman, reported today.

Among those reporting, Mayer said, nine business firms and Wyman Public School, 1547 Theresa avenue, reported their full quotas on the opening day.

Employe solicitation in the city and county was begun yesterday by 2200 key men in factories, businesses and offices working under the direction of 750 team captains and volunteer workers. All federal employes in the area received facsimile copies of President Truman's letter urging support of the campaign. They were sent out by Postmaster Bernard F. Dickmann, chairman of the federal agencies group.

General residential solicitation in the local campaign will begin this week. The goal for city and county has been fixed at $1,161,500. Much of the funds raised this year will go toward veteran aid both abroad and at home, for disaster relief and to promote programs of first aid, water safety, accident prevention, nutrition and home nursing.

METHODISTS TO STUDY THEIR RELATION TO CATHOLIC CHURCH

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 26 (AP)—The Council of Methodist Bishops at the concluding session of its annual meeting yesterday named a committee to study "the question of protestantism as it relates to the Roman Catholic Church in matters that concern Methodism." A council spokesman said that "among matters to be considered is that of diplomatic representation at the Vatican on the part of the United States."

Another committee was named to prepare a statement on the essential theological position of Methodism. "The pronouncement will insist upon the Protestant ideal of the right of private judgment," the spokesman said. "We look with grave concern on totalitarian forms whether political, economic or ecclesiastical."

Bishops William T. Watkins of Louisville, Ky.; Robert N. Brooks of New Orleans, La., and Fred P. Corson of Philadelphia were appointed to study Protestantism in its relationship to the Roman Catholic church. Bishops Watkins, Corson and Paul B. Kern of Nashville, Tenn., were named to prepare the statement on the theological position of Methodism.

Kramer May Quit Holdouts Today; Walker's Absence Disturbs Dyer

Hurler and Sewell in Conference

By L. A. McMaster
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

ANAHEIM, Calif., Feb. 26—The strains of "California, Here I Come," floated in one of Pitcher Jack Kramer's ears and out the other until the big blond righthander couldn't resist any longer, and he began to hum a tune. His tune was, "That's for Me," and he up and got aboard a plane at his home town of New Orleans and flew to Long Beach not many miles from Anaheim, where the Browns, Jack's mates of the diamond, are in training. Kramer has friends at Long Beach.

And Kramer quickly borrowed a car and drove over to Anaheim. By a strange coincidence, he pulled up in front of La Palma Stadium, where Luke Sewell is putting the St. Louis leaguers through spring conditioning exercises. And it was no time at all until Jack walked into the ball park office. And there sat Manager Sewell. They just naturally got into conversation and after some 30 minutes Jack departed and said he would call the boss in a few hours and let him know about accepting the club's terms to pitch in 1946.

Galehouse Joins Squad.

And so today in Anaheim it appeared that the Browns' right-hand big four soon would be complete.

Denny Galehouse joined the squad yesterday, and with Bob Muncrief and Nelson Potter already on the scene, Sewell's problems began to dwindle. Yes, only to dwindle. Because while he seemed to be pretty well set for right-hand pitching, he still had the matter of left-hand pitching to set up. And he also had a few others details to iron out—just the business of whittling down a squad of 55 players to the playing season maximum, which will catch up with every leader on June 15.

Potter has not been on the scene long. But he joined in the pitching in batting practice yesterday. Muncrief also took a turn on the mound and said his arm felt fine. Bob merely lobbed the ball a bit in games of catch the first few days in camp, putting in most of his time running down fungo hits to the outfield.

Another Game Today.

Sewell was well satisfied with the results of the 4-4 intra-squad game Sunday, and ordered another "scrimmage" game for today.

The Browns have 32 exhibition games before their return to St. Louis to meet the Cardinals in pre-season contests. Only four of these will be played at the training base. And just one Sunday game is scheduled in Anaheim, with the Pittsburgh Pirates next Sunday. There will be a baseball banquet Thursday evening to whoop 'er up for the meeting with the Buccos which local boosters predict will be played to a six-thousand crowd.

Sugar Looks Pretty Sweet

AMADEE MISSOURI BOXING CLUB 2-25-46

Sugar Shows He's a Sweet Boxer

By W. J. McGoogan

Cliff Beckett, Canadian middleweight boxer who meets Ray (Sugar) Robinson at The Arena tomorrow night, has had a look at his opponent and while he didn't faint, Beckett pronounced him "very good, very good."

Beckett watched Robinson on his first St. Louis appearance yesterday as a member of a crowd which taxed the capacity of the Missouri Boxing Association gymnasium, 3626 Enright avenue.

Robinson boxed two rounds each with sparmates, George Johnson, who is to oppose Lou Flyer in the semi-final of the card sponsored by the Fraternal Order of Eagles, and Tommy Sloan.

Uses Unconventional Style.

Ray, one of the most supple performers you ever saw, likes to box with his arms at his sides instead of using the conventional guard, then shoots his punches as he sees openings, something after the manner of Davey Abad who used to wow the customers here some years ago.

Sloan came in for the worst punishment as Robinson dropped him to the floor with a stiff punch but Ray worked easily with Johnson, contenting himself with sharpening his timing.

Before he boxed his two boys, Ray shadow boxed and there were many "ohs" and "ahs" among the two-bit customers over the ease and the grace with which he moved about.

Another interested spectator was Joe Netro, manager of Beckett, who has tested the dynamite of Robinson once before with one of his charges, Jimmy Mandell, stopped by Sugar in five rounds last Sept. 18 at Buffalo.

"And we were moving along nicely, too," lamented Netro in the manner of all managers of boxers, "until the fifth when Mandell stopped one.

"Beckett is a much better boxer than Mandell, too, although I will admit I don't think he's so durable."

Asked if he didn't think he was throwing his boy to a lion in having Cliff oppose Robinson, Netro said he realized that it was taking a long chance.

"Years ago you'd wait four or five years to get a shot at a boxer like Robinson, but in this day and age you have to go quick. Beckett is a good puncher with his left hand and Lee Oma stopped Gus Lesnevich the other night in New York to show you that anything can happen.

"And if he doesn't win, Cliff will be in there trying," concluded Netro rather wistfully.

If Sugar Wants to Be Sweet!

To other watchers, not so vitally interested as Beckett and Netro, the showing of Robinson was such as to indicate that the clever Negro will be able to take Beckett almost at will.

Robinson has a reputation of being not too much of a killer, being content, rather, to let nature take its course, so long as his ire is not aroused and for that reason the customers may see a few rounds.

The Robinson group proudly showed their check for $7500, on the Mound City Trust Co. their guaranty, signed by Ed Leary, and William Herring, Missouri Athletic Commissioner announced himself as pleased that the show was moving along so nicely.

It's a pretty big chunk the Eagles and their promoter, Lou Wallach, have bitten off because to do any good the gross "gate" tomorrow night will have to approximate $20,000 at ticket prices ranging from $1 to $5.

Walker Cooper to Be Out April 2

Walker Cooper, major league catcher, sold recently by the Cardinals to the New York Giants for $175,000, will be discharged from the Navy at Lambert Field, where he has been stationed, April 2.

He will be processed there and probably will be a civilian the next day, Lt. Carr, public relations officer of the field, said today.

Walker is to be discharged under the point system which, in the Navy, lowers each month and by the date of his release, Cooper will have piled up about 31 points.

It is expected he will report to the Giants as soon after discharge as possible.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—Ray Mangrum, the steel-nerved pro from Los Angeles, today headed for St. Petersburg and the ninth tournament of golf's winter tour $1500 richer after beating Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., in an 18-hole playoff yesterday for the Pensacola Open title.

The extra round was made necessary when Hogan blew a three-stroke lead on the final nine of the 72-hole event to finish in a 277 tie with Mangrum Sunday.

Chandler Asked To Prohibit Majors Signing Collegians

BASEBALL'S high commissioner, A. B. Chandler, was asked to prohibit temporarily professional ball clubs from signing college players prior to their graduation.

The request was made by Everett D. "Eppie" Barnes of Colgate University, president of the American Association of College Baseball Coaches, who urged the ruling pending adoption of a permanent policy by agreement between organized baseball and colleges.

Barnes said his appeal was prompted by a protest from Jack Coombs, Duke University coach, who complained about the recent signing of one of his players.

Ortiz Retains Title With 13th Round Knockout

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26 (AP)—Fiery-eyed Manuel Ortiz, defending his bantamweight championship of the world for the thirteenth time, knocked out Louis Castillo, Mexican challenger, in the thirteenth round last night after punishing him mercilessly most of the way.

The plucky 24-year-old challenger, who did most of his fighting in the third and fourth rounds and then took the champion's fusilade of punches with only occasional retaliation, took the count on one knee. Ortiz weighed 117½, Castillo 117¼.

From the fifth round the 29-year-old Ortiz practically commanded the ring, and in the twelfth he hacked the Mexican to his knees. Castillo came back almost blinded in the next round and went down on a right body punch in one minute 31 seconds.

Both fighters sparred cautiously in the even first round, but Ortiz opened up in the second and damaged the challenger's eye.

In his third and fourth round flashes, Castillo landed lefts and rights to smash Ortiz to the ropes once.

The gate for San Francisco's first title bout in 13 years was $33,259.84, of which about $2500 goes to the San Francisco Chronicle's summer boys' camp fund.

Outfielder Needs Work, Eddie Says

By Bob Broeg
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 26—The continued absence of Outfielder Harry Walker, obviously holding out for more money after two years in the Army, has disturbed mild-mannered Eddie Dyer, manager of the Cardinals.

Because President Sam Breadon handles contractual matters, Dyer is not inclined to discuss the case of Walker, who, like Brooklyn Brother Dixie, has not agreed to his 1946 salary. But the new Cardinal manager did express a wish that Harry would have appeared Feb. 18 with other players discharged from service. Or anyway that Walker would get a bit of a jump on last year's Redbirds, due here Friday.

"This 11-day head start given our former service men is for their benefit, and all of them, Walker included, need it," Dyer said.

Would Be Welcome.

The inference was there, certainly. The Cardinals have seven outfielders in camp now, but only two, Terry Moore ad Enos Slaughter, were major leaguers before the caliber of play dipped sharply with the war's manpower requirements. Even Buster Adams and Red (Infield too) Schoendienst, 1945 regulars not here yet, have failed to be tested by real big-time pitching. So a Harry Walker at his best for the season's opener would be welcome, especially with Stan Musial still unavailable.

Of course, the Cardinals have two other important players known to be dissatisfied, Marty Marion and George Kurowski, but at least they lost no playing time in the war seasons.

The need for this early practice was expressed by Slaughter and Moore, for whom Walker was a capable substitute late in 1942 and a reliable replacement in '43, when the 27-year-old Alabaman hit .295 in 148 games.

Dyer has been most lenient with the ?? ex-service Cardinals and three wartime athletes practicing twice a day, letting them train at their own pace. Even so, Slaughter and Moore have complained of the effect on their legs of three-year layoffs, though both were more fortunate than others in getting fairly constant competition in the Army. The backs of Moore's calves hurt, and the heavy front thigh muscles of Slaughter's legs are tight.

Need More Work.

"I know we're older now, sure, but definitely because of not playing every day the past three years, we need longer work to get our legs ready," said 34-year-old Capt. Terry after yesterday's sessions. Roommate Enos, 30, nodded.

Perspiration flowed like wine in yesterday's workouts, the most intense so far. The sun was hot, and so the pitchers, after getting an unexpected hitting drill of their own in the morning, pitched to about eight batters apiece in the afternoon. And only Johnny Beazley and Max Surkont, whose arms are still stiff, the injured John Grodzicki and the cautious Ernie White, the last-mentioned a lefthanded question mark, failed to whip across fast balls against the last hitters to face them. Red Barrett threw hard, too, just after Del Wilber, the rookie catcher, had cracked, "Shall I catch you barehanded, Charley?"

However, after this morning's light drill, Dyer said he was concerned about the future of George Kleine, a right-handed pitcher whom he previously considered "a great prospect, though about another year away from the major leagues." Kleine's arm has failed to come around, and he has been forced to push the ball, even then suffering a sharp pain.

The manager and the pitcher, who won 19 games and lost only nine for Houston in 1942, his last season before entering service, traced the trouble to the end of the '42 campaign. The 24-year-old Kleine tore a muscle high on the right shoulder, and because of necessary neglect while the Omaha boy earned his naval aviator's wings, complications developed.

In the service Kleine pitched only about 100 innings, most of them in '42, and because of the storm-warning pain signal he went to Dr. Robert F. Hyland after his recent discharge. Kleine quoted the club's surgeon as having said, after treatment, that he could offer no definite promises. So now the pitcher will receive additional care with fingers crossed, Dyer said.

The skipper, as the team calls him, disclosed, too, that because of the six-inning intra-squad game Thursday afternoon, no practice will be held that morning. Moore and Slaughter will be the rival managers and may not play.

DiMaggio Hitting .546

Joe Gets Four Out of Four in Yankees' 12-4 Victory—Billy Herman May Be Dodgers' Regular First Baseman.

CRISTOBAL, C.Z., Feb. 26 (AP)—Joe DiMaggio belted out four hits in as many trips to the plate yesterday as he paced the New York Yankees to their fifth straight exhibition victory, a 12-4 rout of the Army All-Stars.

A crowd of over 4000 fans in Mount Hope Stadium saw the American Leaguers get 17 hits. DiMaggio brought his batting average up to .526 and Tommy Henrich, a former service man like his outfield mate, also maintained a fat average by clouting a homer, double and single to drive in four runs.

SANFORD, Fla. — Outfielder Goodie Rosen, who led the Brooklyn batters with a .325 average last season, has accepted terms and is on his way to camp. The Toronto flychaser is the first member of last year's outfield brigade to come into the fold.

Nicholson Still Out.

AVALON, Calif.—The remainder of the Chicago Cubs squad with the exception of holdout Bill Nicholson, is expected to arrive today. Pitcher Ed Hanyzewski, who had an operation on his elbow during the winter after a poor season cut loose with some hard ones Monday and said his arm felt good.

SANFORD, Fla.—A surprise candidate for the Brooklyn Dodgers' first base berth has bobbed up in veteran Billy Herman, for years rated one of the best second basemen in the business. While watching a contest between camp teams at the Dodger training base, Manager Leo Durocher yesterday was asked if he had found his 1946 first baseman yet.

MIAMI, Fla.—After four fruitless years with the New York Giants, during which time he never lived up to the promise he showed as a raw rookie, lanky Rube Fischer is finally demonstrating some of the stuff which made him an outstanding minor league pitcher. The 6-foot-4-inch righthander has been the most impressive curver to date, and Manager Mel Ott hopes that this is the year he'll come through.

SARASOTA, Fla.—After checking into the Boston Red Sox camp too late for the opening drill, slugger Ted Williams revealed today that he has made two wagers with Detroit's Dick Wakefield. Williams gave the Tiger 10-8 odds he would outhit him and even money that Wakefield wouldn't clout 37 homers, one more than Williams hit in 1942.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla.—Now that the deadline has been reached, Manager Billy Southworth of the Boston Braves can count on nine holdouts. They are outfielders Chuck Workman, Butch Nieman and Carden Gillenwater; Pitchers Jim Trexler, Charlie Cozart and Elmer Singleton and Infielders Whitey Wietelmann, Joe Mack and Ted Cieslak.

CLEARWATER, Fla.—Sherman Lollar, slugging catcher who topped the International League in batting and home runs last year, became the first rookie to be promised season-long employment with the Cleveland Indians. "Lollar already has shown me enough hitting power to guarantee that he'll be with us all season," Manager Lou Boudreau declared after watching Lollar rattle several drives off, and over, the Tribe's training park fences.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Guest—Not Ghost—At Own Memorial.

LOU ZAMPERINI, former Olympic team member and intercollegiate mile champion—the man who came back from a Japanese prison camp when he was given up in official military reports as "missing" and "probably dead," is expected to be guest—or should we say ghost?—starter at the IC4-A track games in Madison Square Garden New York, next Saturday.

The meet program will be made up almost entirely of "Memorial" events dedicated to athletic personages who have passed on. Originally one of the events was the Lou Zamperini "Memorial" mile. But when Zamperini, after long being considered dead, turned up very much alive, the event title was changed to the "Lou Zamperini Invitation Mile."

And, to add glamor to the situation, Louis will be the guest—not ghost—starter of the race, firing the pistol which will send away the field in an event wherein he himself once was leader.

By all accounts, Capt. Zamperini should be one with those memorialized as dead. . . . His experiences led even hopeful friends to admit that he in all reasonable probability had been killed when his Liberator bomber plunged into the sea near Palmyra of the Marshall Islands Group three years ago.

From that time and for 28 months, there was no definite news of Zamperini and his party of which the former Olympic Star and one companion were the only survivors.

It developed upon Zamperini's release that after some 47 days of drifting about the ocean in a life raft, living on fish caught with pins for hooks and an occasional gull that settled on the raft, the two survivors were picked up by Japanese and later taken to a prison camp on Honshu Island where they were badly mistreated.

* * *

The Japs, so the story goes, realizing the prominence of Zamperini, endeavored to force him to broadcast Japanese propaganda, in the American tongue, but failed.

Eventually, after having been given up by almost everybody, a party of Yanks rescued Zamperini and other prisoners from the Jap camp. When rescued he weighed only 87 pounds.

Zamperini was highly anti-Hitler minded, as one episode of his career emphasizes. . . . As a member of the Olympic team of 1936, Zamperini climbed a pole and tore down a Nazi emblem which had been flying in front of Adolf's palace in Berlin. . . . The incident had some repercussions but the Germans decided to treat the matter as a prank rather than an international affront.

In 1940, when the call for defense workers went out through the land, Zamperini entered the Lockheed airplane plant. . . . When Pearl Harbor threw the country into turmoil, he joined the air forces, became a bombardier and went on several thrilling missions, the last of which caused him to be given up as "missing—probably dead."

Heckled Hitler

CAPT. LOUIS ZAMPERINI, former Southern California mile runner, who will be honored at the IC4A games in Madison Square Garden Saturday. While a member of the 1936 Olympic team in Berlin he pulled down a Nazi emblem in front of Hitler's palace. Later as bombardier, he was missing for 28 months before being released from a Jap prison camp.

Eclectics "Y" Champions.

The Downtown Y.M.C.A. Basketball League championship has been won by the Eclectics, who defeated the Flunkies 46-38 in the title-winning game last night at the "Y." Delos Aumock of the Eclectics had 18 points.

Two St. Louisans Win, Two Lose in Western Golden Gloves Meet

Dicker Is 4-Second KO Victor

CHICAGO, Feb. 26 (AP)—Chicago's Golden Gloves tournament tonight takes another stride toward selection of a team to represent the west in the annual battle of champions with New York representatives.

Welterweights, middleweights, light-heavies and heavyweights will meet tonight in two rings at Chicago Stadium to cut a field of 128 entrants down to 32 survivors of preliminary and second-round bouts of the tournament.

Last night, before a crowd of 11,256, a field of 128 flyweights, bantams, feathers and lightweights was cut to 32 in 79 fights, many of them sizzling with action, and one resulting in a four-second technical knockout. Oklahoma City and Kansas City, each qualified three of four fighters for third round competition, to be held tomorrow night.

Other cities qualifying fighters were Ft. Wayne, Ind., Dayton, O., Cleveland, St. Louis, Milwaukee, New Orleans, Streator, Ill., and the Army E.T.O., two each; Cedar Rapids, Ia., Muncie, Ind., Chicago, Nashville, Tenn., Minneapolis, Grand Rapids, Mich., Terre Haute, Ind., Ft. Worth, Tex., Gary, Ind., and Twin Falls, Ida., one each.

Eddie Dames, bantamweight, was the other St. Louis winner. He came through with two victories, outpointing Rudy Ankele of Denver, in his opening bout and then stopping James Lunn of Kansas City in the second round.

Two St. Louisans fell by the wayside. Flyweight George Faulkner broke a knuckle on his right hand in losing to Kenny Warren of Milwaukee, while Virgil Adkins, Negro lightweight, was beaten by Francis Peebles of Cleveland.

Tilden Advances In Pro Tourney

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—Welby Van Horn, stroking superbly in the pinches, came from behind to nip Jack Jossi in three hard-fought sets in the opening rounds of the $5000 Evans Cup professional tennis tournament at the Roney Plaza courts yesterday. The scores were 4-6, 7-5, 6-4.

The top stars of the event had less difficulty taking their matches. Favored Fred Perry defeated Martin Buxby, 6-3, 6-2; Big Bill Tilden, still a threat, won over Lloyd Budge, 6-4, 6-2, and Frank Kovacs turned back Vincent Richards, 6-3, 6-4.

Jossi lead Van Horn, 4-1, in the second set of their match, but the latter refused to blow up under the pressure, paced his game along nicely, and tied it up. Jossi did not yield without a struggle, but Van Horn got the upper hand in the deciding set and held it.

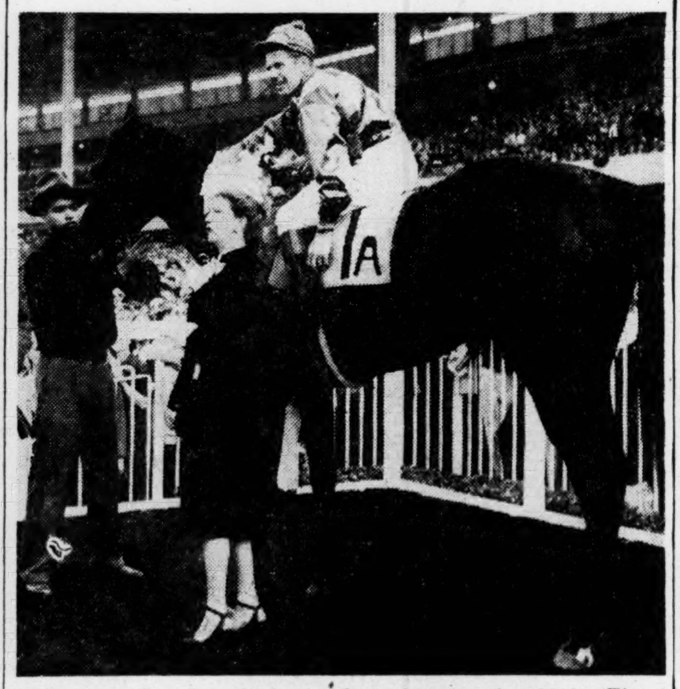
Tops for the Year?



Here may be the winning turf combination for 1946: The horse is the three-year-old KNOCKDOWN, winner of the $100,000 Santa Anita Derby and likely Kentucky Derby favorite. The lady owner is MRS. ELIZABETH (ARDEN) GRAHAM, whose Maine Chance Stable led all the rest last year and is expected to repeat this season. The jockey, BOBBY PERMANE, is expected to be at or near the top of 1946 riders.

Lightning Strikes Twice--- Two 300's at Heidel's

Joe Septic of the Kutis and George Bobmeyer of the Silver Seals, rolling on the same pair of alleys—the now famous Nos. 7 and 8 at the Heidel Recreation—entered the bowling Hall of Fame last night, when they rolled perfect games of 300 in All-Star League competition.

It was the first time in the history of the All-Star that two 300s have been recorded in the same match. It was the first perfect game in league competition for either kegler. Septic returned to competition this season after a three-year layoff.

Septic's other totals were 218 and 203, giving him a 721 total, while Bobmeyer had 181 and 235, in addition to his 300, for a 716 aggregate. Ambrose Nathe, another member of the Seals, missed a perfect game by one strike, finishing with 279, which with 211 and 225, gave him 715.

With the 700 totals of Bobmeyer and Nathe, the Seals won two out of three, with a total of 3335, including games of 1048, 1072 and 1215. The 1215 is the highest single game rolled in St. Louis this season.

In other matches, the Reinekes won three from the Top of the Towns; Mavrakos won two from the Hoffmeisters and the Hyde Parks took the odd game from the Hermanns.

Hank Lauman and Clarence (Pop) Kaley totalled 1726 for four games to win the doubles tourney at Cliff Doxey's Recreation in Moline, Ill., over the weekend. Lauman hit 930 for the four games, with counts of 251, 245, 220 and 214. Kaley contributed 796.

Cotton, British Golf Ace, May Play in Western Open

By Robert Morrison

Henry Cotton, twice British Open golf champion and during the war an officer in the Royal Air Force, has been invited to compete in American tournaments this spring and if he comes he may play in the Western Open here at Sunset Country Club.

Cotton, who last won the British Open in 1937—two years before all golf in England was stopped by the war—was sent invitations by Fred Corcoran, P.G.A tournament manager, and Elmer Ward of the Goodall round robin tournament scheduled for New York late in May.

Western Open tournament manager M. G. (Scotty) Fessenden, responding to a query concerning Cotton, wrote from Chicago that he had sent Cotton a cable from New York last week in the name of Corcoran, inviting the British golfer over here.

"Naturally, if he comes, I am expecting him to play the Western Open in St. Louis," Fessenden said. He added that no reply had been received from Cotton yet.

The Western is scheduled for May 24-26 and, being one of the traditional tournaments in golf history, is given clear dates by the Professional Golfers' Association.

"We'll know a great deal about the total entries in about 30 days," Fessenden said. "I imagine applications will be signed and mailed to us rather quickly after we circulate them, which will be in about a week."

Corcoran has assured the presence of the country's leading professionals. All but top-flight Byron Nelson, who has scheduled a European tour that may return him to the United States too late for the Western, are expected.

The 18-hole qualifying round for the Western, scheduled for the first time this year in anticipation of an exceptionally large entry, will be played at Norwood Hills Country Club, district secretary Jim Benson said. Norwood, with an east and west course, was chosen because it could accommodate any great number of entries within reason.

Two Contests Each Night in Regional Play

Two games a night, beginning tomorrow at the Washington U. field house, will be played in the St. Louis regional high school basketball tournament leading up to next week's state championship competition.

St. Louis U. High, one of the favorites in the district, will oppose Central of the Public High League in the regional's first contest tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. In the second game, scheduled for 9 p.m., Cleveland will meet Normandy, onl Suburban survivor of last week's subregionals.

Thursday's schedule will send Beaumont against McKinley in the first game and Roosevelt against Brentwood.

Winners of the first night's play will meet Friday at 7:30, and the Thursday victors will take the court an hour and a half later in the second semifinal. The title game is scheduled Saturday, to be preceded by a consolation battle for third place.

Pairings were made yesterday at a meeting of representatives of the eight schools with Artie Eilers of Washington University, tournament chairman.

Kansas, Buckeyes Capture Titles

LAWRENCE, Kan., Feb. 26 (AP)—Dr. Forrest C. (Phog) Allen's University of Kansas Jayhawks had their twelfth Big Six basketball title in 18 years of conference feuding today because three war veterans had turned the clocks back three years.

The veterans—ex-Army officers Charlie Black, Otto Schnellbacher and Ray Evans—had even the good doctor bubbling with the enthusiasm of a college freshman after the Jayhawks annexed their ninth conference victory in blasting Iowa State 69-41 here last night.

"How those war vets hustle," Allen shouted. "They've got all the speed and spirit they had when they won the championship for me in 1943. The Army didn't hurt their playing a bit."

The new title was the eighth undisputed championship for Allen-coached Kansas teams since the Big Six's birth in 1928-29, and extended his Missouri Valley-Big Six championship totals to 20 in 29 years. Four Jayhawk teams have shared the Big Six honors.

Ohio State Rules Roost.

CHICAGO, Feb. 26 (AP)—There was just one important item remaining on the Big Ten Conference basketball agenda today, now that the championship argument is all settled with Ohio State ruling the basketball roost.

That item is determination of whether Iowa, knocked out of a chance for a share of the title by Indiana last night, will close its books in a tie for second place with the Hoosiers or in a third-place tie with Northwestern.

Indiana blasted the hopes of the defending champion Hawkeyes with a 49-46 victory at Iowa City last night. The Hawks now are down in third place, and face Minnesota in their final game Saturday. If they lose, they tie for third with the Wildcats; a win and they'll be up in second with the Hoosiers, each with 9-3 records.

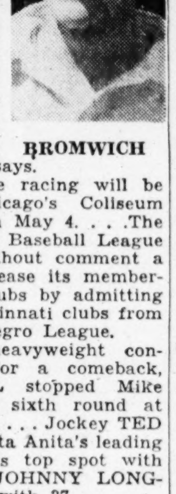
Deardorff to Meet Hacker in Billiard Challenge Match

City three-cushion champion Gene Deardorff will play the first 50-point block of a 150-point challenge match against Lu Hacker tonight at the Pla-Mor, starting at 8 o'clock.

In the Ozark three-cushion tournament last night, Jack Hill upset Ray Watkins, 30-28. Hill's high run of four was topped by Watkins, but Hill made his points more consistently.

SHORT—WAVES

The Aussies are worrying. . . . Harry Hopman, former captain and manager of the Australian Davis Cup team, says it was a mistake not to send a team to Wimbledon this year because the three top Australian stars, JACK BROMICH, ADRIAN QUIST and DINNY PAILS need the type of practice they can't get in Australia. . . . "Bromwich and Quist are disappointed with their recent form from a Davis Cup viewpoint," he says.



BROMWICH

Six-day bicycle racing will be revived at Chicago's Coliseum April 28 through May 4. . . .The Negro American Baseball League has rejected without comment a proposal to increase its membership to eight clubs by admitting Detroit and Cincinnati clubs from the new U.S. Negro League.

New head basketball coach at William Chrisman High School, Independence, Mo., is Maj. TRAVIS V. HOPKINS, Center High coach there prior to military service. . . . MEL RIEBE, who coached the Great Lakes basketball team and was its high scorer, ended the season with 564 points for 30 games.

American Hockey League individual scoring leader is LES DOUGLAS, who has a point total of 75. . . His Indianapolis teammate PETE LESWICK is three points behind. . . . In the National League the pacesetter is MAX BENTLEY of Chicago with 53 points.

The first world championship bob-sledding since 1939 will be held near St. Moritz, Switzerland, the first week of February, next year. . . . The last winners were a two-man team piloted by BARON LUNDEN of Belgium and a four-man outfit guided by FRITZ FEIERABEND of Engleberg, Switzerland.

Top Golfers Play In Benefit Match

DUNEDIN ISLES, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP)—A benefit exhibition golf match which promises the toughest playing and most critical gallery of recent years was selected for the Professional Golfers' Association's own course here today.

Kansas City Advances.

DENVER, Feb. 26 (AP)—Denver, San Francisco and Kansas City advanced into the second round yesterday as the American Basketball League tournament opened with 4000 fans on hand in the Denver city auditorium.

Denver's Ambrose Jellymakers toppled the Los Angeles Carrolls 56-37 at the conclusion of the first night session after the San Francisco Dardis had overrun the Salt Lake City Simplot-Deserets 58-44. Kansas City's M. and O. Smokies were the first victors of the tournament, defeating the Sacramento Senators 67-52 in an afternoon game.

Second Mexico League Seeking Tie-Up in U. S.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 26 (AP)—If United States major league clubs are looking for additional farm teams, there are a few south of the border waiting to be invited to tie up with big league outfits.

Members of the Mexican National League, a class D loop recently admitted into organized baseball and not to be confused with the Mexican League which is luring players from clubs in the United States, are seeking affiliations in order to get player help.

The National League season opens March 14 with teams from Mexico City to El Paso, Tex., a 1000-mile hop. El Paso is the only United States entry in the six-club loop, the other Mexican teams being Juarez, Chihuahua, Torreon and Saltillo.

"We'd like to form part of a United States chain," said Alejo Peralta, manager and part owner of the Mexico City Aztecs. "Right now we could use a catcher, pitcher and shortstop from the United States. Other clubs in the league are in a similar situation."

A number of Cubans and players from other Latin American countries already are signed to play.

O. E. Maxey, former mayor of Alta, Mo., is president of the El Paso club, and Andy Cohen, former second baseman for the New York Giants, manages the team.

The other Mexican circuit also has clubs in Torreon and Mexico City—two in the capital city—and heated competition for attendance is foreseen.

Racing Needs Uniform Rules, Official Says

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26 (AP)—Turf leaders told racing officials from 22 states yesterday that nation-wide uniform regulations are needed by the sport, emphasizing the need for such rules in connection with stimulation cases.

Kenneth Friede of New York, publisher of the Daily Racing Form and associated papers, addressed the more than 100 representatives at the fifteenth conference of the National Association of State Racing Commissioners. Canada was represented by James J. Heffering of Toronto, president of the Incorporated Canadian Racing Associations.

"During the past year there has been more positive evidence of stimulation being practiced, with resultant bad publicity, than at any time since racing has been legalized," Friede declared.

He said that varying penalties had been administered in different states, adding: "I urge that a uniform rule be adopted by all racing states making a life suspension mandatory for the first offense of stimulation."

Earlier Ednyfed H. Williams of Chicago, president of the association, proposed that various state commissions adopt standard rules on the definition of stimulation and adopt a definite analysis procedure. He also urged that a national turf congress be formed.

Bills and Preachers Have Old Scores to Settle

Each of the visitors was winner in an earlier game against the same opponent. Creighton topped the Bills 33-32 for its first Missouri Valley Conference victory and Illinois Wesleyan was a 47-45 winner over Concordia.

Another type of old score is involved in the Billiken contest, although perhaps it will have been forgiven and forgotten by this time. When St. Louis and Creighton last met, the game ended in a free-for-all among players, spectators and police, with Jim Cullen and Tom Belford playing the leading pugilistic roles.

The Billikens may be in no better humor tonight, still smarting from the basketball beating at the hands of the Oklahoma Aggies. On that occasion last week Bob Kurland set a new national scoring record of 58 points against the Billikens.

Concordia will be seeking its eighth victory of the current season when it closes its home appearances tonight against Illinois Wesleyan. The Preachers have won seven and lost seven thus far.

SELECTED STOCK LIST SUPPORTED AFTER SIX-POINT DROP IN MARKET

The ticker tape was late twice, shortly after the opening and around midday, as large buy-sell orders jammed the machinery. Losses running to around six points at the worst were reduced or converted into modest plus signs in the final hour, but declines, near the close, were well in the majority. Low-quoted issues turned over in 1000 to 10,000-share blocks.

Transfers for the full proceedings were in the vicinity of 2,700,000 shares, largest since Jan. 29.

Transactions ran to 2,650,000 shares, largest since Jan 29 and compared with 2,390,000 shares yesterday.

The market was not as broad as yesterday's 1050 issues.

Calling Off Strike Helps.

Calling off of the threatened New York transit strike aided sentiment to some extent. Bids also were reinstated on the thought that yesterday's sharpest break in more than eight years may have been overdone and warranted a good technical rightabout. Skeptics regarding labor situations and the generally cloudy earnings picture still were plentiful and these either stood aside or continued to trim accounts.

In arrears the greater part of the day were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Great Northern, Consolidated Edison, United Corp., Goodrich, Deere, Du Pont, Dow Chemical, Eastman Kodak, General Electric, Johns-Manville and Standard Oil (N.J.). Better performers were Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, American Telephone, Electric Power & Light, American Can, Montgomery Ward, Glenn Martin and Western Union "A."

$81,000,000 REFUNDING IS PROPOSED BY UNION PACIFIC

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP) — The Union Pacific Railroad Company applied for authority today to issue $81,602,000 of refunding mortgage bonds series C.

Proceeds from the issue together with other funds would be used to redeem at 107 per cent and accrued interest a like amount of outstanding refunding mortgage bonds, Series B.

The company stipulated in its application to the Interstate Commerce Commission that the issue rate to be named in the acceptable bid must be lower than three per cent, the rate carried in the old bonds.

A.T.&T. 1945 EARNINGS

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP) — The American Telephone and Telegraph Co. reported for 1945 net income of $171,640,228, equal to $8.66 a common share, compared with $163,165,614, or $8.54 a share, in 1944.

Net income of the Bell system applicable to American Telephone and Telegraph Co. stock was $177,057,840, or $8.93 a share, against $169,856,561, or $8.89 a share, in 1944.

Walter S. Gifford, president, said in the annual report that earnings during the war years have been subnormal, averaging during the four years 5.5 per cent, "the lowest in the history of the system, except during the worst years of the depression."

Volume of business and operating revenues, however, were at record levels in 1945, he reported.

COTTON CLOSES LOWER

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP)—The cotton market fluctuated today over a fairly wide range with the trend generally lower. Commission house and New Orleans selling was influenced by the unsettled securities market and prospects of hedging pressure in the market following trade bidding tomorrow for the latest offering of cotton by the Commodity Credit Corp. Issuance of 15 March transferrable notices also had a depressing effect on the market.

Late afternoon prices were 65 to 90 cents a bale lower, March 26.17 May 26.19 and July 26.19.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 26 (AP)—An early irregular trend in the bond market today later developed into a broader shift into lower price territory.

Rails accounted for most of the offerings at the start of the final hour, but losses spread to all groups. Declines ranged to an outside of around three points and included Rock Island 4s and Baltimore & Ohio stamped convertibles.

The high priced Pennsylvania Railroad bonds felt pressure in the final hour, the 4¼s and 4½s each losing around a point at 134 and 127, respectively. Third Avenue adjustment 5s rallied 1¾ points to end at 60 after it was announced the New York City transit strike had been averted.

RYE MARKET GAIN FOLLOWS A LOWER PRICE MOVEMENT

At the opening commission houses absorbed local traders' offerings and a gain of about cent was marked up. Later the 5-cent daily limit break in May and July rye at Winnipeg caused a local reaction, but the strength of deferred contracts at Winnipeg brought on mill buying here.

Wheat and corn closed at their respective ceilings. Oats were unchanged to ¼ lower than yesterday's close, May 81. Rye was unchanged to 2¼ higher, May $2.16⅝ @ ½.

Oats held about steady in light trade. Wheat, corn and barley held at ceilings, with the trading pits deserted most of the day.

ST. LOUIS CASH GRAIN.

MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Feb. 26—There were no sales of cash grain made today.

LOCAL GRAIN RECEIPTS.

Local grain receipts amounted to 11 cars of wheat, 29 corn, 7 oats, 3 soybeans and 2 cars barley.

Department disagreed with the Navy, that when it informed Gen. Short and Gen. Douglas MacArthur of the Konoye Cabinet's collapse it commented that no abrupt change in Japanese foreign policy was expected.

On Nov. 25, the Navy ordered that merchant ships in trans-Pacific service follow a southern route and that the fleet provide them with "necessary escort."

Two days later, on Nov. 27, it was testified, the War and Navy Departments sent war warnings to Gen. Short and Adm. Kimmel. Adm. Stark and Gen. Marshall insisted these warnings were clear and urgent orders to be prepared for attack.

Navy records were presented showing that Adm. Stark told Adm. Kimmel that negotiations with the Japanese had "ceased" and ordered him to "execute an appropriate defensive deployment."

An Army intelligence officer testified that Gen. Marshall said in his message the negotiations "appeared to have been terminated" and directed that Gen. Short take defensive measures.

The messages were said to have mentioned the Philippines, Thailand, the Kra peninsula and Borneo as possible places of attack, but neither referred to Hawaii. Neither Adm. Kimmel nor Gen. Short denied receiving the messages.

Adm. Kimmel insisted that his order was not clear as to the type of deployment he was expected to execute. Gen. Short, in his reply to Gen. Marshall, said his department was "alerted to prevent sabotage."

Gen. Marshall and his subordinate officers acknowledged in their testimony that when they received this reply from Gen. Short they should have known that Gen. Short was not properly alerted and that he should be prepared to do more than prevent sabotage, but they said that in the haste and pressure of work at the time the matter was overlooked.

Order to Burn Documents.

Documents entered as evidence showed that Adm. Stark on Dec. 3 sent Adm. Kimmel word that the Japanese Government on the previous day had ordered its consular and diplomatic officials in the United States and Britain to burn their secret documents and codes—usually a final step before war.

An Army intelligence officer quoted Gen. Marshall as having said the War Department knew of this development, but did not inform Gen. Short. Gen. Marshall was quoted as saying he believed that to pass along all intercepted Japanese code messages might reveal to the Japanese that we had broken their code.

Adm. Kimmel testified he passed the message on to Gen. Short, but not until Dec. 6. He remarked to the committee that he had not considered the information vital.

Gen. Short, however, declared that if he had had the information sooner, it would have greatly affected his course of action.

Evidence showed that Adm. Stark on Dec. 4 directed all naval attaches in the Orient to destroy their code systems and that on Dec. 6 he told Adm. Kimmel to authorize naval commanders on outlying Pacific islands to destroy secret material.

Adm. Kimmel and Gen. Short testified that neither of them was ever told that the War and Navy departments for six months or more had been receiving the intercepted Japanese diplomatic and military code messages, which clearly indicated the Japanese intention to make war.

Adm. Stark testified he had the impression that Adm. Kimmel's staff knew the diplomatic code secret and were making their own interceptions.

Final Japanese Message.

The first part of the final Japanese message was intercepted in Washington the night of Dec. 6. It was the text of the Japanese statement to this government breaking off negotiations. Next morning the last paragraph was received, instructing the Japanese to deliver the document at precisely 1 p.m. that day, the exact time of the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Gen. Marshall testified that about two hours after the War Department had received it he dispatched a warning to Gen. Short, using radio because he feared the telephone wires would be tapped.

This message, delayed through communication difficulties, reached Gen. Short some hours after the Japanese attack when most of the Pacific fleet already lay on the bottom of Pearl Harbor.

MATTER OF FACT

Vandenberg Has the Floor

That night he made a motion at the meeting of the American delegation that Secretary Byrnes be requested for information on the Polish situation, and that the American delegation support Bevin if the facts justified. There was opposition, but Mrs. Roosevelt, whose courage in such matters earned her the admiration of the entire delegation, immediately seconded his motion. Byrnes was telephoned that evening by Stettinius, Cohen and Connally, and the next day issued his own statement associating this country with Bevin's stand.

As to the Future.

In part, Secretary Byrnes and the other makers of American policy have not yet taken a firm line with the Soviet Union because they still hope for local, negotiated settlements of outstanding issues. Therefore, they desire to avoid friction.

The episode of the Polish statement was a case in point. The State Department had the fullest and most detailed evidence that political murder had in fact been widely practiced to intimidate the more independent-minded Poles. Yet Byrnes' statement ignored this and was full of ifs, ands and buts.

But domestic political considerations, and especially the fear that a firm policy will not receive public support, now bulk much more largely in the State Department's decisions than the admittedly waning hope that the Russians may be persuaded they do not want what they say they want.

Accordingly, Vandenberg's return, and the great influence he may be expected to exercise on the Senate, are factors of the utmost import in any calculation of the future. Only one thing could prevent their being such factors. So many British conservatives have told him they do not want the British loan, that he may not support it. This would of course undermine his position and largely counteract the effect of what he may say about the world situation as a whole.

HAMBURGER STAND HELD UP 103RD TIME; ROBBER KILLED

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 26 (AP)—The 103d robbery of a hamburger stand yesterday brought death to the current bandit, who had held up the present owner five times in his four-month tenure.

Police Sgt. J. N. Sprague said a 19-year-old Negro was shot by Arnold Kolander, a brother of William Kolander, the proprietor. The robber walked into a trap. Arnold Kolander was concealed behind a partition waiting for another employe to identify the robber by a prearranged signal: "Well, here you are again."

A discharged war veteran, William Kolander said he had "faced almost as many guns since I bought this place as I did in the Army." Inquiry at police headquarters showed the stand's previous owners had been held up 98 times.

POLICE INTERVENTION IN MASS G. E. PICKETING CALLED OFF

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 26 (AP)—Acting Sheriff William J. Morrow said the "whole issue" of court-barred mass picketing by CIO workers at the strikebound General Electric Co. plant would be settled at meetings today and "under the circumstances there is no necessity for any intervention by police."

About 1400 CIO United Electrical, Radio and Machine worker pickets yesterday defied a Common Pleas court injunction outlawing mass picketing by parading two abreast outside plant gates. The injunction limits picketing to 10 men. They must march 10 feet apart.

Washington Party

Social Reconversion Is On in Capital

By Hope Ridings Miller

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.

IT'S a diplomatic reception in the flossy Washington manner and your engraved invitation reads "From 5 to 7 o'clock," with an underlined directive, "Please present at door." . . .

You time your arrival for 6 o'clock. (Midway through any capital reception, activity is full speed ahead, and the host and hostess are falling into the spirit of the thing, and actually look as if they are having a good time.)

Several long black limousines, bearing low license plates and distinguished guests, are nosing into the driveway ahead of your taxicab. The dapper doorman gallantly assists the passengers to alight. . . . There are the French ambassador and Mme. Bonnet, just going in. Certainly they are among the more decorative diplomats. You make a mental note of that frothy pink chapeau atop Mme. Bonnet's upswept coiffeur. (She used to be a milliner, and you wonder if her nimble fingers turned out that fetching confection.)

INSIDE THE DOOR, in the softly-lighted marble hallway, you deposit your wraps. A few paces away a couple of men are poring over the guest list, checking names as invitations are presented. . . . "I'm Mrs. Clark," says a bright-eyed slip of a woman as she steps in, bid in hand. "Mrs. Clark. Mrs. Tom Clark?" mumbles the man as his pencil moves down a typewritten page. "Yes, oh yes. Go right along, Mrs. Clark."

"Please return my invitation," says a plushy dowager in the advance echelon. "I always keep my invitations," she adds with a twitter as her name is checked. "Some day, I'm going to write a book about all the Washington parties I've been to . . . "

★ ★ ★

YOUR NAME is penciled off and you are on your way up the thickly-carpeted steps to the second-floor drawing room. . . . Running interference for you before you greet your host and hostess is an impressive-looking, gray-haired chap you've been seeing at important parties around town for a decade. "How do you do, Ridgewell," you say with something of an air. Ridgewell rallies with a bow that enhances his immaculate elegance, and then turns and passes your name on to the hostess. You summon your party smile, step up and gurgle something about, "So nice to see you again." . . . You say the same thing with different words as you shake hands with your host. Then you run the gauntlet between a double line of the more punctual guests, and hope you can remember the names of every one you meet at parties like this.

JUDGE AND MRS. BENNETT CLARK (she's the former Violet Heming, of stage fame, you remind yourself) create a flurry of interest as they enter the drawing room, and are soon surrounded. . . . There's Halifax," someone whispers, and you look up to see the tall, spare British ambassador coming in. "They say," continues your whispering informant, "that his successor, Sir Archibald Clark Kerr, simply loathes big parties. He'll have a heck of a time in Washington if he does."

Suddenly, everyone seems to be drifting through the vast door that leads to the dining room. You join the charge of the hungry brigade. "These people set a mighty good table," quips Leon Henderson to a couple of Southern Senators. Agriculture Secretary Anderson, at one glance, takes in the sumptuous spread and observes, "Yes, there's no doubt about it. There's enough food in America so that we can send some of it to starving peoples elsewhere." . . .

YOU SHIFT BACK to the drawing room, now traffic-jammed to the walls. The host has left the receiving line and is mingling happily in the crowd. . . . You catch a glimpse of Mrs. Fred Vinson, of Mrs. James Byrnes, of Assistant State Secretary and Mrs. Will Clayton. . . . You see the Dutch ambassador and Gen. Russell Maxwell, heads-together, as a camera clicks in their direction. . . . By now, the throng is thinning out perceptibly. Your watch says 7 o'clock; and presently you are on the stairway, part of the moving mass of descending guests.

You brace yourself as you see the seething mob in the lower hallway; then slowly make your way to the room where you deposited your coat an hour before. As you stand in line, patiently waiting, you hear innumerable passing persons echoing the concensus, "Nice party. Very nice party. Almost as pleasant as those we enjoyed in the prewar days."

Quite obviously, social reconversion in Washington is already well under way.

Household Poets

By Christopher Billopp

EVERY household should have a poet. Then on birthdays and other anniversaries the poet could be called on to write an appropriate poem to be read at the appropriate time.

The difficulty about writing poems lies in making the lines the same length and making the last words rhyme. But household poets need not worry as no one expects much of them.

Household poets when writing a poem should be relieved of such drudgery as washing dishes and performing similar menial tasks. Nor, of course, should they be expected to chip in on flowers, candy or other presents.

Then, when the appropriate time arrives, someone will be delegated to cry "be quiet everybody" and rap for silence. And when there is silence, except among several groups in corners, the announcement may be made that L. D. is going to read a poem.

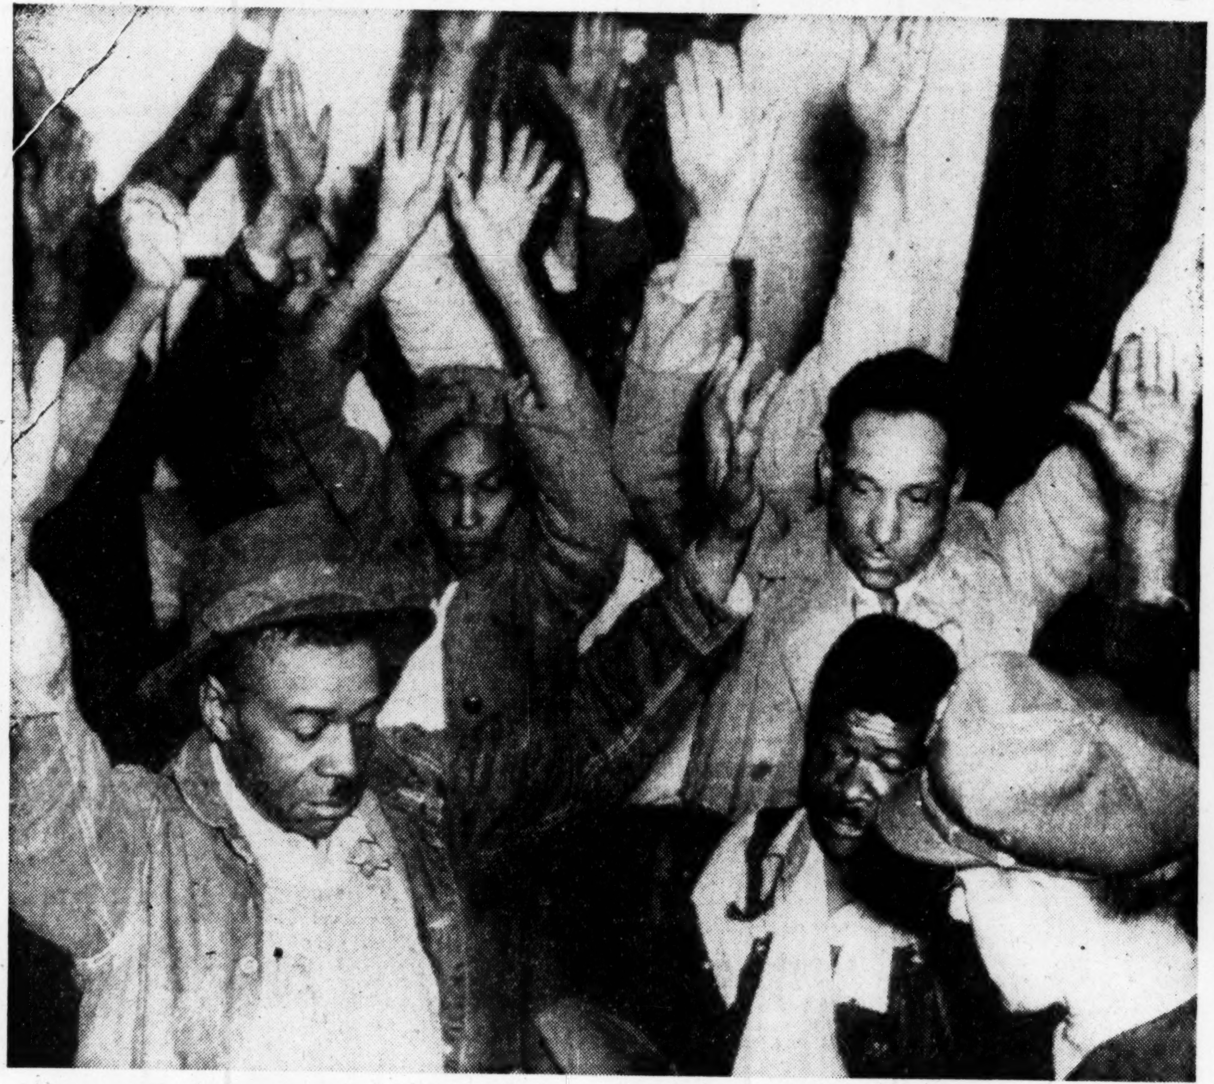
While L. D. is getting the poem out, volunteers will attack the groups in the corners until nobody is making a noise except the volunteers. Then someone will have to silence the volunteers.

When silence is complete L. D. will no doubt announce most unpoetically, "I can't see very well without my glasses." This will be greeted with shouts of laughter.

By dragging out the short lines and hurrying over the long ones, and by slurring over the words that do not rhyme, L. D. will deftly conceal the grosser flaws in the poem, and bring home its meaning by arching eyebrows and otherwise grimacing. And the end of the reading will be greeted with loud applause from all.

And as L. D. retires modestly, everyone will exclaim that they don't know how it was done, wish they could do it, that the poem "made the party" and is "just as clever as can be."

Mass Arrests in Tennessee Disorders



Negroes arrested after a race clash at Columbia, Tenn., in which 10 persons were wounded last night, are shown as they were registered and searched by Tennessee highway patrolmen who, supported by State guardsmen, made a round-up in the town's Negro residential section early today. The disorders followed arrest of two Negroes charged with assault on a white workman and four Columbia policemen were wounded in subsequent gunplay.

BROADWAY

Notes of an Innocent Bystander

THE SHOWFOLKS: After "Oklahoma" and "Marinka" Joan Roberts refused costume plays. In "Are You With It?" she peels a lot. Result: In bed 10 days with la grippe—something she never had wearing corsets and bustles. . . . Those romance items you see about Ann ("Red Mill") Andre and Hal ("Song of Norway") McMurrin are fairly accurate. They are Mr. and Mrs. . . . Jack Carson, now at the Strand, is himsylph again. Says his trimmed silhouette came from this weird combine: Turnip juice and pickel before and after meals. . . . The DAR refused their hall to Eddie Condon. What's good enough for Carnegie Hall isn't g.e. for them. . . . Belita, the British cinemaiden, is startling local interviewers. She's veddy culchurd, veddy litree and veddy nice.

★ ★ ★

FOOTLIGHTS AND SPOTLIGHTS: "Antigone," an ancient Greek opus (patterned along 20th Century lines), brought back Katharine Cornell. As an experiment, reported the play assassins, it was "laudable," but it failed to erase the creaks from the script's squeaky joints. Cedric Hardwicke, the star's leading man, again submits a notable account of himself. . . . "Jeb" arrived Thursday night and was draped with a few ribbons. Some of the sentinels said it was a sinewy drama packed with striking thoughts and cushioned with compassion.

★ ★ ★

THE FUNNIES: Congressman Rankin has made a career of talking through his hate. . . . Last week he said that this reporter told fibs about him. That recalls the time Huey Long complained that "Heywood Broun murders the truth!" and Broun promptly flattened him with: "Huey Long never gets close enough to the truth to do it any bodily harm." . . . Harold L. Ickes was once asked what he would do if he had to get along without free speech.

THE RADIORACLES: On Sundays at 3:30 WMCA does a masterful job on the solons in the nation's Capital. The title is "Congress Speaks." . . . Milton Cross, oldest (in point of service) network announcer of them all, is completely baffled by a pronunciation. He was told to call him La Gardia, but the Li'l Flower calls himself La Gwardia. . . . The Andrews Sisters' Green Room program stays in the ears. . . . NBC has barred "My Mamma Never Told Me." Victor Records voluntarily junked their disc of it.

★ ★ ★

THE INTELLIGENTSIA: Henry Wallace, the Cabinet member, will be an editor for Free World. . . . John Lloyd Wright's title for his biog: "My Father Who Is on Earth." . . . Morton Thompson (he auth'd "How to Be a Civilian") suggests that film about the atomic bomb be titled: "The Last Weekend." . . . Ex-Gov. Chas Edison of N.J. is writing a book about Jersey politics and his ancient enemy, F. Hague. . . . "I Chose Freedom" (described as a blast against Stalin & Co.) will be released via Scribner's April 15 instead of March. Kravchenko auth'd. . . . Buddy Lester observes that Benedict Cerf thinks "that every quip a column prints gives him the 'copy' right." . . . Edwina Hecht (Ben Hecht's talented daughter) is starting a new mag, Senhorita, in Rio, to cover all Latin America. Ex-reporter John Nasht is her associate. A former O.S.S. man. . . . Nathaniel Benchley (just out of the Navy) will do a thittir col'm for a newsweekly.

★ ★ ★

THE RETORT SWELEGANT: From a newsmag's foreign section: "Delighted German spectators watched a crack soccer team from Dusseldorf defeat the British team. A German in the stands crowed triumphantly to a British soldier: "You don't know what this victory means to Dusseldorf. For the first time we have beaten you at your national game." . . . To which the Tommy smiled back: "That's all right. We've already beaten you at yours."

★ ★ ★

QUOTATION MARKSMANSHIP: Ambrose Bierce: He who says he has loved twice has not loved once. . . . Anon: There is usually plenty of room at the top because some of those who get there go to sleep and roll off. . . . Deems Taylor: Swing fans alarm me when they don't know Beethoven's 7th from Manville's 8th. . . . Elizabeth June Magee: There was more faith in America on the heights of Iwo Jima than there is in the depths of Washington politics. . . . Chas. Barnett: Bevin and Stalin went at it hammer and sickle. . . . Mark Twain's counsel to newspapermen: Gratify some and astound the rest. . . . Anon: When you have a fight with your conscience and you get licked, you win.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

THE following letter presents a social picture that has not been asked about since prewar days. "Should an invitation to a formal coming-out tea for a debutante be answered, particularly when I am planning to go? The hostess is a stranger to me. Our husbands are great business friends and it is for this reason my husband wants me to go. (Undoubtedly for this reason I have been invited!) though it seems to me very unlikely that they will remember me or that I was there!"

Under these circumstances it might be well to send an acceptance, although none is required unless R.s.v.p. is included in the invitation. To make sure that the hostess will know you were there, you leave two visiting cards of your own (one for the hostess and one for the daughter) and even though your husband is not with you, you leave three of his cards (one for the host as well as one each for the hostess and the daughter) on the hall table when you enter.

DEAR MRS. POST: I have been doing work at home for a company and was told to send in bills for same on my letterhead with full name and address. I preferred my own given name rather than my husband's and accordingly had some paper printed "Jane C. Doe" and a full address. I have received some criticism about this marking and wish you would give me your opinion.

Answer: A name without a title is correct on business paper. If you wish to be written to as "Mrs." instead of "Miss," you can have (Mrs. K. G. Doe) in small letters underneath.

DEAR MRS. POST: What should I do about returning gifts, chosen because I was engaged and yet sent me at Christmas and on my birthday, when that engagement has been broken?

Answer: If they were sent by your own friends, you keep them or perhaps exchange them. If they were sent you by his family or by others solely on his account, return them or at least ask if they would like to have you do this.

Take My Word For It

READERS WANT TO KNOW

GAINESVILLE, Texas: Our daughter married a nice young soldier from the East. He laughs at us for saying that we want only a "bite" of something or other to eat. He says "bite" is never used as a noun.—J. A. C.

Answer: Send that young Yankee to the dictionary, suh. The noun bite has many meanings, including "a morsel of food, as much as is taken in one bite."

Los Angeles: Mr. Vizetelly says oasis is "Oh-uh-sis or oh-AY-sis; the first indicating American usage, the second the usage of Great Britain." Right? C. M. G.

Answer: My check of twelve accepted dictionaries, British and American, shows oh-AY-sis to be the first choice of seven and the only choice of four. "Oh-uh-sis" is obsolescent, although Funk and Wagnalls list it as first choice.

Maxton: It seems that I read in your column once that "proven" is obsolete. Now I am told that Webster's lists "proven" as the past participle of "prove." Please explain.

Answer: "Proven" is in Webster's; so are "irregardless, ain't, aren't I?" and many other erroneous items. But one must read the dictionary comment on such locutions. "Proven," for example, is given as the past participle of "prove," but with the comment: "Archaic and dialetical." It's an obsolete Scottish legal word. Better say: It is a proved fact; it has been proved; the well is in proved territory.

Answer: The initials stand for the German Schutzstaffel, "protective force," name of the Army unit assigned to Hitler as his bodyguard, also known as the Black Shirts. The "u" of Schutz- has the sound of "o" in "foot, book," thus: SHOOTS-shtah-fel.

Washington: A notice reads, "Radios should be 'dimmed' at eleven p.m." Is it possible to "dim" a sound?—R. F. G.

Answer: Yes. Either light or sound may be dimmed. The literal meaning of dim is "not distinct; obscure." Therefore, even one's memory may be dimmed by time. And of course, there's the delightful American slang word: "dimwit."

How It Started

By Jean Newton

"It's a Corker!"

IF it's an argument so convincing that it closes the discussion; if it's a statement so striking that it astonishes all within earshot, if it's something so top-notch that it's "out of this world"—it is just as likely as not to be called a "corker."

Just why "corker," which is an obsolete word for "cork-cutter," should be used in this way has been the subject of considerable research. And the explanation throws light on a scene from yesteryear.

"Corker" is presumed to be a corruption of "caulker." The original line was "He fights like a caulker." This was something like saying "He can lick his weight in wildcats" or "He can whip anybody in the world." For this reason!

A calker was a sailor or artisan who, with iron and heavy mallet, in days gone by, drove oakum into the seams of wooden ships. Up and down, first with one hand and then with another, reaching forward, bending backward, stretching overhead, wherever the calker calked, he hammered away, waterproofing his environment—all the while developing tremendous punching power.

Calkers, therefore, became punishing fighters. They could stun an adversary with a blow. One hook or jab and the dispute was terminated. The calker was an "angel-maker."

Soon the meaning of "calker"—corrupted to "corker"—was transferred from the calling to the act—a "corker" became what is modern parlance we call a "haymaker." Thomas Haliburton, in his "Clockmaker," has a character say:

"Then I lets him have it—jist three corkers." And soon "corker" became all the things we said it was at the start of our story.

Always Do Your Best

By Elsie Robinson

YES, I know you get sick of trying to do the decent thing. Nothing ever seems to turn out the way you planned. You always seem to let yourself in for a lot of grief. Sometimes you vow, as you are vowing now, that you'll cut it out and just gratify your own selfish whims without trying to live up to any impossible standards.

Don't! Don't give up!

Go on trying. . . . Go on trying to do your best. It's the only program that will pay in the long run.

"But why should I try to do my best?" you say, a little cross at everyone involved, including me. "What will it buy me?"

It may not buy you anything in terms of dollars and cents, harps or halos in the future life. But it will feed a deeper desire in you than dollars and cents, harps or halos will ever feed.

IT'S A GREAT MISTAKE to think that we do our best simply for the sake of present praise or future rewards. We don't. There's a far more subtle and vital reason for it.

We do our best because it feeds certain definite hungers within our natures. We strangely complicated human beings hunger as definitely to be brave and honest, decent and kind—to live up to the best within ourselves—as we ever hunger for food or thirst for drink.

These hungers may be obscured by unhappy circumstances until they seem almost lost. Yet they nevertheless persist. Deep within ourselves the desire goes on to reach the tallest height of which we are capable.

What does it matter what we call it as long as it lifts us out of the gutter?

And the simple truth is that most of us want to be lifted out of the gutter. We want to rise above our lesser, meaner selves. We want to be respected and admired by our fellow men and to do the things for which men are respected and admired.

YOU'RE NOT just trying to do your best so that St. Peter will give you a gold star on your deportment card after the resurrection day. You want to do your best because you need to do your best right here and now. It is one of the greatest earthly needs and you'll never be content or at peace with yourself until you gratify it.

So, go on, do your best.

Never mind if the other fellow lets you down. Never mind if you meet up with ingratitude or malicious misunderstanding. Do your best at any rate because it's the thing you really want to do.

Do your best because it's the only thing that is worthy of you to do and you will never be satisfied with less.

Egg Dish

Slice one mild onion very thin and brown it lightly in fat—butter, margarine or oil may be used. Add a cup of milk and four hard-cooked eggs, chopped coarsely. Let this heat through, and then stir in the beaten yolks of two raw eggs, a teaspoon of minced parsley, two tablespoons of grated cheese—gruyere is best if you can get it — salt, pepper and lemon juice to taste. Cook for six or seven minutes over hot water. Fry slices of tomato as usual and when done, place each on a round of buttered toast, and top with the egg and cheese mixture. Sprinkle a few chives over the works and you'll have a wonderful luncheon or supper dish.

RETURN OF STATE INCOME TAX TO SCHOOL DISTRICTS BEATEN

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Feb. 26—An attempt to return a major portion of the state income tax revenue to the school district in which it was collected was defeated in the Senate today after assertions were made that St. Louis and Kansas City would derive chief benefits from the plan.

Senator Edgar J. Keating of Kansas City, who offered the amendment, said the amount for the districts would be about $8,000,000 and would be used to increase pay of teachers and supplement local school building funds.

In considering the bill the Senate adopted an amendment restoring the state income tax exemptions to the present levels of $1000 for single persons, $2000 for the heads of a household and $200 for dependents. The House bill provided a $1200 exemption for single persons, $2400 for the head of a household and $400 for dependents.

My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM age 36 and have been married 23 years. I have eight children. My husband is 46. He never says anything kind to me or any of the older children. The baby is the only one he seems to care for. I would like to have a happy home and a husband interested in caring for it and helping me to make it so. I have always stayed home and kept house, never have any money of my own, and would rather die than ask my husband for a penny because he fusses so. My two eldest children are married. They married much too young, just as I did. I believe it was mostly to get away from their Dad, who was always scolding them. Sometimes I think I hate my husband. He never lets me talk to him about things, and I dread the time of day when he comes home. I would like to leave him. If I do how can I keep a home together for my little girls? What can you suggest?

A. D.

• Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest, but of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

It seems to me that when a couple has had eight children and has managed to keep a home together for those youngsters for 23 years, they should be able to manage to keep it together for another 23 and more. It is possible, since you have always remained in your home and reared your family, that you have neglected to keep pace with your husband's interests, have been too immersed in household cares and babies to reach out toward outside contacts, if only occasional church work; too busy to read even the newspapers. If this is the case, remedy it, even at this late date. And if you never have a penny to call your own, be smart and work out a budget of your household and personal expenses. I have a budget leaflet which you can use as a guide on which to model one suited to your own needs. If you will send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope I will mail it to you. Take the budget to your husband, ask him if he will agree to allow you to have sufficient allowance each week to cover these needs. Then he will be spared your asking for each penny as you need it and you will be spared the attendant growls. Leave your husband? Of course not. Instead, you will put your mind and heart intelligently to work and evolve happiness out of this present discontent. If you will manage to do so you will realize how much better it will be for your children than for you to up and leave and try to support several of them when you have had no experience in the business world.

IN ANSWER TO "D. G.": Now, my dear, all this is something you have to figure out for yourself. How am I to know whether you are truly in love with the boy you describe? Some people fall in love more prosaically than others. Perhaps you two aren't the ecstatic, romantic type, but will be just as happy or more so, in spite of that. If there is any doubt in your mind, what's your hurry? You are both very young. Make no promises until you have both dated others, know for sure that each of you is the other's favorite person; that when away from each other you can think of no one else, and that your one desire is to spend a lifetime together.

IN ANSWER TO "Marilou": I have a Stork Shower, yes indeed. I'll be glad to inclose it with the St. Patrick's Day Party leaflet as soon as you mail me the necessary stamp, which you forgot.

CASE RECORDS

By Dr. George W. Crane

CASE J-226: Carolyn M., aged 22, is an average young woman as regards her looks, education, and home background. "How can I become popular?" she asked. "I want to have many friends and be well liked, but I am not beautiful. I dance fairly well, but I haven't a musical voice. I can play the piano a little, but I cannot carry on an interesting conversation.

"When I have a date with a boy, I can't think of subjects of conversation. Time seems to drag, and I feel embarrassed. I want to be vivacious and charming, of course, but I guess you have to be born that way, don't you? And I should like to be well thought of among girls, too. Is it really possible to make yourself into an attractive personality in spite of an average appearance and home background?"

YES, INDEED, it is possible to develop into a pleasing personality. In fact, you never inherit a pleasing disposition or popularity. These choice virtues are built up slowly and surely throughout childhood and adolescence. It is even possible to change from a sour personality into a sweet one after you have reached maturity or old age. Remember Silas Marner?

Popularity and a pleasing nature are not based on sheer physical beauty, for many beautiful girls are unpopular, while other average girls are decidedly attractive. Nor are these virtues dependent on riches or wide travel, for many girls in small towns who never have gone 300 miles from home have charming personalities.

But one must have some common sense and appreciate that in selling one's personality to one's "public" a great deal more tact and finesse are necessary than in merchandising any other article or commodity.

A SALESMAN may tell potential buyers that his automobile is the best on the market. People may disbelieve him, but they are not so prone to dislike him as when he tries to tell them that he is the best thinker, or dancer, or bridge player in the world. We all resent hearing people praise themselves. But if people are going to value us as friends, we must be sure that all of our talents and virtues are known. How can it be done tactfully so as to avoid arousing jealousy or hostility? By means of indirect statements or suggestions.

"One of the biggest 'kicks' I get out of life," Donald casually says to his girl companion, "is sitting down on the floor with my little nieces and nephews and playing with them at Christmas when they receive theeir new toys."

What he really is saying to the girl is this: "I like children. I'd make a good father. Look me over with prospect of matrimony." But he has avoided the bluntness of the latter statements.

DID YOU EVER NOTICE how young women exclaim over the babies they meet when they are with their sweethearts? Why? Because subconsciously they know that the boy friend is watching them to see how good a mother they'd make. They are tactfully selling him on their maternal nature and love of children. And they usually do a good job of it. Health, education, musical ability, generosity, neatness—these are just a few of the desirable traits which make our associates value our friendship.

Economical Menus for Tomorrow

By Meta Given

THOUGH beans and kraut are so common and so inexpensive that they have been rated as foods for the especially poor, they both have features that appeal to every normal human being. No matter how rich or how important people may become they never lose their ability to enjoy these foods. The reason is that the body cries out for some of the elements these foods contain. Though not many prefer to have their fragrances wafting out into front-of-the-house air, just the same a whiff of baked beans and sauerkraut can make one hungrier than almost anything else. When these two foods are combined and a few touches of other ingredients are added a tasty and substantial hot salad results. It can be prepared ever so quickly by the busy homemaker, especially if she can buy the canned baked beans and kraut.

The addition of a little caraway will be familiar to those who have a good repertoire of kraut dishes. Those who are not familiar and who do not have an aversion to flavor, will find it adds something that their family will appreciate. We have made no mistake in writing the recipe when we omit vinegar which is a necessary ingredient in most salads. The lactic acid in the kraut supplies ample tartness. This acid is especially kind to the digestive tract, and the fibers of the kraut supply the necessary ballast or roughage—the material that we need to chew on and which needs to be present in all salads. A light shower of parsley is added for the same old reason—to add fresh color, and it also contributes flavor and food value to whatever it is added. Beans add valuable protein and minerals and give the salad real substance. They add color and their sweetness tones down or mellows the sharpness of the kraut.

Hot Baked Bean and Sauerkraut Salad.

Two and one-half cups sauerkraut, two-thirds cup water, one-half teaspoon caraway seed, one teaspoon sugar, two tablespoons bacon drippings, one tin baked beans (one pound two ounces), two teaspoons finely chopped parsley.

Combine sauerkraut, water, caraway seed, sugar and bacon drippings, preferably in a pottery skillet. Simmer over low heat 10 minutes, tossing frequently. Add beans and mix lightly into sauerkraut and continue to cook over low heat until beans are thoroughly heated through. Serve at once in the same skillet. Sprinkle the parsley over the salad the last minute. Four servings.

Menus for Wednesday.

Your Stars

By Marion Drew

What to Expect Tomorrow. Sun in Pisces.

General tendencies—More congenial for sports, technical work and special assignments tomorrow than for office affairs or money matters. In fact, the latter may suddenly turn sour, or show some unforeseen delay. Do not push your ambitions at this time; be content to move with the great tides of human events. They will favor you in due course of time. Romances for this evening look exciting but not too dependable; you may be playing second fiddle here.

If Tomorrow Is Your Birthday.

Look forward to next fall for your really favorable period, and do not count too much upon the activity in either March or July. In both these other months there are new interests but less chances for success. If you will show patience you can do better. This may refer to business affairs and then, too, it may refer to sentiments. Women of this date are apt to find congenial men friends this year if they bide their time a little.

Tomorrow's watchword—Noted for this day is the subject of reverence. We use this idea almost entirely in connection with going to church, but a man can be reverent before any wonder which meets his eye. "Why, who makes much of a miracle?" asked Walt Whitman, called America's greatest poet. "As for me, I know of nothing else but miracles." The smallest everyday events hold cause for reverence; give thanks that you can see such wonders at all times.

Ellen Wilkinson Has Lost Little of Biting Wit That Made Her Famous

By Claire Neikind

A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch

LONDON, Feb. 25.

WHEN Ellen Wilkinson went to Parliament for the first time in 1924, she took a good look around, sharpened her tongue for action, and produced an observation that made pariliamentary history. "This place," she said, "is full of ex-future prime ministers."

Today, as the second woman in history to be in the British Cabinet, she has lost little of the biting wit and flair for phrase that had made her for many years the political gadfly of the British Labor party.

Now Minister of Education and leader in the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, she is using her sting to put over her ideas about education for democracy.

"Don't talk to me about it in abstract nouns," she said in her exclusive interview today. "You people in America who have not suffered real devastation have got to learn that we can't discuss education for democracy until we put up some schools in Europe and get some blackboards and textbooks—any textbooks, so long as they don't glorify violence and war. First we have to do the Red Cross work of education.

"When we get that far, we can talk about how to teach democracy. We don't want to interfere in the internal policies of the United Nations. We won't say: 'Hi! Moscow, you have to teach like Chicago', or 'Hi! Chicago, you have to teach like London.' We don't want a lot of little Americas or little Russias or little Britains.

"But we would like to reach a point some day where a British child and an American child might learn about the Boston Tea Party in the respective schools and have even a faint idea that they're learning about the same thing."

You have only to see Ellen Wilkinson to know she'll take on any challenger who says this can't be done. Five feet tall, with direct, gray eyes, a dangerous-looking crop of red hair, and a defiant chin, she seems constantly poised for attack. She usually is. Since her childhood, Ellen Wilkinson has been nourished on political battle.

WHEN she was 15, she was chosen as a Socialist candidate in a mock school debate. "I was a good little liberal then," she said. "But I decided that if I was going to be a Socialist in the debate, I would be a good one." She spent hours cramming in the library, won the debate, and incidentally converted herself in the process. "I have been a firmly convinced Socialist ever since," she said.

Born of a working-class family in Lancashire, she took to her first political conviction with vigor and enthusiasm. She became an organizer for the National Union of Distributive Workers, and, after one defeat, was sent to Parliament as their candidate. One of Britain's "premature anti-Fascists," she fought up and down the country in support of the General Strike, for the rights of the working class, for Loyalist Spain, against Hitlerism.

She has been tempered by time. Once she was "Red Ellen," founding member of the British Communist Party, militant revolutionary who led the famous Hunger March from Jarrow in protest against closed shipyards and mass unemployment. Now she is Privy Councillor Ellen Wilkinson, no longer attacking government policy, helping instead to make it. She is, she maintains, "more of a Socialist than ever." But though she still bears many affectionate nicknames—"Miss Perky," "Wee Ellen," "The Mighty Atom"—no one calls her "Red Ellen" any more.

SHE is attacked now by the Communist Party. And when the dock workers of Jarrow went on strike last fall, it was Ellen Wilkinson who appealed to them to return to work, even going so far as to threaten that bread would be rationed unless the ships were released to bring wheat from Canada before the freeze. A subsequent public uproar, and a denial by the Government that the strike might cause bread rationing, brought a simple "I'm very sorry and it won't happen again" from Miss Wilkinson. And when she went to address a meeting a few days later, she said: "I'm going to say nothing at all about bread—nothing, nothing, nothing."

Her politics may have been modified with the years. Her courage, however, is still unquestioned. During the war, as Parliamentary Secretary to Herbert Morrison, Minister of Home Security, she repeatedly won admiration for her cool courage. Twice bombed out, once severely injured in a glider accident, she kept coming back for more, working eighteen hours a day for air raid shelters, civil defense and fire fighting services.

Once, at the height of the blitz, she made a midnight inspection tour of a London oil center in Herbert Morrison's constituency. The workers gave her a bouquet of flowers to bring back to "our 'Erb." Returning to the Ministry at one in the morning, she learned that Morrison was in conference with his senior civil servants. As she burst into the room, the conference dissolved in highly incorrect laughter. "I was so tired, I cried," she said. "You'd better look in the glass," Morrison told her. She did—and saw her hat askew, her face black and streaming with oil, and the bouquet hanging limp and bedraggled in her hand.

It is with her great capacity for strength and a disarming ability to admit her weaknesses that Ellen Wilkinson won her way into the British Cabinet. The same talents probably will keep her there as long as her party remains in power. But she doesn't expect to work miracles. "At 18, had God decreed, I could have run this country perfectly," she is reported to have once said. "Now, I am more modest."

MY DAY

By Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK, Monday.

WHEN I looked at the newspapers yesterday and saw that Michael J. Quill, president of the Transport Workers Union, had set a deadline for the threatened transportation strike in this city, I wondered whether he remembered what happened in England after the last war when a similar strike took place. I happened to be in London at the time. The trains were run by amatuers but they were run after the first day. Nevertheless, a great many people were delayed, kept from work and from their daily occupations. Many were inconvenienced and the rights and wrongs of the question at stake were completely forgotten after the first day.

THERE HAS NEVER been a strike of that kind in England since their general strike, because the inconvenience of the general public led to the setting up of such a complicated system of conciliation that the labor leaders today rarely reach the point of actually calling a strike. I wonder if we might not reach that desirable situation through the use of intelligent leadership on both sides, thus avoiding all the bad feeling which is bound to be created if everyone is made uncomfortable by a transportation strike.

• • •

IT WAS WONDERFUL to get to the country Saturday evening and find my cottage looking all spic and span and bright and cheerful. My young cousin, Mrs. Forbes Morgan, and her children were there to greet us.

White snow lay deep upon the fields and even on the roads. When I let my little dog Fala out of the car, he ran all around, a little black ball rolling over and over in the snow. He seemed to feel as much excitement over the freedom of the country as I did.

We all walked up the hill to dine with my son and daughter-in-law. When we walked back, the stars were shining brightly overhead. In my heart was a great thankfulness for this country and all it holds of security and peace.

WHEN WE WOKE on Sunday morning, the snow was falling gently. Again, Fala and I both enjoyed ourselves. With all of our walking around, I had a grand appetite for lunch, and it was an added pleasure to find that the chickens and vegetables, put away in our deep freeze last summer, tasted just as good as I hoped they would.

I had an opportunity to talk to the superintendent of the place and give some orders about a few things which must be done before spring. Miss Thompson said we should spend a week at Hyde Park, getting things straightened out, but instead, we left right after lunch to drive back to New York City. Fala got into the car with such reluctance, I thought he was expressing the way we all felt.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 no trump	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

West opened the club king and declarer naturally held up the ace. West continued with the club queen, and on this round East forcefully signaled with the heart eight. Declarer again held up the club ace and now West obediently shifted to the heart nine. The king won, and declarer then passed a diamond into the non-danger hand by leading low to the nine-spot. East won with the jack and returned a spade, declarer winning with the ace. A second low diamond lead disclosed that West was now void of the suit and that East still had it stopped. Dummy's diamond ace was put up and now to force another discard from the East hand, declarer cashed his club ace, East, of course, letting go a spade.

Declarer now tested the spade situation and simultaneously stripped spades from the opponents' hands by cashing the queen and king. It will be observed the declarer could now be sure of victory. All the spades had been accounted for; East had had only one club at the beginning and the diamond situation had been discovered. Hence, instead of having to run any risk by taking the heart finesse declarer simply cashed the diamond king and threw East on lead with another diamond, thereby insuring a heart return up to dummy's ace-jack tenace.

To have taken the heart finesse instead of throwing East into an end-play would have resulted in defeat.
